Hospitals can reduce the risk of complications like wound infection or blood clots in surgery patients by giving the right treatments at the right time. For example, studies show a strong association of reduced incidence of post-operative infection with administration of antibiotics within the one hour prior to surgery. After the incision is closed, however, studies show that prolonged administration of prophylaxis with antibiotics may increase the risk of certain other infections at no additional benefit to the surgical patient.

Scientific evidence shows that the following process of care measures represent the best practices for preventing complications after certain surgeries (colon surgery, hip and knee arthroplasty, abdominal and vaginal hysterectomy, cardiac surgery (including coronary artery bypass grafts (CABG)) and vascular surgery). Higher scores are better*.

*From Hospital Compare

Measure Abbreviation	Name	Description*	Description for patient*	Common failure modes	Best-practices
SCIP-Inf-1	Prophylactic Antibiotic Received Within 1 Hour Prior to Surgical Incision	Surgical patients who received prophylactic antibiotics within 1 hour prior to surgical incision. (Is both an inpatient and outpatient measure.)	Getting an antibiotic within one hour before surgery reduces the risk of wound infections. This measure shows how often hospital staff make sure surgery patients get antibiotics at the right time.	Not given within one hour due to delay in surgery start time Anesthesia start time or antibiotic time is not documented	Given in operating room right before cut Ensure that there is standard place to document times
SCIP-Inf-2	Prophylactic Antibiotic Selection	Surgical patients who received the recommended antibiotics for their particular type of surgery. (Is both an inpatient and outpatient measure.)	Some antibiotics work better than others to prevent wound infections for certain types of surgery. This measure shows how often hospital staff make sure patients get the right kind of preventive antibiotic medication for their surgery.	MD not aware of recommendations	Preprinted orders/standardize profiles Cheat sheet for MD Standard process for keeping MD up-to-date on changes for antibiotic recommendations
SCIP-Inf-3	Prophylactic Antibiotics Discontinued Within 24 Hours After Surgery End Time	Surgical patients whose prophylactic antibiotics were discontinued within 24 hours after surgery end time.	Taking preventive antibiotics for more than 24 hours after routine surgery is usually not necessary. This measure shows how often hospitals stopped giving antibiotics to surgery patients when they were no longer needed to prevent surgical infection.	MD not on board Med-surg nurse doesn't know surgery end time Pharmacy delay in filling meds	Pharmacy manages number of doses filled (and timing)
