

Roles Of Governor In Federations

Introduction:

A governor (from French gouverneur) is a governing official, usually the executive of a non sovereign level of government, ranking under the head of state. In federations, a governor may be the title of each appointed or elected politician who governs a constituent state.

In countries the heads of the constitutive states, provinces, communities and regions may be titled Governor, although this is less common in parliamentary systems such as in some European nations and many of their former colonies, which use titles such as President of the Regional Council in France and Minister President in Germany, where in some states there are governorates (German: Regierungsbezirke) as sub state administrative regions.
