two compounds. Thus, the ratio of red atoms in the two compounds to two blue atoms in the two compounds, is three to one.

- 1.19 The ratio of red between the two compounds compared to fixed number of blue atoms is not one-to-one so they are different compounds. You could also compare the ratio of blue to red in each compound to demonstrate that these are two different compounds.
- 1.20 These two molecules do not have a different ratio of red in the two compounds compared to a fixed number of blue atoms. The ratio of red to one blue atom is two red to one blue. Therefore, they do not demonstrate the law of multiple proportions.
- 1.21 This may stand for the name of an element or for the name of one atom of an element.
- 1.22 The smallest particle that is representative of a particular element is the atom of that element. A molecule is a representative unit that is made up of two or more atoms linked together.

- 1.27 A chemical reaction is balanced when there is the same number of each kind of atom on both the reactant and product side of the equation; and the total charges on both the reactant and product sides of the equation are the same. These conditions must be met due to the law of conservation of matter.
- 1.28 Reactants are the substances to the left of the arrow in a reaction that are present before the reaction begins. Products are the substances to the right of the arrow in a reaction and they are formed during the reaction and are present when the reaction is over.
