University Of Pretoria O Application 2016:

Anchored in Place Bank, Leslie, Cloete, Nico, 2018-11-05 Tensions in South African universities have traditionally centred around equity particularly access and affordability historical legacies such as apartheid and colonialism and the shape and structure of the higher education system What has not received sufficient attention is the contribution of the university to place based development This volume is the first in South Africa to engage seriously with the place based developmental role of universities In the international literature and policy there has been an increasing integration of the university with place based development especially in cities This volume weighs in on the debate by drawing attention to the place based roles and agency of South African universities in their local towns and cities It acknowledges that universities were given specific development roles in regions homelands and towns under apartheid and comments on why sub national place based development has not been a key theme in post apartheid higher education planning Given the developmental crisis in the country universities could be expected to play a more constructive and meaningful role in the development of their own precincts cities and regions But what should that role be Is there evidence that this is already occurring in South Africa despite the lack of a national policy framework What plans and programmes are in place and what is needed to expand the development agency of universities at the local level Who and what might be involved Where should the focus lie and who might benefit most and why Is there a need perhaps to approach the challenges of college towns secondary cities and metropolitan centers differently This book poses some of these questions as it considers the experiences of a number of South African universities including Wits Pretoria Nelson Mandela University and especially Fort Hare as one of its post centenary challenges

Hostile Business and the Sovereign State Michael J. Strauss, 2018-12-14 This book describes and assesses an emerging threat to states territorial control and sovereignty the hostile control of companies that carry out privatized aspects of sovereign authority The threat arises from the massive worldwide shift of state activities to the private sector since the late 1970s in conjunction with two other modern trends the globalization of business and the liberalization of international capital flows The work introduces three new concepts firstly the rise of companies that handle privatized activities and the associated advent of post government companies that make such activities their core business Control of them may reside with individual investors other companies or investment funds or it may reside with other states through state owned enterprises or sovereign wealth funds Secondly imperfect privatizations when a state privatizes an activity to another state s public sector The book identifies cases where this is happening It also elaborates on how ownership and influence of companies that perform privatized functions may not be transparent and can pass to inherently hostile actors including criminal or terrorist organizations Thirdly belligerent companies whose conduct is hostile to those of states where they are active The book concludes by assessing the adequacy of existing legal and regulatory regimes and how relevant norms may evolve global jurisprudential apartheid despite the promotion of democracy equality human rights and humanitarianism Examining organisations such as international criminal courts the World Trade Organisation the United Nations Security Council the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank the contributors unpack the challenges of global jurisprudential apartheid In particular they analyse the ways in which these organizations hold and contribute to the increasing inequalities between the Global North and the Global South Ultimately Global Jurisprudential Apartheid in the Twenty First Century shows that globalisation is a variant of the apartheid era particularism and not universalism working to advantage the Global North while disadvantaging the Global South under the pretense of humanitarianism The Decolonization of Knowledge

Contemporary International Law Tommaso Natoli, Alice Riccardi, 2019-09-12 This book examines the challenges posed to contemporary international law by the shifting role of the border which has recently re emerged as a central issue in international relations It posits that borders do not merely correspond to States boundaries indeed while remaining a fundamental tool for asserting States power they are in fact a collection of constantly changing spatial limits Consequently the book approaches borders as context specific limits and revisits notions traditionally linked to them jurisdiction sovereignty responsibility individual rights while also adopting the innovative approach of viewing borders as phenomena of both closedness and openness Accordingly the first part of the book addresses what happens within borders investigating the root causes of the emergence of spatial limits and re assessing apparent extra territorial assertions of State power In turn the second part not only explores typical borderless spaces but also more generally considers the exercise of States and international organisations powers and prerogatives across or beyond borders
