Transformative Innovation for Sustainable Human Settlements Andrew Emmanuel Okem,Sithembiso Lindelihle Myeni,Tshepang Mosiea,2024-11-18 This book uses the transformative innovation policy TIP as a lens to show how innovative processes practices and systems could address critical challenges and facilitate the delivery of sustainable human settlements in South Africa The TIP approach shows that addressing societal problems is not a function of a technical solution within a government department but one that requires partnership with multiple stakeholders The book argues that it is essential to understand and embrace innovation policy that is transformative and responds to the social and environmental needs at local provincial and national levels It demonstrates that innovation policy should focus on transforming the socio technical systems that demand embracing notions such as experimental delivery and learning directionality and inclusivity Chapters explore the ability of the state to transform its organisational processes and capacity to improve and align its planning implementation monitoring and evaluation systems to high levels of efficiency and sustainability targets Bringing together various theoretical and empirical perspectives on innovation in the context of sustainable human settlement this book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of Housing Human Settlements Architecture Public Policy Development Studies Civil Engineering Political Science and Public Administration

Emerging Constitutionalism in South Sudan Mark Deng,2025-08-21 This book offers the first ever in depth analysis of the emerging constitutionalism in South Sudan and the challenges it faces The book critically analyses the constitution making processes that occurred in South Sudan between 2005 and 2011 finding among other things that there was a failure of constitutional discourse particularly in relation to the 2011 drafting process of the Transitional Constitution It goes on to analyse how the constitution is being implemented It finds that despite the clear division of powers and functions between the national government and the sub national governments what has emerged in South Sudan in the post constitution making period is a form of coercive centralism where the national government controls much of the political decision making process This has had serious implications for democracy constitutionalism and the rule of law Finally bearing in mind the failure in both how the transitional constitution was made and how it is being implemented the book undertakes a critical analysis of the proposed process for drafting a new constitution for South Sudan It identifies serious shortcomings and proposes how these could be addressed to enhance the process

Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto,Richard Banégas,2021-05-09 In the context of a global biometric turn this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem. However, this book shows that biometrics far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging. It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state. Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries, the book documents the processes, practices, and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom. Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition, it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work, the practices of citizenship, and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies. This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies, politics, human security, and anthropology, and the sociology of the state. The Wiley Handbook of Home Education Milton Gaither, 2016-12-12

The Wiley Handbook of Home Education is a comprehensive collection of the latest scholarship in all aspects of home education in the United States and abroad. Presents the latest findings on academic achievement of home schooled children, issues of socialization, and legal argumentation about home schooling and government regulation. A truly global perspective on home education, this handbook includes the disparate work of scholars outside of the U.S. Typically understudied topics are addressed, such as the emotional lives of home educating mothers and the impact of home education on young adults. Writing is accessible to students, scholars, educators, and anyone interested in home schooling issues. The Role of Architects in Informal Settlements Nastaran Sedehi, Seyed Hossein Iradj Moeini, 2024-10-17 With over one billion people worldwide living in informal settlements and enduring substandard housing conditions, these areas present one of the greatest urban challenges of our time. The existence of informal settlements is deeply intertwined with global issues such as climate change, war-induced displacement, and colonialism. As sustainability becomes a central focus in various disciplines, including architecture, the path to sustainable urban development lies in addressing the problems of informal settlements. Architecture's relevance to this discourse is paradoxically highlighted by its perceived irrelevance. Informal settlements are often overlooked as legitimate sites for architectural practice. This neglect stems from two assumptions: first, architecture's traditional dependence on power and capital, isolating the marginalised who rarely have the chance to receive architectural services; and second, architecture's perceived incapability to address urban-scale infrastructural problems, and thereby its reduction to aesthetic creativity and form-making. This book challenges architecture's focus on the centre and its lack of ambition for creating a pervasive impact on cities. Instead, it highlights the profession's potential to serve the common good and address urban-scale infrastructural issues, and proposes the effective engagement of architects in informal settlements. Drawing on Henri Lefebvre's dichotomy of margin versus centre in urban spaces, informal settlements are interpreted as spaces on the city's periphery created by the marginalised with limited access to power, capital, and authority. By revisiting interrelated concepts such as the production of space the right to the city social architecture and spatial agency within the context of informal settlements the book claims a space for architectural practice in these areas It incorporates discussions on insurgent citizenship and critiques of the self help approach contextualising its arguments with architectural intervention precedents from around the world The book concludes with a brief manifesto on practising architecture in informal settlements The book aspires to inspire architecture students practitioners and researchers to explore the profession's potential in social problem solving and to push the boundaries of practice towards inclusiveness for all urban inhabitants

Law's Documents Katherine Biber, Trish Luker, Priya Vaughan, 2021-12-29 Illuminating their breadth and diversity this book presents a comprehensive and multidisciplinary view of legal documents and their manifold forms uses materialities and meanings In 1951 Suzanne Briet a librarian at the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris famously said that an antelope in a zoo could be a document thereby radically changing the way documents were analysed and understood In the fifty years since this pronouncement the digital age has introduced a potentially limitless range of digital and technological forms for the capture and storage of information In their multiplicity and their ubiquity documents pervade our everyday life However the material intellectual aesthetic and political dimensions and effects of documents remain difficult to pin down Taking a multidisciplinary and international approach this collection tackles the question what is a legal document in order to explore the material aesthetic and intellectual attributes of legal documentation the political and colonial orders reflected and embedded in documents and the legal archival and social systems which order and utilise information As well as scholars in law documentary theory history Indigenous studies art history and design theory and practice this book will also appeal to those working in libraries archives galleries and museums for whom the ongoing challenges of documentation in the digital age are urgent and timely questions papers presented at the International Conference on Business and Management Dynamics ICBMD held from 7 to 8

September 2016 at African Pride Crystal Hotel and Spa in Cape Town As grey literature the proceedings are the contributions made by researchers at the conference and are considered the written record of the work that was presented to fellow conference delegates Methodology The methodology used varies from researcher to researcher but are suitable for the

studies conducted Thus on the one hand studies that were subjective in nature used the interpretive paradigm where the qualitative approach adopted made use of the interview method to collect data On the other hand studies that were objectively inclined adopted the positivist philosophy and used survey questionnaires to collect data However there were some academic papers which used mixed methodology because of the nature of the study Whatever methodology used adhered to the ethos of the philosophies underpinning the methodology Contribution made to scholarship The articles come from individual researchers and each article in the proceedings is unique Mostly there is no general argument leading from one contribution to the next However it is interesting to note that in the area of economic performance it was evident that real exchange rate and net foreign direct investment contribute more towards innovations in economic growth With regard to human capital development papers presented evidence that there exists a definite need to explore the phenomenon of personal branding as limited scientific academic research has been done within the field of personal branding or on elements of the topic Thus the outcome argues that personal branding has an influence on leadership style which in turn impacts on organisational performance and related hygiene factors Furthermore it was demonstrated that current methods or strategies for enforcing institutionalisation of knowledge sharing within an organisation have not been successful and as such new strategies are needed to reinforce efforts to nurture and invigorate the institutionalisation of knowledge sharing within an organisation With regard to technology and big data impact on organisational performance it was evident that system performance memory consumption and CPU utilisation can be used as criteria to compare and evaluate big data technologies to improve organisational performance Most of the articles contribution reemphasised technology education and training as a means of digitising business and improving effectiveness Target audience The target readership is academic researchers and business leaders who require access to the latest developments in the fields of economics information management business education development studies social sciences and technology It is also for policymakers and other stakeholders who need a better understanding of the impact of new developments on existing policies and regulations for their review or amendment

Contingent Citizens Elizabeth Hull, 2020-05-27 Contingent Citizens examines the ambiguous state of South Africa's public sector workers and the implications for contemporary understandings of citizenship It takes us inside an ethnography of the professional ethic of nurses in a rural hospital in KwaZulu Natal shaped by a deep history of mission medicine and changing forms of new public management Liberal democratic principles of transparency decentralization and rights though promising freedom from control often generate fear and insecurity instead But despite the pressures they face Elizabeth Hull shows that nurses draw on a range of practices from international migration to new religious movements to assert new forms of citizenship Focusing an anthropological lens on professionalism Hull explores the major fault lines of South Africa's fragmented social landscape class gender race and religion to make an important contribution to the study of class formation and citizenship This prize winning monograph will be of interest to scholars of anthropology development studies sociology
