The International Directory of National Archives Patricia C. Franks, Anthony Bernier, 2018-08-10 National Archives store materials relating to the history of a nation usually operated by the government of that nation This is the first ever comprehensive source of information about national archives around the world covers the national archives of all 195 countries recognized by the United Nations the 193 member states and the 2 that non member observer states The Holy See and the State of Palestine as well as Taiwan Republic of China Of the 196 countries 54 are in Africa 49 in Asia 44 in Europe 33 in Latin America and the Caribbean 14 in Oceania and 2 in Northern America All countries maintain a repository for government and historical records whether all allow public access will be determined through research for this work The National Archives of all 196 countries will be included in this work see Appendix A Each entry contains general information about the archive and when it is open to researchers if applicable historical information about the institution and how it developed information about the archives today its mission functions organization services and a description of its physical and digital infrastructures and a current focus section spotlighting one part of the collection's holdings African Studies: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources, 2020-04-03 Global interest in African studies has been rapidly growing as researchers realize the importance of understanding the impact African communities can have on the economy development education and more As the use acceptance and popularity of African knowledge increases it is crucial to explore how this community based knowledge provides deeper insights understanding and influence on such things as decision making and problem solving African Studies Breakthroughs in Research and Practice examines the politics culture language history socio economic development methodologies and contemporary experiences of African peoples from around the world Highlighting a range of topics such as indigenous knowledge developing countries and public administration this publication is an ideal reference source for sociologists policymakers anthropologists government officials economists instructors researchers academicians and graduate level students in a variety of fields Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen, 2023-02-01 In South African higher education the images of dysfunction are everywhere Student protests Violence Police presence Rubber or real bullets Class disruptions Burning tyres Damaged buildings Injury and sometimes death Reports of wholesale corruption Year after year often in the same set of universities the problem of routine instability seems insoluble The financial academic and reputational costs of ongoing dysfunction are high especially for those universities caught up in the never ending struggle to overcome apartheid legacies Any number of explanations have been ventured including a lack of resources shortage of capacity rural location corrupt officials and endemic conflict Corrupted takes a deeper look at dysfunction in an attempt to unravel the root causes in a sample of South African universities At the heart of the problem lies the vexed issue of resources or more pertinently the relationship between resources and power who gets what and why Whatever else it aspires to be commonly a place of teaching learning research and public duty a university in an impoverished community is also a rich concentration of resources around which corrupt staff students and those outside of campus all vie for access Taking a political economic approach Jonathan Jansen describes the daily struggle for institutional resources and offers accessible sensible insights He argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Rather durable solutions would include the depoliticisation of university councils and appointments of academics with integrity and capacity to manage and lead these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly

South African urban imaginaries: cases from Johannesburg Richard Ballard, Sandiswa Mapukata, 2022-06-01 How do government officials elected politicians powerful economic actors and ordinary people think and talk about the urban geography of South Africa How do they describe and represent change that is happening in cities towns and villages Do they consider these changes to be good or bad How do they think such places should change What do they do to try to bring about the changes they desire Competing answers to these questions have been at the centre of South Africa's urban development Through the 19th and 20th centuries white minority governments straddled quite contradictory imaginaries about who could build lives for themselves in urban areas and on what terms Ordinary people held their own urban imaginaries that were quite different to those of white minority governments and were core to the fight for democracy In the democratic era a range of official and popular imaginaries offer diverse visions on how South Africans should be transformed In an earlier collection produced under the GCRO Spatial Imaginaries project we explored the sometimes contradictory nature of post apartheid urban visions with for example with some promoting the creation of new urban settlements on greenfield sites and others attempting to densify and diversify long urbanised spaces Research Report 13 South African urban imaginaries Cases from Johannesburg is a second edited collection under the Spatial Imaginaries project and it uses a series of cases from Johannesburg that illustrate the interactions between urban imaginaries and the material city These cases include the depiction of central business districts in film as spaces of aspiration the way in which the imaginaries of developers in Hillbrow were shaped by the lives of those living there the imaginaries of Alexandra Renewal Project practitioners the way in which residents of Brixton understand diversity and the construction of two new bridges across the M1 to better connect Sandton and Alexandra

Subjects addressed include Orality and theology Indigenous religions and theology Patristics Pentecostalism Liberation theology Black theology Social justice Sexuality and theology Environmental theology Christology Eschatology The Hebrew Bible and the New Testament The Routledge Handbook of African Theology is an authoritative and comprehensive survey of the theological landscape of Africa As such it will be a hugely useful volume to any scholar interested in African religious dynamics as well as academics of Theology or Biblical Studies in an African context The ^A Struggle for Freedom from Fear Alison Brysk, 2018-08-01 How can we understand and contest the global wave of violence against women In this book Alison Brysk shows that gender violence across countries tends to change as countries develop and liberalize but not in the ways that we might predict She shows how liberalizing authoritarian countries and transitional democracies may experience more shifting patterns and greater levels of violence than less developed and democratic countries due to changes and uncertainties in economic and political structures While a combination of international action law public policy civil society mobilization and changes in social values work to decrease gender violence Brysk assesses the potential limits and balance of these measures The Everyday Politics of Food Co-ops Celia Plender, 2025-05-01 National politics has a significant impact on organizing and accessing community welfare This book engages with notions of everyday politics within two London based food co ops emerging from different political environments and ideologies It provides a careful and engaging examination of the experiences of political and economic change in Austerity Britain revealing how national politics came to punctuate everyday lives within the co ops It highlights the political resonances that practices of care aid and community organizing came to have within the food co ops at a time of rapid welfare withdrawal as well as the tensions between more radical and neoliberal imaginaries that played out within them Language Narratives and Shifting Multilingual Pedagogies Belinda Mendelowitz, Ana Ferreira, Kerry Dixon, 2022-12-15 Winner of the UKLA Academic Book Award 2024 This book challenges monoglossic ideologies traditional language pedagogies and dominant forms of knowledge construction by foregrounding multilingual and multicultural students language narratives repertoires and identities The research is based on a sixteen year longitudinal study of a sociolinguistics course at an English language university and the language narratives produced by the first year education students The study was borne out of a need to create a critically inclusive course that would engage a cohort of students from socially and linguistically diverse backgrounds in contemporary South Africa Drawing on data from over 5 000 students who have journeyed through this course this book shows how a narrative heteroglossic pedagogy harnesses students multilingual strengths A close analysis reveals complex identity work by students located in the Global South The authors argue that decolonising language education is about reconceptualising language reconfiguring what knowledges are valued in the classroom and reshaping pedagogy Achieving Equity and Quality in Higher Education Mahsood Shah, Jade McKay, 2018-07-05 Across the world higher education is witnessing exponential growth in both student participation and types of educational providers One key phenomenon of this growth is an increase in student diversity governments are widening access to higher education for students from traditionally underrepresented groups. However, this raises questions about whether this rapid growth may in fact compromise academic quality. This book presents case studies of how higher education institutions in diverse countries are maintaining academic excellence while increasing the access and participation of students from historically underrepresented backgrounds. Including case studies spanning four continents, the authors and editors examine whether increasing widening participation positively impacts upon academic quality. This volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of global higher education representation and participation in education and quality in higher education.

Hydropolitics, Interest Groups and Governance Richard Meissner, 2016-06-17. This book investigates the role that interest groups have played over the years in influencing the government of Namibia. The World Bank, the European Union and project implementation authorities to not construct the proposed Epupa Hydroelectric Power Station on the Kunene River in the Baynes mountains, a region on the border between Namibia and Angola. Some of the issues brought forward by the interest groups are the socio economic impact the dam would have on the OvaHimba as well as negative consequences for the river s aquatic and terrestrial environment This book argues that interest groups and individuals have the ability to influence the above mentioned institutions and to such an extent that water politics and governance are not exclusively the domain of state institutions As such it argues that communal interest groups living in remote parts of the world can influence state institutions at various political scales

Digital Activism in Zimbabwe Tenford Chitanana,2024-10-21 This book investigates the role of the internet and social media in political processes in non western and non democratic contexts Using Zimbabwe as a case study the book demonstrates how activists and ordinary people deploy social media particularly Facebook to subvert an enduring hegemonic state However the book also highlights how authoritarian regimes are in turn learning and adapting to the information age challenging the impact of digital activism Studies of digital activism in the Global South are often centred around democracy but this book paints a more complex picture examining the role and effect of digital activism in challenging state hegemony in authoritarian contexts The book notes that while communication technologies help mediate activism they are also simultaneously constrained by pre existing and emergent challenges tied to the social and political context and the inherent limitations of those technologies The book investigates the tactics used by digital activists the contextual factors and restrictive political environment they operate in including the role of pro government activists and ultimately the impact of digital activism given these constraints From the case of Zimbabwe the book builds out a broader theoretical analysis of the evolution of third world protest in the digital age examining the limitations of activists actions and the ideological deficit in online activism to ferment a virulent counter hegemony

Routledge Handbook of International Law and the Humanities Shane Chalmers,Sundhya Pahuja,2021-05-19 This Handbook brings together 40 of the world s leading scholars and rising stars who study international law from disciplines in the humanities from history to literature philosophy to the visual arts to showcase the distinctive contributions that this field has made to the study of international law over the past two decades Including authors from Australia Canada Europe India South Africa the UK and the USA all the contributors engage the question of what is distinctive and critical about the work that has been done and that continues to be done in the field of international law and the humanities. For many of these authors, answering this question involves reflecting on the work they themselves have been contributing to this path-breaking field since its inception at the end of the twentieth century. For others, it involves offering models of the new work they are carrying out or else reflecting on the future directions of a field that has now taken its place as one of the most important sites for the study of international legal practice and theory. Each of the book's six parts foregrounds a different element or cluster of elements of international law and the humanities: from an attention to the office conduct and training of the jurist and jurisprudent (Part 1) to scholarly craft and technique (Part 2); to questions of authority and responsibility (Part 3); history and historiography (Part 4); plurality and community (Part 5); as well as the challenge of thinking and rethinking international legal concepts for our times (Part 6). Outlining new ways of imagining and doing international law at a moment in time when original critical thought and practice is more necessary than ever, this Handbook will be essential for scholars, students, and practitioners in international law, international relations, as well as in law and the humanities more generally.

The Ethos of Digital Environments Susanna Lindberg, Hanna-Riikka Roine, 2021-05-27. While self-driving cars and autonomous weapon systems have received a great deal of attention in media and research, the general requirements of ethical life in today's digitalizing reality have not been made sufficiently visible and evaluable. This collection of articles from both distinguished and emerging authors working at the intersections of philosophy, literary theory, media, and technology does not intend to fix new moral rules. Instead, the volume explores the ethos of digital environments, asking how we can orient ourselves in them and inviting us to renewed moral reflection in the face of dilemmas they entail. The authors show how contemporary digital technologies model our perception, narration, as well as our conceptions of truth, and investigate the ethical, moral, and juridical consequences of making public and societal infrastructures computational. They argue that we must make the structures of the digital environments visible and learn to care for them.
