Anchored in Place Bank, Leslie,Cloete, Nico,2018-11-05 Tensions in South African universities have traditionally centred around equity particularly access and affordability historical legacies such as apartheid and colonialism and the shape and structure of the higher education system What has not received sufficient attention is the contribution of the university to place based development This volume is the first in South Africa to engage seriously with the place based developmental role of universities In the international literature and policy there has been an increasing integration of the university with place based development especially in cities This volume weighs in on the debate by drawing attention to the place based roles and agency of South African universities in their local towns and cities It acknowledges that universities were given specific development roles in regions homelands and towns under apartheid and comments on why sub national place based development has not been a key theme in post apartheid higher education planning Given the developmental crisis in the country universities could be expected to play a more constructive and meaningful role in the development of their own precincts cities and regions But what should that role be Is there evidence that this is already occurring in South Africa despite the lack of a national policy framework What plans and programmes are in place and what is needed to expand the development agency of universities at the local level Who and what might be involved Where should the focus lie and who might benefit most and why Is there a need perhaps to approach the challenges of college towns secondary cities and metropolitan centers differently This book poses some of these questions as it considers the experiences of a number of South African universities including Wits Pretoria Nelson Mandela University and especially Fort Hare as one of its post centenary challenges

Real-World Applications of Quantum Computers and Machine Intelligence Ananth, Christo, Anbazhagan, N., Goh, Mark, M. N. Islam, Sardar, 2024-12-27 The emergence of quantum computing promises a monumental shift in technological capabilities poised to revolutionize various fields where traditional computing methods may fall short Quantum computing's potential spans a wide spectrum of applications from enhancing cryptography to revolutionizing climate modeling and drug discovery Major corporations are integrating quantum computing into artificial intelligence research marking a pivotal shift from traditional computing methods Real World Applications of Quantum Computers and Machine Intelligence explores practical examples in quantum computing and machine learning for various industry revolutions By contrasting quantum computing with conventional data mining systems this book offers insights into the transformative potential of quantum computing enabling the development of new techniques for real time problem solving and innovation This book covers topics such as deep neural networks environmental technologies and machine learning and is a useful resource for computer engineers industry professionals researchers academicians scientists business owners and healthcare workers

Phage Therapy: Past, Present and Future Stephen T. Abedon, Pilar García, Peter Mullany, Rustam Aminov, 2017-09-05 Historically the first observation of a transmissible lytic agent that is specifically active against a bacterium Bacillus anthracis was by a Russian microbiologist Nikolay Gamaleya in 1898 At that time however it was too early to make a connection to another discovery made by Dmitri Ivanovsky in 1892 and Martinus Beijerinck in 1898 on a non bacterial pathogen infecting tobacco plants Thus the viral world was discovered in two of the three domains of life and our current understanding is that viruses represent the most abundant biological entities on the planet The potential of bacteriophages for infection treatment have been recognized after the discoveries by Frederick Twort and Felix d H relle in 1915 and 1917 Subsequent phage therapy developments however have been overshadowed by the remarkable success of antibiotics in infection control and treatment and phage therapy research and development persisted mostly in the former Soviet Union countries Russia and Georgia as well as in France and Poland The dramatic rise of antibiotic resistance and especially of multi drug resistance among human and animal bacterial pathogens however challenged the position of antibiotics as a single most important pillar for infection control and treatment Thus there is a renewed interest in phage therapy as a possible additive alternative therapy especially for the infections that resist routine antibiotic treatment The basis for the revival of phage therapy is affected by a number of issues that need to be resolved before it can enter the arena which is traditionally reserved for antibiotics Probably the most important is the regulatory issue How should phage therapy be regulated Similarly to drugs Then the co evolving nature of phage bacterial host relationship will be a major hurdle for the production of consistent phage formulae Or should we resort to the phage products such as lysins and the corresponding engineered versions in order to have accurate and consistent delivery doses We still have very limited knowledge about the pharmacodynamics of phage therapy More data obtained in animal models are necessary to evaluate the phage therapy efficiency compared for example to antibiotics Another aspect is the safety of phage therapy How do phages interact with the immune system and to what costs or benefits What are the risks in the course of phage therapy of transduction of undesirable properties such as virulence or antibiotic resistance genes How frequent is the development of bacterial host resistance during phage therapy Understanding these and many other aspects of phage therapy basic and applied is the main subject of this Topic Advances in Human Factors in Training, Education, and Learning Sciences Salman Nazir,Tareq Z. Ahram,Waldemar Karwowski,2021-06-26 This book addresses the importance of human factors in optimizing the learning and training process It reports on the latest research and best practices relating to the application of behavioral and cognitive science and new technologies in the design of instructional and training content It proposes innovative strategies for improving the learning and training experience and outcomes in different contexts including lower and higher education and different industry sectors A special emphasis is given to digital and distance learning gamification and virtual training Gathering contributions to the AHFE 2021 Conference on Human Factors in Training Education and Learning Sciences held virtually on July 25 29 2021 from USA this book offers extensive information and a thought provoking guide for both researchers and practitioners in the field of education and training

Students' participation in university governance in South Africa Vuyo Mthethwa,2023-03-01 The purpose of this book is to examine the academic experiences of students who participated in university governance at South African universities Scrutiny is placed on the alignment of student representative council constitutions and university statutes with the actual experiences students had in discharging their roles in governance and in the way this impacted their academic progress Through a multi site case study design semi structured interviews were conducted with members of the student representative council who participated in university governance and supported by document analysis and observations to generate the data The study adopted Tinto s Integration Theory and Astin s Theory of Involvement as the two frameworks are based on the relationship between students extra curricular activity and their academic experiences The study invokes a greater awareness of students as major stakeholder in governance and informs policies and practices that may better serve students academic experiences The study will contribute to the understanding of cooperative governance principles while drawing from the perspective of the students on their understanding limitations and challenges in discharging their roles in university governance

Biblical Theological Investigations into the Incomprehensibility of God Francois P. Viljoen,Albert J. Coetsee,2025-10-14 Biblical Theological Investigations into the Incomprehensibility of God draws readers into the profound attribute of God s incomprehensibility as witnessed in the unfolding narrative of Scripture While systematic theology has long affirmed the incomprehensibility of God this volume breaks new ground by exploring this attribute through the lens of biblical theology tracing its expression in specific texts of the Old and New Testaments Originating from the 2024 EABS conference in Sofia the chapters in this volume represent research by scholars who examine how biblical texts portray God as both revealed and ultimately unfathomable by means of detailed exegetical studies

Physical Modelling in Geotechnics, Volume 1 Andrew McNamara,Sam Divall,Richard Goodey,Neil Taylor,Sarah Stallebrass,Jignasha Panchal,2018-07-11 Physical Modelling in Geotechnics collects more than 1500 pages of peer reviewed papers written by researchers from over 30 countries and presented at the 9th International Conference on Physical Modelling in Geotechnics 2018 City University of London UK 17 20 July 2018 The ICPMG series has grown such that two volumes of proceedings were required to publish all contributions The books represent a substantial body of work in four years Physical Modelling in Geotechnics contains 230 papers including eight keynote and themed lectures representing the state of the art in physical modelling research in aspects as diverse as fundamental modelling including sensors imaging modelling techniques and scaling onshore and offshore foundations dams and embankments retaining walls and deep excavations ground improvement and environmental engineering tunnels and geohazards including significant contributions in the area of seismic engineering ISSMGE TC104 have identified areas for special attention including education in physical modelling and the promotion of physical modelling to industry With this in mind there is a special themed paper on education focusing on both undergraduate and postgraduate teaching as well as practicing geotechnical engineers Physical modelling has entered a new era with the advent of exciting work on real time interfaces between physical and numerical modelling and the growth of facilities and expertise that enable development of so called megafuges of 1000gtonne capacity or more capable of modelling the largest and most complex of geotechnical challenges Physical Modelling in Geotechnics will be of interest to professionals engineers and academics interested or involved in geotechnics geotechnical engineering and related areas The 9th International Conference on Physical Modelling in Geotechnics was organised by the Multi Scale Geotechnical Engineering Research Centre at City University of London under the auspices of Technical Committee 104 of the International Society for Soil Mechanics and Geotechnical Engineering ISSMGE City University of London are pleased to host the prestigious international conference for the first time having initiated and hosted the first regional conference Eurofuge ten years ago in 2008 Quadrennial regional conferences in both Europe and Asia are now well established events giving doctoral researchers in particular the opportunity to attend an international conference in this rapidly evolving specialist area This is volume 1 of a 2 volume set Biomedical Visualisation Leonard Shapiro,Paul M. Rea,2022-12-03 This book brings together current advances in high technology visualisation and the age old but science adapted practice of drawing for improved observation in medical education and surgical planning and practice We begin this book with a chapter reviewing the history of confusion around visualisation observation and theory outlining the implications for medical imaging The authors consider the shifting influence of various schools of philosophy and the changing agency of technology over time We then follow with chapters on the practical application of visualisation and observation including emerging imaging techniques in anatomy for teaching research and clinical practice innovation in the mapping of orthopaedic fractures for optimal orthopaedic surgical guidance placental morphology and morphometry as a prerequisite for future pathological investigations visualising the dural venous sinuses using volume tracing Two chapters explore the use and benefit of drawing in medical education and surgical planning It is worth noting that experienced surgeons and artists employ a common set of techniques as part of their work which involves both close observation and the development of fine motor skills and sensitive tool use An in depth look at police identikit construction from memory by eyewitnesses to crimes outlines how an individual s memory of a suspect s facial features are rendered visible as a composite image This book offers anatomy educators and clinicians an overview of the history and philosophy of medical observation and imaging as well as an overview of contemporary imaging technologies for anatomy education and clinical practice In addition we offer anatomy educators and clinicians a detailed overview of drawing practices for the improvement of anatomical observation and surgical planning Forensic psychologists and law enforcement personnel will not only benefit from a chapter dedicated to the construction of facial composites but also from chapters on drawing and observation From Student to Urban Planner Tuna Taşan-Kok,Mark Oranje,2017-12-06 For many young planners the noble intentions with going to planning school seem starkly out of place in the neoliberal worlds they have come to inhabit For some the huge gap between the power they thought they would have and what they actually do is not only worrying but also deeply discouraging But for some others practice means finding practical and creative solutions to overcome challenges and complexities How do young planners in different settings respond to seemingly similar situations like these What do they do give up adjust or fight back What role did their planning education play and could it have helped in preparing and assisting them to respond to the world they are encountering In this edited volume stories of young planners from sixteen countries that engage these questions are presented The sixteen cases range from settings with older established planning systems e g USA the Netherlands and the UK to settings where the system is less set e g Brazil being remodeled e g South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina and under stress e g Turkey and Poland Each chapter explores what might be done differently to prepare young planners for the complexities and challenges of their real worlds This book not only points out what is absent but also offers planning educators an alternative vision The editors and esteemed contributors provide reflections and suggestions as to how this new generation of young planners can be supported to survive in embrace and change the world they are encountering and in the spirit of planning endeavor to change it for the better

Social Justice and Education in the 21st Century Willie Pearson Jr., Vijay Reddy, 2021-04-10 The world is not an equal place There are high and low income countries and high and low income households For each group there are differential educational opportunities leading to differential educational outcomes and differential labor market opportunities This pattern often reproduces the privileges and inequalities of groups in a society This book explores this differentiation in education from a social justice lens Comparing the United States and South Africa this book analyzes each country s developmental thinking on education from human capital and human rights approaches in both primary and higher education The enclosed contributions draw from different disciplines including legal studies sociology psychology computer science and public policy

Agribusiness competitiveness: Applying analytics, typology, and measurements to Africa Shishodia, Mahika, Babu, Suresh Chandra, 2017-07-02 Agribusiness has a major role to play in the transformation of the agricultural sector in Africa With the demand for high value food products increasing around the world the production and export of these goods represents an opportunity to achieve increases in income and employment To capture the benefits of this trend and capitalize on this opportunity for long term agricultural growth agribusiness in Africa must become more competitive In addition to improving competitiveness increasing agricultural productivity and food security are also major challenges in African agricultural development In this paper we compare the agribusiness competitiveness of African countries and develop typologies connected with their food security and agricultural productivity status The typologies reveal various stylized facts on the competitiveness of agribusiness to help nations prioritize issues for agricultural development and growth We develop the measures of agribusiness competitiveness and apply them to African countries Additionally we present policy implications and lessons for increasing the competitiveness of agribusiness in African countries

Methodology for Multilevel Modeling in Educational Research Myint Swe Khine, 2022-04-10 This edited volume documents attempts to conduct systematic and prodigious research using multilevel analysis in educational settings and present their findings and identify future research directions It showcases the versatility of multilevel analysis and elucidates the unique advantages in examining complex and wide ranging educational issues This book brings together leading experts around the world to share their works in the field highlighting recent advances creative and unique approaches and innovative methods using multilevel modeling and theoretical and practical aspects of multilevel analysis in culturally and linguistically diverse educational contexts The Grey Zone Mark Lattimer,Philippe Sands,2018-07-26 The high civilian death toll in modern protracted conflicts such as those in Syria or Iraq indicate the limits of international law in offering protections to civilians at risk A recent conference of states convened by the International Committee of the Red Cross referred to an institutional vacuum in the area of international humanitarian law implementation Yet both international humanitarian law and the law of human rights establish a series of rights intended to protect civilians But which law or laws apply in a particular situation and what are the obstacles to their implementation How can the law offer greater protections to civilians caught up in new methods of warfare such as drone strikes or targeted by new forms of military organisation such as transnational armed groups Can the implementation gap be filled by the growing use of human rights courts to remedy violations of the laws of armed conflict or are new instruments or mechanisms of civilian legal protection needed This volume brings together contributions from leading academic authorities and legal practitioners on the situation of civilians in the grey zone between human rights and the laws of war The chapters in Part 1 address key contested or boundary issues in defining the rights of civilians or non combatants in today s conflicts Those in Part 2 examine remedies and current mechanisms for redress both at the international and national level and those in Part 3 assess prospects for the development of new mechanisms for addressing violations As military intervention to protect civilians remains contested this volume looks at the potential for developing alternative approaches to the protection of civilians and their rights Space is the Ultimate Luxury Bernard Moore,Luregn Lenggenhager,2025-04-03 The Open Access publication of this book has been published with the support of the Swiss National Science Foundation This book explores the history ecology and society of a seemingly inhospitable stretch of land along the Orange River in southern Namibia Here a group of African farmers have succeeded against all odds to stay on their ancestral homeland through decades of colonialism and apartheid The twenty first century however has brought different people looking to evict them nature conservationists These farmers face off against billionaire gemstone mine owners rhinoceros veterinarians and carbon finance executives seeking to prove their legal and moral claims to their ancestral lands This book reveals how we got here and what is at stake if they fail Supporting

Entrepreneurship and Innovation Janet Crum,Samantha Schmehl Hines,2019-04-29 Libraries have recently begun doing more to support entrepreneurship and innovation within their communities This volume explores how this has come about looking at libraries from across North America Europe and Africa and helps position readers to better understand what is happening and how this can be brought to further institutions Beyond Impunity R. Ross,Lorraine Chiweza,2022-01-09 This comprehensive compelling accessible and timely volume should be compulsory reading to academics policy makers social activists and the general public in Malawi and elsewhere on the continent The accounts the authors present of the pervasive dysfunctions of Malawi s troubled experiment with multiparty democracy since the mid 1990s and the endlessly deferred dreams of development are often dispiriting Yet their bleak diagnoses are often accompanied by ameliorative prescriptions that are simultaneously bold and pragmatic The book exudes a sense of hope that the struggles for a better future will continue In itself the book represents a testament to the possibilities of the country's democratic dispensation the need to unflinchingly confront the country's debilitating political and socioeconomic pathologies Such a text would have been unthinkable during the dictatorship of the founding president Dr Hastings Kamuzu Banda

Grassland-Invertebrate Interactions: Plant Productivity, Resilience and Community Dynamics Ivan Hiltbold, Michael Rostás, 2017-10-13

Natural and anthropogenic grasslands such as prairies meadows rangelands and pastures cover more than 40% of the planet's surface and provide a wealth of ecological services Grasslands alone store one third of the global carbon stocks and grass roots through their specific architectures ensure water cycling and prevent the erosion of fertile topsoil In addition grasslands are of vital importance for human food production as vast areas of rangelands and pastures provide feed for livestock Pastoral legumes mobilize atmospheric nitrogen and improve fertility of arable soils Not least grasslands are an essential genetic resource The three major crop species that feed half of the global population have been bred from wild grasses Ancestors of our contemporary turf cultivars common components of urban landscapes and recreation spaces originated from wild grasslands Although natural and managed grasslands represent pivotal ecosystems many aspects of how they function are poorly understood To date most attention has focused on grassland primary producers i.e. forage plants and mammalian grazers but invertebrates are likely to play an equally if not more important role in grassland ecosystem functioning In Australian pastures for example the biomass of root feeding scarab beetles can often exceed that of sheep and plant damage caused by invertebrates is sometimes equivalent to an average dairy cow's grass consumption Indeed grasslands are one of the most densely populated ecosystems with invertebrates being probably the most important engineers that shape both plant communities and the grassland as a whole In a rapidly changing world with increasing anthropogenic pressure on grasslands this Research Topic focuses on 1 How grassland habitats shape invertebrate biodiversity 2 Impacts of climate change on grassland invertebrate interactions 3 Plant and invertebrate pest monitoring and management 4 Plant mediated multitrophic interactions and biological control in grasslands 5 Land use and grassland invertebrates 6 Plant resistance to invertebrate pests Given the increasing demand for food and land for human habitation unprecedented threats to grasslands are anticipated Resilient to some extent these key ecosystems need to be better comprehended to guarantee their sustainable management and ecosystem services
