National Youth Development Agency, 2016 African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda, 2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui's diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public

Space and planning in secondary cities Lochner Marais, Verna Nel, 2019-09-01 Much of the urban research focuses on the large metropolitan areas in South Africa This book assesses spatial planning in the second tier cities of the country Secondary cities are vital as they perform essential regional and in some cases global economic roles and help to distribute the population of a country more evenly across its surface Apartheid planning left South African cities fragmented segregated and with low densities Post apartheid policies aim to reverse these realities by emphasising integration higher densities and upgrading Achieving these aims has been challenging and often the historical patterns continue The evidence shows that two opposing patterns prevail namely increased densities and continued urban sprawl This book presents ten case studies of spatial planning and spatial transformation in secondary cities of South Africa The book frames these case studies against complexity theory and suggests that the post apartheid response to apartheid planning represents a linear deviation from history The ten case studies then reveal how difficult it is for local decision makers to find appropriate responses and how current responses often result in contradictory results Often these cities are highly vulnerable and they find it difficult to plan in the context of uncertainty The book also highlights how these cities find it difficult to stand on their own against the influence of interest groups property developers mining companies traditional authorities other spheres of government The main reasons include weak municipal finance statements the dependence on national and provincial government for capital expenditure limited investment in infrastructure maintenance the lack of planning capacity the inability to implement plans and the unintended and sometimes contrary outcomes of post apartheid planning policies Sea Narratives: Cultural Responses to the Sea, 1600-Present Charlotte Mathieson, 2016-06-07 Sea Narratives Cultural Responses to the Sea 1600 Present explores the relationship between the sea and culture from the early modern period to the present The collection uses the concept of the sea narrative as a lens through which to consider the multiple ways in which the sea has shaped challenged and expanded modes of cultural representation to produce varied contested and provocative chronicles of the sea across a variety of cultural forms within diverse socio cultural moments Sea Narratives provides a unique perspective on the relationship between the sea and cultural production it reveals the sea to be more than simply a source of creative inspiration instead showing how the sea has had a demonstrable effect on new modes and forms of narration across the cultural sphere and in turn how these forms have been essential in shaping socio cultural understandings of the sea The result is an incisive exploration of the sea's force as a cultural presence
