Sydney Simon Full Steam Ahead:

Sydney & Simon: Full Steam Ahead! Paul Reynolds, Peter Reynolds, 2014-09-09 Sydney and Simon are twin mice on a mission to save the wilting flowers in their window box. During a humid heat wave their window got stuck and now they can't open it to water their blossoms before the neighborhood flower show. The young chapter book underscores how the characters use STEAM Science Technology Engineering Arts and Math to learn about the water cycle on earth and in the home and ultimately to rescue their flowers. Curious readers can learn more in a glossary and author's note. Sydney & Simon: Full Steam Ahead! Paul A. Reynolds, 2014-09-09 Twin mice solve a problem using STEAM in this early chapter book for young artists, inventors, and creative thinkers featuring illustrations from the award-winning author/illustrator of The Dot. Sydney and Simon are twin mice on a mission. They want to enter their flowers in the neighborhood flower show, but the flowers in the window box are wilting in the city heat and the window is jammed. How are they going to get water to their blossoms so they'll live and flourish in time for the show? Sydney and Simon are lucky to be growing up in a curious and creative family and are encouraged to ask questions, experiment, and record their findings through writing, art, music, and video. Their mother is a scientist and their father is a poet. Their family motto is "When the going gets tough, the creative gets going." Utilizing the STEAM Science Technology Engineering Arts and Math philosophy of learning, this brightly illustrated story shows how an interdisciplinary studies model helps Sydney and Simon achieve their goals. In a practical, fun, and hands-on way, young readers will be inspired to interact with their own natural learning skills and start experiencing the world and their education in a whole new way. Sydney & Simon: Go Green! Paul A. Reynolds, 2015-10-13 STEAM problem solvers and twin mice Sydney and Simon learn about the dangers of pollution and the power of recycling in this illustrated chapter book for young readers. Last time we saw them, Sydney and Simon used science, technology, engineering, arts, and math skills to save wilting flowers in their window box. Now the twin mice are back to apply STEAM thinking to recycling. During a class field trip to the Aquarium, Sydney is upset when she realizes that a green sea turtle has been harmed by garbage that made its way to the ocean. She must convince Simon that even if others don't intend to litter, the garbage everyone puts in a trashcan may accidentally get swept into sewers, streams, rivers, and possibly end up in the ocean. The twins collect data on the trash habits of their household and school and find they are all part of the problem. They need to figure out a way that their family, their neighborhood, and their school can cut down on garbage production and make better use of their discarded items. Short chapters paired with Peter H. Reynolds's lively illustrations will inspire readers to take a closer look at their recycling habits and implement small changes to make a big difference. Teaching STEM Literacy Juliana Texley, Ruth M. Ruud, 2017-12-01 Teaching STEM Literacy is comprised of ready-made, open-ended lessons reviewed and tested by teachers which help educators integrate STEM learning into the early childhood classroom. Lessons are linked to the Next Generation Science Standards and encourage creative ideas for three-dimensional STEM learning that are developmentally appropriate and exemplified through children's literature. The three-dimensional STEM learning content concepts and practices comes in twelve ready-made open-ended teaching units that make it easy to teach science and inquiry to young children. This book uses the 5E framework: engagement, exploration, explanation, elaboration, and evaluation to cultivate children's skills of observation, questioning, and data collection by combining discovery, problem-solving, and engineering solutions to authentic questions that young children might ask.

Juliana Texley holds a master's in biology and chemistry and a PhD in curriculum development, science education from Wayne State University and has over thirty years of teaching experience. She is a graduate-level adjunct professor specializing in educational technology and assessment science and science teaching at Central Michigan University and Lesley University in Massachusetts. Texley has been a National Science Teachers Association (NSTA) member for thirty years and served as president from 2014-2015. She is on the board for Young Voices for the Planet and led the development and evaluation of online learning programs for JASON Learning.

Ruth M. Ruud has over thirty-five years of teaching experience ranging from early childhood to undergraduate studies. She has a master's degree in education with additional coursework in all areas of science. A former Delta Education FOSS Full Option Science System consultant, Ruth currently works as an adjunct professor teaching physical geography courses at Cleveland State University. She served as president of the Pennsylvania Science Teachers Association and has chaired a number of committees of the National Science Teachers Association. NSTA is a member of the NSTA Recommends committee and is the head reviewer for the NSTA Shell Science Lab Challenge.

Come On Australia Lewis Frederickson, Victor Nurcombe, 2025-09-30

One man's bravery: A generation's legacy. Lieutenant Colonel Terence Patrick McSharry CMG DSO MC was one of the Australian Imperial Force's most respected battalion commanders, a man whose service, sacrifice, and leadership stand as a shining example of the AIF's enduring values. From the brutal slopes of Gallipoli to the decisive battles of Bullecourt, Passchendaele, and Hamel, McSharry's wartime experience spanned almost the entire duration of the Great War. He was among the first Australian officers to receive the Military Cross for gallantry, rising rapidly through the ranks to command the 15th Battalion with distinction. Tireless, courageous, and deeply respected by his men, McSharry embodied values-based leadership at every level of command, from subaltern to lieutenant colonel. Despite his extraordinary career, his story has never been told until now. Come On Australia fills that long-standing gap while also highlighting the broader absence of detailed studies on AIF battalion commanders. It places McSharry among the finest of his peers, offering a deeply researched and humanising portrait of a man who led by example and died as he lived, attempting to rescue a wounded soldier under fire. This is more than just a military biography; it is an exploration of character, of how excellence is built through habit and upheld through adversity. McSharry's life offers modern readers, military professionals, and history enthusiasts an enduring lesson that courage, compassion, and competence are as relevant today as they were more than a century ago. Terence McSharry's story shows how one man's leadership can shape a force, his legacy still underpins Australia's role in coalition warfare today. An inspiring true story of

U-Boat Attack Logs Daniel Morgan,Bruce Taylor,2011-11-09 During the Second World War over 250 Allied warships from a dozen navies were sent to the bottom by German U boats This ground breaking study provides a detailed analysis of every sinking for which source material survives from both the Allied and the German sides resulting in detailed treatment of the fate of 110 vessels with the remainder summarised in an extensive appendix Uniquely each entry is built around a specialist translation of the relevant segment of the war diary log of the U boat in question taken directly from the surviving originals remarkably this represents the first large scale publication of the U boat war diaries in any language The book offers a wealth of new information not only with respect to the circumstances of the sinkings from both the Allied and German perspectives but also to the technical environment in which they lived as well as the fate of the crews The entries include background details on the vessels concerned and the men involved with a selection of rare and carefully chosen photos from archives and collections around the world Each entry is itself a compelling narrative but is backed with a list of sources consulted including documents published works and websites A decade in the making this is probably the most important book on the U boat war to be published for many a year Governing Shale Gas John Whitton,Matthew Cotton,Ioan M. Charnley-Parry,Kathy Brasier,2018-07-27 Shale energy development is an issue of global importance The number of reserves globally and their potential economic return have increased dramatically in the past decade Questions abound however about the appropriate governance systems to manage the risks of unconventional oil and gas development and the ability for citizens to engage and participate in decisions regarding these systems Stakeholder participation is essential for the social and political legitimacy of energy extraction and production what the industry calls a social license to operate This book attempts to bring together critical themes inherent in the energy governance literature and illustrate them through cases in multiple countries including the US the UK Canada South Africa Germany and Poland These themes include how multiple actors and institutions industry governments and regulatory bodies at all scales communities opposition movements and individual landowners have roles in developing contesting monitoring and enforcing practices and regulations within unconventional oil and gas development Overall the book proposes a systemic participatory community led approach required to achieve a form of legitimacy that allows communities to derive social priorities by a process of community visioning This book will be of great relevance to scholars and policy makers with an interest in shale gas development and energy policy and governance
