White paper on universal credit Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee,2011-03-07 The white paper published as Cm 7957 ISBN 9780101795722 Universal Credit Implementation Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee,2012-11-22 The Universal Credit pilots Pathfinders will begin in the north west of England in April 2013 and full national roll out is due to start in October 2013 The Government has designed a welfare system which should help ease the transition from benefits to work but significant concerns remain about the potential impact of the changes on some of the most vulnerable benefit claimants especially the online claims system and the proposed single monthly payment The Government needs to reflect on its ambitious implementation timetable Under Universal Credit payments to cover the costs of rent will go to the benefit claimant rather than direct to the landlord This is a major change and the Committee therefore recommends that during the initial phases of implementation claimants who currently have their housing costs paid to their landlord should have the option to continue with this arrangement The Committee also notes that it has not yet received sufficient evidence to satisfy itself that the Government will achieve its stated aim of ensuring more generous support for the disabled The Government plans to calculate monthly Universal Credit payments by using information taken from data feeds from HMRC s new Real Time Information RTI system though there are concerns about that programme The Committee further recognises that there is likely to be a significant increased demand for advice services during the four year transition to Universal Credit The report also comments on closely related policy areas including the conditionality and sanctions regime passported benefits localisation of council tax support localisation of the Social Fund Universal credit Great Britain: Department for Work and Pensions,2010-11-11 This white paper sets out the Government s plans to introduce legislation to reform the welfare system by creating a new universal credit This universal credit will radically simplify the system to make work pay and combat worklessness and poverty The consultation document Cm 7913 ISBN 9780101791328 spelt out the issues and the consultation responses Cm 7971 ISBN 9780101797122 publishing simultaneously with this paper broadly welcomed the proposals that were put forward Universal credit is an integrated working age credit that will provide a basic allowance with additional elements for children disability housing and caring It will support people both in and out of work replacing working tax credit child tax credit housing benefit income support income based jobseeker s allowance and income related employment and support allowance The universal credit will improve financial work incentives by ensuring that support reduction is tapered at a consistent and managed rate It will also be backed up by a strong system of conditionality As a simpler system managed by one department it will reduce the scope for costly errors and fraud The universal credit will not replace contributory jobseeker s allowance disability living allowance child benefit and bereavement benefits statutory sick pay statutory maternity pay maternity allowance and industrial injuries disablement benefit Understanding the Cost of

House of Commons - Welsh Affairs Committee: The Impact of Changes to Housing Benefit in Wales - HC 159 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Welsh Affairs Committee, 2013-10-17 The costs of housing benefit currently makes up more than a tenth of the UK Government's expenditure on welfare with costs forecast to reach 25 billion by 2014 15 The Government's policy on under occupation came into force in April 2013 and it is estimated that 40 000 tenants in Wales will be affected representing 46% of working age housing benefit claimants living in the social rented sector This is the highest proportion of any region in Great Britain There could therefore be a shortage of one and two bedroom homes in Wales to re house everyone who wants to downsize If local authorities are struggling to find alternative smaller accommodation for Government should undertake a speedy review of this policy It is also increasingly urgent for the Welsh Government to continue with its house building programme with a particular focus on the building of smaller sized properties obviously this is a long term solution that would require additional resources If no social housing is available tenants may need to move to the private rented sector and private rental costs would need to be monitored The costs of moving disabled

households who require adaptations are also a concern There may be a case for exempting disabled households from the policy The Government's proposal to pay housing benefit direct to social tenants under Universal Credit may result in some tenants being unable to manage their rent payments The Committee recommends that the Government provide for housing benefit to be paid direct to the landlords in certain circumstances for example after a specified period of non payment HL 117 - Affordable Childcare Great Britain. Moynihan,2024-09-10 The UK has in recent years been suffering from what is nothing short of an economic crisis Growth has now completely stalled in those western democracies the UK included where high government spending and high taxes have steadily burgeoned decade after decade Free market economies now threaten to leave us behind in terms of wealth opportunity and standards of living At the end of Rishi Sunak s 2024 government expenditure was at 45 per cent of GDP and taxes were 36 per cent and rising yet still nowhere near sufficient to cover public expenditure The government s net annual borrowing is now a completely unsustainable 4 4 per cent of GDP with our overall national debt growing rapidly and alarmingly In this arresting and powerful manifesto for economic change Jon Moynihan analyses the UK s decades long stagnant economy and looks at what can be done to resuscitate it Combining rigorous research with unparalleled business experience he explores the key dynamics affecting economic growth ranging from government borrowing expenditure tax and regulation to the way national resources are deployed on non productive and futile growth stifling endeavours Ultimately

Moynihan shows that unless we act now to reverse the decline by radically restructuring our economy to stimulate economic growth the UK risks stagnation financial collapse and a long term disintegration in our standard of living Ignore his warning at your peril

21st century welfare Great Britain: Department for Work and Pensions, 2010-07-30 The benefits system as it stands often provides incentives to stay on benefits rather than take on a job This paper identifies the key failings of the benefits system and outlines the objectives the Government believes the system should attempt to achieve The framework being considered looks at the system of state support for the less well off as a whole and is designed to produce positive behavioural effects The intention is to maximise work incentives while continuing to protect those most in need This aim is to achieve this through new rules on how much of their earnings people can keep without losing benefit and by withdrawing benefits as earnings rise at a single reasonable rate The models being put forward for consultation include i a universal credit whereby elements of the current income related and tax credit systems are combined bringing out of work and in work support together in a single system and supplement household earnings through credit payments ii a single unified taper would retain a set of benefits with a reformed delivery system whereby withdrawal would be through a taper applied to overall benefit eligibility as income increased and ii a single working age benefit which would give all working age claimants the same level of replacement income regardless of whether they were jobseekers lone parents sick or disabled The Government is also looking at how to use smart automation to deliver support without the wasteful bureaucratic delays to payment that make the move into work more stressful than necessary

The Single-tier State Pension Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee, 2013-04-04 This report welcomes the improvements in retirement income that the new Single tier State Pension will bring However the key to the policy's successful implementation lies in the Government informing the public as soon as possible about how it will affect individuals The Committee criticises the Government for hampering its scrutiny of the proposals The Government not only imposed an extremely tight timetable but brought forward the implementation date by a year after the Committee had completed taking evidence The Committee says that the Government must work with them to ensure the transition is as smooth as possible and that Defined Benefit pension schemes do not suffer as a result The Government should also develop and publish a clear explanation of how means tested support including passported benefits will operate under the Single tier Pension and the transitional protection that will be put in place Many women born between 1952 and 1953 believed that they would suffer a double adverse effect on their State Pension income arising from the increases in their State Pension Age combined with their ineligibility for the Single tier Pension if it was introduced in 2017 as set out in the White Paper The Government should clarify the position Some women did not build up their own NI record because they had an expectation that they would be able to rely on their husband's contributions to give them entitlement to a Basic State Pension The Government should assess and publish the cost of allowing women in this position who are within 15 years of State Pension Age to retain this right

National Minimum Wage Low Pay Commission, 2013-04-15 In this report the Low Pay Commission has continued to take a cautious approach to the National Minimum Wage NMW during the economic downturn so as to avoid jeopardising the gains that the wage has brought to the lowest paid and because of the pressures on businesses particularly small businesses. The recommendations to take effect from 1 October 2013 include that the adult rate of the National Minimum Wage be increased by 1.9 per cent or 12 pence to 6.31 an hour, the Youth Development Rate to increase by 1 per cent or 5 pence to 5.03 an hour, the 16-17 Year old rate to increase by 1 per cent or 4 pence to 3.72 an hour. The Apprentice rate is to remain unchanged at 2.65 an hour given evidence that 30-40 per cent of 16-17 year old apprentices are paid below the recommended rate, the Commission sees no point in raising the legal floor if it is not observed. The Commission also recommends that the accommodation offset be increased by 9 pence to 4.91 a day. The report contains five chapters and six appendices. Chapters cover the economic context to the October 2012 rates, the impact of the minimum wage on young people and apprentices, compliance and operation of the National Minimum Wage, the rates for 2013.
