deal with specific cultural factors that influenced the representation of selfhood in John Lyly's Alexander in Marlowe's Tamburlaine and in a selection of Stuart court masques presented at Whitehall The third section offers new insights into the composition of Hamlet as a dramatized personality the fourth investigates the way in which the poet playwright's autobiographical impulses may have helped in the construction of early modern stage selves the final fifth section explores the kaleidoscopic sources of the royal protagonists in Rowley's When You See Me You Know Me and Shakespeare's Richard III This collection of essays seeks to add a further contribution to the growing body of criticism that investigates the multifaceted multi-layered construction of early modern subjectivity Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
