BRAND STORYTELLING

Bring your brand to life in-store through product displays, lighting, and fixtures

Bring your brand to life online through colors, fonts, and product photos.

VISUAL FOCAL POINT

Place the most important merchandise at the center of the store

NEGATIVE SPACE

For high-end retail, display fewer on the shelves and in window displays and have more space between items

For discount retail, showcase many products on your shelves and window displays

For high-end retail, use plenty of negative space on product pages and photographs

For discount retail, showcase many products on a single page.

COLORS

Understand the meaning and psychology behind various colors, and use them in your window displays, signage, decor, etc.

Consider your brand colors as well as seasonal tones and use them in your store's design elements, including your displays, fixtures, decorations, etc.

Tap into color psychology to determine what colors to use for your banners, text, buttons, and other elements of your website.

Ensure that your brand colors and any seasonal tones are also used in the site's design elements, including images, text, etc.

Visual Merchandiser Guide Spring 2013:

Point of Sale Daniel Herbert, Derek Johnson, 2019-12-13 Point of Sale offers the first significant attempt to center media retail as a vital component in the study of popular culture. It brings together fifteen essays by top media scholars with their fingers on the pulse of both the changes that foreground retail in a digital age and the history that has made retail a fundamental part of the culture industries. The book reveals why retail matters as a site of transactional significance to industries as well as a crucial locus of meaning and interactional participation for consumers. In addition to examining how industries connect books, DVDs, video games, lifestyle products, toys, and more to consumers, it also interrogates the changes in media circulation driven by the collision of digital platforms with existing retail institutions. By grappling with the contexts in which we buy media, Point of Sale uncovers the underlying tensions that define the contemporary culture industries.

Visual Merchandising Louisa Iarocci, 2013 Firmly situated at the crossroads of visual culture and consumerism, this essay collection examines visual merchandising as the art and business of selling, seeking to overcome traditional scholarly ambivalence that celebrates the spectacle but denies the agenda of consumerism. The volume considers strategies in the representation and presentation of retail goods in terms of the visual interaction that occurs between the commodity and the consumer.

Swipe, Scan, Shop Kate Schaefer, 2021-03-11 Successful fashion merchandising, branding, and communication start with satisfyingly sensory and interactive shopping experiences. With Kate Schaefer's beautifully illustrated and practical book, learn how retailers create these experiences to connect with shoppers, enhance the retail experience, and achieve brand loyalty. With company highlights from brands such as Amazon Go, FIT MATCH, and Sephora, Swipe, Scan, Shop shows how fashion retailers are embracing the omnichannel retail experience by using virtual and augmented reality, beacon technologies, and facial recognition, among others. As shoppers become more dependent on digital devices as part of their shopping experience, visual merchandisers are adapting by incorporating mobile tech to tell a story, alert shoppers of product locations and inventory levels, and allow for the customization of products and sharing with friends. With a companion website that includes resources and links to further information and videos discussed in the book, this practical guide shows how to inform, entice, and engage customers by incorporating social technology throughout the shopping experience. The Merchandise in Keith Haring's Pop Shop Amy Raffel, 2020-12-30 As one of the first academic monographs on Keith Haring, this book uses the Pop Shop, a previously overlooked enterprise, and artist merchandising as tools to reconsider the significance and legacy of Haring's career as a whole. Haring developed an alternative approach to both the marketing and the social efficacy of art; he controlled the sales and distribution of his merchandise while also promulgating his belief in accessibility and community activism He proved that mass produced objects can be used strategically to form a community and create social change Furthermore looking beyond the 1980s into the 1990s and 2000s Haring and his shop prefigured artists emerging self aware involvement with the mass media and the art world s growing dependence on marketing and commercialism The book will be of interest to scholars or students studying art history consumer culture cultural studies media studies or market studies as well as anyone with a curiosity about Haring and his work the 1980s art scene in New York the East Village street art art activism and art merchandising

Appreciating the Art of Television Ted Nannicelli, 2016-09-13 Contemporary television has been marked by such exceptional programming that it is now common to hear claims that TV has finally become an art In Appreciating the Art of Television Nannicelli contends that televisual art is not a recent development but has in fact existed for a long time Yet despite the flourishing of two relevant academic subfields the philosophy of film and television aesthetics there is little scholarship on television in general as an art form This book aims to provide scholars active in television aesthetics with a critical overview of the relevant philosophical literature while also giving philosophers of film a particular account of the art of television that will hopefully spur further interest and debate It offers the first sustained theoretical examination of what is involved in appreciating television as an art and how this bears on the practical business of television scholars critics students and fans namely the comprehension interpretation and evaluation of specific televisual artworks
