The Emergence of Modern Business Enterprise in France, 1800-1930 Michael Stephen

Smith, 2006 In this magisterial study Michael Smith explains how France left behind small scale merchant capitalism for the large corporate enterprises that would eventually dominate its domestic economy and project French influence throughout the world Arguing against the long standing view that French economic and business development was crippled by missed opportunities and entrepreneurial failures Smith presents a story of considerable achievement French companies made major contributions to the Second Industrial Revolution of 1880 1930 especially in ferrous and non ferrous metallurgy electrochemicals industrial gases and motor vehicles Rejecting the notion that France took a separate route to economic modernity Smith argues that it tracked other industrial nations along a path dominated by large scale production and corporate enterprise Technological and organizational capabilities acquired by French companies prior to 1930 played a key role in the country's rapid economic recovery after World War II and its broader economic success in the second half of the twentieth century Smith also addresses the distinctive characteristics of French economic and business development including the pivotal role of the French state the pervasive influence of French financiers and the significance of labor conflict This superb account is an invaluable contribution to business history and the history of modern France CA

Public Papers of Woodrow Wilson: War and peace; presidential messages, addresses, and public paper (1917-1924) Woodrow Wilson, 1927 The Dutch Paper Industry from 1580 to the Present Martha Emilie Ehrich, 2024-02-29

This open access book is the first to provide an analysis of the Dutch paper industry over a period encompassing six centuries. Responding to a trend of renewed scholarly interest in paper industries and production, the book seeks to illuminate the factors behind this relatively small national industry's centuries-long survival. Previous historical research has shown that sets of colonial trade merchant and family networks tightly interwoven through a dense web of capital were crucial for paper production and trade in early modern Europe. This book situates the Dutch paper industry within these overlapping contexts and their shifting dynamics over time and historicizes the challenges and obstacles it had to overcome through four phases of capitalism: the rise of Dutch capitalism (1580-1815), Dutch monarchic liberalism (1815-1914), Fordism (1914-1980), and post-Fordism (1980 until now). Each chapter covers not only technological advancements in the industry but its development alongside further determining dimensions such as state-industry relations, industry policies, labour-capital relations, unions, and competition, overall painting a picture of how the industry adapted to and endured changes in national and global networks surrounding the industry. This book will be of broad interest to scholars of economic and business history as well as industrial history, political economy, and management studies. This publication was supported by funds from the Publication Fund for Open Access Monographs of the Federal State of Brandenburg, Germany.

Water Politics and the On-Paper Hydropower Boom Özge Can Dogmus, 2024-06-28. This book examines how the on-paper hydropower boom impacts the safe and fair access to water and energy in emerging economies. The global hydropower boom is largely made up of small hydropower plants located in emerging economies, but a lack of funding, over-ambitious planning, and corruption have halted the production of these projects. Describing this state as the on-paper hydropower boom, this book shifts attention to the hydrosocial problems arising from hydropower projects that remain on paper. It examines how these proposed but unbuilt projects can lead to disruptions in the control and governance of water resources and increase the international dependence of emerging countries due to deep problems in their sustainable development planning and how all this can affect both ecosystems and the communities that depend on them. In doing so, it critically examines the dominant discourses on energy security and sustainable development, emphasises the extent to which the effects of global imperialism are at play, and examines the effects of international power relations in the hydrosocial context and their implications for perpetuating international relations of dependency. Further, this book provides a unique perspective on the global hydropower boom by highlighting that although the global hydropower boom largely remains on paper, it can still have a significant impact on human water systems. Contributing to the debate on hydrosocial relationships, each chapter offers an insightful examination of the social, cultural, and political interactions that humans have with water and uses these insights to provide a nuanced understanding of the challenges and issues associated with on paper plans This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of water politics water governance political ecology corruption and environmental economics as well as sustainable development policymakers

7 Years UPSC IAS/ IPS MAINS General Studies Paper 3 Year-wise Solved Papers (2013-2019) 2nd Edition Disha Experts,2019-12-04 The Coming of Consumer Society ,2025-10-27

The present volume adds momentum to the ongoing discourse on consumerism in India and offers a fresh perspective by arguing that India is not just a consumer market but a consumer society in the making There is no consensus on the birth place and context of a consumer society amongst historians And for scholars of contemporary social life consumer societies till recently were held to be akin to societies in the late stage of capitalism or those having completed their transition from feudalism to post industrialism However given the processes of globalization and liberalization of new global economic order consumerism as an ideology a world view and a practice is fast coming of age in other societies across the globe Hence the earlier intellectual lexicon stands replaced by a new consumer epistemology signalling the coming of new consumer societies in hitherto unimagined locales such as India The varied essays in the volume develop the themes of consumption brands representation and identity construction in some new settings so far unexplored in the Indian context for instance ethnic brands such as Fabindia tribal art in new digitized forms fashion and so on The strength of the book lies in traversing not just fresh sites and objects of consumer desire but also in bringing together a host of multidisciplinary and theoretical perspectives such as Marxism feminism postmodernism and post colonialism The book would be of interest to students and researchers of sociology anthropology politics cultural studies and media studies
