Media Ownership in Africa in the Digital Age Winston Mano, Loubna El Mkaouer, 2022-10-24 Who owns the media and communications in Africa today and with what implications The book elegantly answers this urgent question by unpacking multiple dimensions of media ownership through rare and authoritative perspectives including both historical and contemporary digital developments It traces the evolving forms of ownership of media and communications in specific African contexts showing how they interact with broader changes in and outside the continent The book also shows how Big

Techs such as Meta formerly known as Facebook are involved in a scramble for Africa's digital ecosystem and how their advance brings both opportunities and concerns about ownership and control. The chapters analyse evolving forms of ownership and their implications on media concentration and democracy across Africa. The book offers a nuanced account of how media ownership structures are in some instances captured with an ever growing and complex ecosystem that also has new opportunities for public interest media. Offering a significant representation of the trends and diversity of existing media systems, the book goes beyond the postcolonial geographical divisions of North and Sub-Saharan Africa to highlight common patterns and significant similarities and differences of communications ownerships between and within African countries. The contributors expose media and communications ownership patterns in Africa that are centralised and yet decentralising and in some cases battling resurging and globalising.

Creating Freedom Raoul Martinez, 2017-01-31. The ideal of freedom is at the heart of our political and economic system. It is foundational to our sense of justice, our way of life, our conception of what it is to be human. But are we free in the way that we think we are? In Creating Freedom, Raoul Martinez brings together a torrent of mind-expanding ideas, facts, and arguments to dismantle sacred myths central to our society: myths about free will, free markets, free media, and free elections. From the lottery of our birth to the consent manufacturing influence of concentrated power, this far-reaching manifesto lifts the veil on the mechanisms of control that pervade our lives. It shows that the more we understand how the world shapes us, the more effectively we can shape the world. A highly original exploration of the most urgent questions of our time, Creating Freedom reveals that we are far less free than we like to think, but it also shows that freedom is something we can create together. In fact, our very survival may depend on our doing so.

How We Win the Civil War Steve Phillips, 2022-10-18. A National Bestseller. If we first recognize that we are in a war and then learn the lessons and follow the lead of those who have shown they know how to prevail, we can definitely win the Civil War, secure a multiracial democracy, and end white supremacy for good. From the introduction, the bestselling author and national political commentator pulls no punches on what America needs to do to strengthen its multiracial democracy. Steve Phillips's first book, Brown Is the New White, helped shift the national conversation around race and electoral politics, earning a spot on the New York Times and Washington Post bestseller lists and launching Phillips into the upper ranks of trusted observers of the nation's changing demographics and their implications for our political future. Now in How We Win the Civil War, Phillips charts the way forward for progressives and people of color after four years of Trump, arguing that Democrats must recognize the nature of the fight we're in, which is a contest between democracy and white supremacy left unresolved after the Civil War. We will not overcome, Phillips writes, until we govern as though we are under attack, until we finally recognize that the time has come to finish the conquest of the Confederacy and all that it represents. With his trademark blend of political analysis and historical argument, Phillips lays out razor-sharp prescriptions for 2022 and beyond: from increasing voter participation and demolishing racist immigration policies to reviving the Great Society programs of the 1960s all of them geared toward strengthening a new multiracial democracy and ridding our politics of white supremacy once and for all

Evangelicals and the End of Christendom Hugh Chilton, 2019-12-09 Exploring the response of evangelicals to the collapse of Greater Christian Britain in Australia in the long 1960s this book provides a new religious perspective to the end of empire and a fresh national perspective to the end of Christendom In the turbulent 1960s two foundations of the Western world rapidly and unexpectedly collapsed Christendom marked by the dominance of discursive Christianity in public culture and Greater Britain the powerful sentimental and strategic union of Britain and its settler societies disappeared from the collective mental map with startling speed To illuminate these contemporaneous global shifts this book takes as a case study the response of Australian evangelical Christian leaders to the cultural and religious crises encountered between 1959 and 1979 Far from being a narrow national study this book places its case studies in the context of the latest North American and European scholarship on secularisation imperialism and evangelicalism Drawing on a wide range of archival sources it examines critical figures such as Billy Graham Fred Nile and Hans Mol as well as issues of empire counter cultural movements and racial and national identity This study will be of particular interest to any scholar of Evangelicalism in the twentieth century It will also be a useful resource for academics looking into the wider impacts of the decline of Christianity and the British Empire in Western civilisation

The Formative Five Thomas R. Hoerr, 2016-11-16 For success in school and life students need more than proficiency in academic subjects and good scores on tests those goals should form the floor not the ceiling of their education To truly thrive students need to develop attributes that aren't typically measured on standardized tests In this lively engaging book by veteran school leader Thomas R Hoerr educators will learn how to foster the Formative Five success skills that today's students need including Empathy learning to see the world through others perspectives Self control cultivating the abilities to focus and delay self gratification Integrity recognizing right from wrong and practicing ethical behavior Embracing diversity recognizing and appreciating human differences Grit persevering in the face of challenge When educators engage students in understanding and developing these five skills they change mindsets and raise expectations for student learning As an added benefit they see significant improvements in school and classroom culture With specific suggestions and strategies The Formative Five will help teachers principals and anyone else who has a stake in education prepare their students and themselves for a future in which the only constant will be change

Brown Is the New White Steve Phillips, 2018-03-06 The New York Times and Washington Post bestseller that sparked a national conversation about America's new progressive multiracial majority updated to include data from the 2016 election With a new preface and afterword by the author When it first appeared in the lead up to the 2016 election Brown Is the New White helped spark a national discussion of race and electoral politics and the often misdirected spending priorities of the Democratic party This slim yet jam packed call to action Booklist contained a detailed data driven illustration of the rapidly increasing number of racial minorities in America NBC News and their significance in shaping our political future

Completely revised and updated to address the aftermath of the 2016 election this first paperback edition of Brown Is the New White doubles down on its original insights. Attacking the myth of the white swing voter head on Steve Phillips named one of America's Top 50 Influencers by Campaigns Elections closely examines 2016 election results against a long backdrop of shifts in the electoral map over the past generation arguing that now more than ever hope for a more progressive political future lies not with increased advertising to middle of the road white voters but with cultivating America's growing diverse majority. Emerging as a respected and clear headed commentator on American politics at a time of pessimism and confusion among Democrats Phillips offers a stirring answer to anyone who thinks the immediate future holds nothing but Trump and Republican majorities.

When the Fences Come Down Genevieve Siegel-Hawley, 2016-04-12 How we provide equal educational opportunity to an increasingly diverse highly urbanized student population is one of the central concerns facing our nation. As Genevieve Siegel Hawley argues in this thought provoking book within our metropolitan areas we are currently allowing a labyrinthine system of school district boundaries to divide students and opportunities along racial and economic lines. Rather than confronting these realities though most contemporary educational policies focus on improving schools by raising academic standards holding teachers and students accountable through test performance and promoting private sector competition Siegel Hawley takes us into the heart of the metropolitan South to explore what happens when communities instead focus squarely on overcoming the educational divide between city and suburb. Based on evidence from metropolitan school desegregation efforts in Richmond Virginia Louisville Kentucky Charlotte Mecklenburg North Carolina and Chattanooga Tennessee between 1990 and 2010 Siegel Hawley uses quantitative methods and innovative mapping tools both to underscore the damages wrought by school district boundary lines and to raise awareness about communities that have sought to counteract them. She shows that city suburban school desegregation policy is related to clear measurable progress on both school and housing desegregation. Revisiting educational policies that in many cases were abruptly halted or never begun this book will spur an open conversation about the creation of the healthy integrated schools and communities critical to our multiracial future.

Focus On: 100 Most Popular 21st-century English Actresses Wikipedia contributors, Making the World Over R. Marie Griffith, 2021-05-04 Political polarization and unrest are not exclusive to our era but in the twenty first century we are living with seemingly unresolvable disagreements that threaten to tear our country apart. Discrimination racism tyranny religious fundamentalism political schisms misogyny fake news border walls the MeToo moment foreign intervention in our electoral process these cultural and social rifts charge our world and we have failed to find a path toward agreement or unity. Making the World Over is Marie Griffith's thoughtful response to an imperiled nation that has forgotten how to listen and debate productively at a time when it needs vigorous discourse more than ever. Griffith performs the urgent work of examining the histories behind the issues at the root of our country's conflicts both past and present from race and immigration to misogyny and reproductive rights. This is more than a study of the issues it is an
