State Capture Alex Hertel-Fernandez, 2019-01-03 Most Americans pay little attention to the massive number of elections that occur at the state level every year Yet cumulatively a party's success in state level races across the country can produce major shifts in policymaking and governance That is precisely what has happened in the US since 2010 In a wave election that year the Republican Party began their ascendancy in state level elections and by 2016 had solidified their dominance The party now fully controls 25 state legislatures and governorships one of the largest advantages either party has had since the New Deal After the GOP wave a broad swathe of states began considering and enacting a near identical set of conservative priorities often even using the exact same text Where did this flood of new legislation come from How did so many states arrive at the same proposals at precisely the same time As Alexander Hertel Fernandez shows in the eye opening State Capture the answer can be found in a trio of powerful interest groups the Koch Brothers run Americans for Prosperity AFP the American Legislative Exchange Council ALEC and the State Policy Network SPN Drawing from an impressive evidence base Hertel Fernandez explains how since the 1970s conservative activists wealthy donors and big businesses constructed a right wing troika of overlapping and influential lobbying groups But it is about more than this It also teases out how conservative corporate mobilization has fostered epochal shifts in the American political economy the decline of unions party polarization and the skyrocketing concentration of wealth State Capture will be essential reading for anyone interested in understanding contemporary American politics edge technological innovation America's research universities lead the world in discovery creativity and innovation but are captive to a set of design constraints that no longer aligns with the changing needs of society Their commitment to discovery and innovation which is carried out largely in isolation from the socioeconomic challenges faced by most Americans threatens to impede the capacity of these institutions to contribute decisively and consistently to the collective good The global preeminence of our leading institutions moreover does not correlate with overall excellence in American higher education Sadly admissions practices that flatly exclude the majority of academically qualified applicants are now the norm in our leading universities both public and private In The Fifth Wave Michael M Crow and William B Dabars argue that colleges and universities need to be comprehensively redesigned in order to educate millions more qualified students while leveraging the complementarities between discovery and accessibility Building on the themes of their prior collaboration Designing the New American University this book examines the historical development of American higher education the first four waves and describes the emerging standard of institutions that will transform the field What must emerge in this Fifth Wave of universities Crow and Dabars posit are institutions that are responsive to the needs of students focused on access embedded in their regions and committed to solving global problems The Fifth Wave in American higher education Crow and Dabars write comprises an emerging league of colleges and universities that aspires to accelerate positive social outcomes through the seamless integration of world class knowledge production with cutting edge technological innovation This set of institutions is dedicated to the advancement of accessibility to the broadest possible demographic that is representative of the socioeconomic and intellectual diversity of our nation Recognizing the fact that both cooperation and competition between universities is essential if higher education hopes to truly serve the needs of the nation Fifth Wave schools like Arizona State University are already beginning to spearhead a network spanning academia business and industry government agencies and laboratories and civil society organizations Drawing from a variety of disciplines including design economics public policy organizational theory science and technology studies sociology and even cognitive psychology and epistemology The Fifth Wave is a must read for anyone concerned with the future of higher education in our society
