The Convergence of K-12 and Higher Education Christopher P. Loss, Patrick J. McGuinn, 2021-03-02 In The Convergence of K 12 and Higher Education two leading scholars of education policy bring together a distinguished and varied array of contributors to systematically examine the growing convergence between the K 12 and higher education sectors in the United States Though the two sectors have traditionally been treated as distinct and separate the editors show that the past decade has seen an increasing emphasis on the alignment between the two At the same time the national focus on outcomes and accountability originating in the K 12 sector is exerting growing pressure on higher education while trends toward privatization and diversification long characteristic of the postsecondary sector are influencing public schools This volume makes the powerful case that it is no longer possible to think of one sector in the absence of the other given the economic demographic and technological forces that are pushing the educational system toward convergence Taken together the chapters in this book provide a promising new line of inquiry for examining contemporary questions in education policy midst of a paradox Following a questionable logic that sees education as a means to economic ends efforts to reform education have focused on keeping the US from slipping in international economic competition Relying on testing as a standard in the end we may have decreased our human potential and become less competitive Our system has gotten worse at its core in its philosophical tenets and in its ultimate effects by placing unwonted pressure on our youth and in stifling their creativity While this goes back decades Respect for Teachers takes its title from a phrase perhaps a codeword in President s 2011 State of the Union address and sits down to consider its implications Connecting attacks on teachers unions and schools and the misrepresentation of research to the promotion of new economic models in education it suggests that the Obama administration may be without quite realizing it setting the stage for rapid privatization of the public system As this endangers the egalitarian basis of democracy it also reminds us that schooling is big business many trillions of dollars world
