Negotiating Identities in Contemporary Africa Toyin Falola, Emmanuel M. Mbah, 2023-08-29 Negotiating Identities in Contemporary Africa Gender Religion and Ethno cultural Identities explores the changing dynamics of identities in Africa with a focus on gender ethno cultural and religious identity Toyin Falola and Emmanuel M Mbah argue that because identity defines who we are as individuals or groups studies on African identities must focus on understanding the changing dynamics in the socio economic and political spheres in the continent These chapters cover subjects such as women s career identity gender roles and knowledge childlessness ethnocentrism and democracy cultural identity through theater Black identity in the diaspora and diasporic consciousness Using existing scholarship the chapters in this edited volume challenge our understanding of what identity entails and provide new discussions on the hitherto politicized historiography of some identities in Africa

Access to Justice in Rural Communities Daniel Newman, Faith Gordon, 2023-05-04 This book offers insight on access to justice from rural areas in internationally comparable contexts to highlight the diversity of experiences within and across rural areas globally It looks at the fundamental questions for people s lives raised by the issue of access to justice as well as the rule of law It highlights a range of social geographic and cultural issues which impact the way rural communities experience the justice system throughout the world with chapters on Australia Canada England Ireland Kenya Northern Ireland South Africa Syria Turkey the USA and Wales Each chapter explores three questions 1 How do people experience the institutions of justice in rural areas and how does this rural experience differ to an urban experience 2 What impact have changes in policy had on the justice system in rural areas and have rural and urban areas been affected in different ways 3 What impact does the law have on people s lives in rural areas and what would rural communities like to be better understood about their experience of the justice system By bringing in the voices and experiences of those who are often ignored or side lined by justice systems this book will set out an agenda for ensuring social justice in legal systems with a focus on protecting marginalised groups

Thus Until Emilia Ilieva, Reuben Matheka, 2025-08-04 Thus Until A History of Egerton University is a thorough historical chronological and well researched account of Egerton University from a whites only college when it started in 1939 through to the expansion it has experienced over the years culminating in being a full university More than any other university in Kenya Egerton has a long and colourful history but like all the other universities it has suffered from the political economic and financial challenges of the time especially since the double intake of the 1990s Chapter One provides the required background to the study highlighting agricultural and educational policies and steering away from the Happy Valley hype so characteristic of the period The reader will learn about the Egerton family in Chapter Two and particularly about Lord Egerton himself and the colonial circumstances within which he lived The chapter dispels some of the popularly held myths about him Chapter Three deals with the beginnings of the college and the various structural and curriculum experiments tried out and the kind of enrolment and students it experimented with as an all white establishment The chapter ends with Africans beginning to agitate for change With great attention to detail the later chapters put the university in a broader local and international context thereby increasing its relevance to society A History of Egerton University though heavily footnoted and with a detailed bibliography is written in a simple easy flowing and accessible style Food Safety in Low and Middle Income Countries Delia Grace,Bassirou Bonfoh,Hung

GM maize in Ethiopia: An ex ante economic assessment of TELA, a drought tolerant and insect resistant maize Yirga, Chilot, Nin-Pratt, Alejandro, Zambrano, Patricia, Wood-Sichra, Ulrike, Habte, Endeshaw, Kato, Edward, Komen, John, Falck-Zepeda, José Benjamin, Chambers, Judith A., 2020-05-07 Ethiopian economy has grown at an average rate that surpasses that of almost any other economy in the region over the last two decades At the center of this development is the high priority placed on accelerating agricultural growth and achieving food security and poverty alleviation Over the years maize has become a main food security crop widely produced and consumed by smallholder farmers second only to teff in terms of area Despite the sustained growth of maize production over the years its yields continue to be lower than the world's average Of the many abiotic and biotic constraints that maize faces insect attacks and droughts are two critical ones The genetically modified TELA maize can help address these constraints This paper estimates the economic benefits of adopting this new technology and the opportunity cost that Ethiopia will incur if its adoption is delayed The analysis is conducted using an economic surplus partial equilibrium model run with the newly developed DREAMpy software data drawn from the Ethiopia Socioeconomic Survey Wave 3 2015 2016 econometric estimations using these survey data and other local data and sources The estimations show that if the drought tolerant and insect resistant TELA maize is planted in 2023 the net present value of benefits for producers and consumers would be around 850 million Producers from the mid altitude maize zone will be the main beneficiaries given the targeted area of TELA maize Consumers from all areas will benefit from the projected reduction in price If the adoption of this new technology is delayed by 5 years the estimated net present value of benefits will fall by 30 percent These costs underscore the importance of having a regulatory system that is efficient predictable and transparent and ensures that the projected economic benefits are realized Measuring Diets and Food Choice in the Context of a Changing World Winnie Bell,Christine Blake,Shauna Downs,2025-08-06 Historically research in low and middle income countries has been focused on what people consume with less attention to how and why people choose to consume the foods that they do As incomes rise and local food environments undergo rapid changes providing consumers with a wider array of options at competitive prices understanding the underlying drivers of food choice including the preferences and values that underpin them has become increasingly important In recent years there have been renewed efforts to understand the drivers of food choice in the context of changing food environments and broader food system and how these drivers link with food consumption The goal of this Research Topic is to look beyond dietary consumption what people eat by considering more holistically the various drivers of food choice how and why people eat the foods they do to better understand what underpins individual decisions Ultimately by understanding why people make the choices they do especially when situated in the local food environment and or broader food system we can identify important entry points for behavior change interventions develop a better understanding about the role of food safety in food choice decisions improve the environment climate and food systems through improved knowledge on the drivers of food choice and learn about how changing livelihoods shifts dynamics related to food choice amongst other important research tied to drivers of food choice
