Between Worlds Les Switzer, 2025-08-21 Between Worlds expands beyond the focus of the previous volume the British colony of Natal to the more challenging framework of the American Zulu Mission and its Congregational churches in southeastern Africa between the 1880s and 1920s This study rejects arguments by many critical scholars who see Western missionaries at best as adjuncts of the colonial project imposing an understanding of Western Christianity that inevitably clashes with alien and resistant African cultures The mission church relationship in this era also changes dramatically especially in urban environments The church in South Africa becomes the dominant partner from the 1880s and by 1900 the mission has become an adjunct of the church an understanding with far reaching consequences elsewhere in the subcontinent

Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Kathleen Sheldon, 2016-03-04 African women s history is a vast topic that embraces a wide variety of societies in over 50 countries with different geographies social customs religions and historical situations Africa is a predominantly agricultural continent and a major factor in African agriculture is the central role of women as farmers It is estimated that between 65 and 80 percent of African women are engaged in cultivating food for their families and in the past that percentage was likely even higher Thus one common thread across much of the continent is women s daily work in their family plot This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub Saharan Africa contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on individual African women in history politics religion and the arts on important events organizations and publications and on topics important to women in general marriage fertility employment and to African women in particular market women child marriage queen mothers This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the Women in Africa

Economies of Representation, 1790?2000 Leigh Dale, 2017-11-30 Although postcolonialism has emerged as one of the most significant theoretical movements in literary and cultural studies it has paid scant attention to the importance of trade and trade relations to debates about culture Focusing on the past two centuries this volume investigates the links among trade colonialism and forms of representation posing the question What is the historical or modern relationship between economic inequality and imperial patterns of representation and reading Rather than dealing exclusively with a particular industry or type of industry the contributors take up the issue of how various economies have been represented in Aboriginal art in literature by North American Caribbean Portuguese South African First Nations Australian British and Aboriginal authors and in a diverse range of writings that includes travel diaries missionary texts the findings of the Leprosy Investigation Commission early medical accounts and media representations of

HIV AIDS Examining trade in commodities as various as illicit drugs liquor bananas tourism adventure fiction and modern Aboriginal art as well as cultural exchanges in politics medicine and literature the essays reflect the widespread origins of the contributors themselves who are based throughout the English speaking world Taken as a whole this book contests the commonplace view promoted by some modern economists that trade in and of itself has a leveling effect equalising cultures places and peoples demonstrating instead the ways in which commerce has created and exacerbated differences in power

Radical Antiapartheid Internationalism and Exile Holly Y. McGee, 2019-03-14 Elizabeth Mafeking was a titanic figure in the history of resistance to Apartheid in South Africa a mother of 11 who travelled to Bulgaria to publicize the evils of racial segregation before escaping into exile from a banning order that would have separated her from her home and family Radical Antiapartheid Internationalism and Exile The Life of Elizabeth Mafeking analyses Mafeking s life and the union work that cost the activist her family and home leading to 32 desperate years in self imposed exile The book simultaneously sheds light on one of the many ways in which the protests of women of African descent evolved from localized issues of race based discrimination to international anti colonial struggles in the mid twentieth century Orality, Literacy, and

Colonialism in Southern Africa Jonathan A. Draper, 2004-01-01 Literacy is essentially about the control of information memory and belief and with colonialism in Southern Africa came the Bible and text based literacy monitored by missionaries and colonial authorities Old and new oral traditions however are beyond the control of empire and often carry the resistance hopes and dreams of colonized people The essays in this volume recover aspects of Southern Africa s rich oral tradition The authors from disciplines such as anthropology African literature and biblical studies delineate some of the contours of the indigenous knowledge systems which sustained resistance to colonialism and today provide resources for postapartheid society in Southern Africa Paperback edition is available from the Society of Biblical Literature www.sbl-site.org A

Burning Hunger Lynda Schuster, 2014-09-15 If the Mandelas were the generals in the fight for black liberation the Mashininis were the foot soldiers Theirs is a story of exile imprisonment torture and loss but also of dignity courage and strength in the face of appalling adversity Originally published in Great Britain to critical acclaim A Burning Hunger One Family s Struggle Against Apartheid tells a deeply moving human story and is one of the seminal books about the struggle against apartheid This family Joseph and Nomkhitha Mashinini and their thirteen children became immersed in almost every facet of the liberation struggle from guerrilla warfare to urban insurrection Although Joseph and Nomkhitha were peaceful citizens who had never been involved in politics five of their sons became leaders in the antiapartheid movement When the students of Soweto rose up in 1976 to protest a new rule making Afrikaans the language of instruction they were led by charismatic young Tsietsi Mashinini Scores of students were shot down and hundreds were injured Tsietsi s actions on that day set in motion a chain of events that would forever change South Africa define his family and transform their lives A Burning Hunger shows the human catastrophe that plagued generations of black Africans in the powerful story of one religious and law abiding Soweto family Basing her narrative on extensive research and interviews Lynda Schuster richly portrays this remarkable family and in so doing reveals black South Africa during a time of momentous change
