University Of North West 2016 Undergraduate Prospectus:

Bright Star in the Present Prospect Ian Dunn, 2015-10-19 An illustrated history of the University of Chester charting its progress from the foundation as Chester Diocesan Training College in 1839 to the achievement of university status in 2005 and subsequent consolidation as a leading higher education institution in the region Handbook on Green Infrastructure Danielle Sinnett, Nick Smith, Sarah Burgess, 2015-11-27 Green infrastructure encompasses many features in the built environment. It is widely recognised as a valuable resource in our towns and cities and it is therefore crucial to understand, create, protect and manage this resource. This Handbook sets the context for green infrastructure as a means to make urban environments more resilient, sustainable, liveable and equitable. Including state of the art reviews that summarise the existing knowledge as well as research findings, this Handbook provides current evidence for the beneficial impact of green infrastructure on health, environmental quality and the economy. It discusses the planning and design of green infrastructure as a strategic network down to the individual features in a neighbourhood and looks at the process of green infrastructure implementation, emphasising the importance of collaboration across multiple professions and sectors. This comprehensive volume operates at multiple spatial scales from strategic networks at the regional level to individual features in neighbourhoods, with international case studies used throughout to illustrate key examples of good practice. This collection of expert contributions will be invaluable to students and academics in the fields of planning, urban studies and geography. Practitioners and policy makers will also find the policy discussion and examples enlightening. Finance Law Stephen Connelly, 2025-06-16 For the student who wishes to understand law as it is practised in a modern financial context, Finance Law offers the only up to date university level textbook which explains legal principles as they are applied in today's advanced financial transactions. Essential for any student or researcher seeking an introduction to this complex and fast moving world, this text is based on the author's extensive teaching experience. Finance Law covers the modern form of credit facilities, agreements, security, syndication, securities and securitization, derivatives and payment and clearing systems. It is packed with interesting case studies including the Mozambique Tuna Bond Scandal, the takeover of Manchester Utd plc and the securitization of student loans. Finance Law motivates study with theoretical discussions and historical contextualisation, explains key transaction structures such as investment grade lending to groups, intercreditor agreements, interest rate swaps and multilateral payment systems, grants insight into key legal principles and structuring applicable to trillion dollar deals across the globe. It is written by a structured finance practitioner and academic with extensive post qualification experience of advising lenders, corporate borrowers and sovereigns on international finance. Designed for final year undergraduates and LLM students, Finance Law is not only the perfect accompaniment to any finance module but can support any advanced programme on insolvency law, mergers and acquisitions, M A corporate governance, international economic law and more.

Selling America Christina A.

Ziegler-McPherson,2017-02-16 An in depth look at the motivations behind immigration to America from 1607 to 1914 including what attracted people to America who was trying to attract them and why Between 1820 and 1920 more than 33 million Europeans immigrated to the United States seeking the American Dream an image of America as a land of opportunity and upward mobility sold to them by state governments railroads religious and philanthropic groups and other boosters But Christina A Ziegler McPherson shows that the desire to make and keep America a white man s country meant that only Northern Europeans would be recruited as settlers and future citizens while Africans Asians and other non whites would either be grudgingly tolerated as slaves or guest workers or be excluded entirely This book reframes immigration policy as an extension of American labor policy and connects the removal of American Indians from their lands to the settlement of European immigrants across the North American continent Ziegler McPherson contends that western and midwestern states with large American Indian Asian or Mexican populations developed aggressive policies to promote immigration from Europe to help displace those peoples while Southern states sought to reduce their dependency upon Black labor by doing the same Chapters highlight the promotional policies and migration demographics for each region of the United States The Shadow in the East Aliide Naylor,2020-01-23 An insightful nuanced account that highlights the present multitude of currents at play in Europe Peter Pomerantsev The Baltics are vital democracies in North Eastern Europe but with a belligerent Vladimir Putin to their east plotting his war on Ukraine and expansionist NATO to their west these NATO members have increasingly been the subject of unsettling headlines in both Western and Russian media But beyond the headlines what is daily existence like in the Baltics and what does the security of these frontline nations mean for the world Based on her extensive research and work as a journalist Aliide Naylor takes us inside the geopolitics of the region Travelling to the heart of Estonia Latvia and Lithuania she explores modernity in the region investigates smuggling and troop movements in the borderlands and explains the countries unique cultural identities Naylor tells us why the Baltics have been vital to the political struggle between East and West and how they play a critical role in understanding the long running tensions between Russia and Europe Transformation of Higher Education Through Institutional Online Spaces Taiwo,

Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth,2022-09-15 In recent decades an increasing share of Canada s agricultural workforce has been made up of temporary foreign workers from the Global South These labourers work difficult and dangerous jobs with limited legal protections and are effectively barred from permanent settlement in Canada In Harvesting Labour Edward Dunsworth examines the history of farm work in one of Canada s underrecognized but most important crop sectors Ontario tobacco Dunsworth takes aim at the idea that temporary foreign worker programs emerged in response to labour shortages or the unwillingness of Canadians to work in agriculture To the contrary Ontario s tobacco sector was extremely popular with workers for much of the twentieth century with high wages attracting a diverse workforce and enabling thousands to establish themselves as small farm owners By the end of the century however the sector had become something entirely different a handful of mega farms relying on foreign guest workers to produce their crops Taking readers from the leafy fields of Ontario's tobacco belt to rural Jamaica Barbados and North Carolina and on to the halls of government Dunsworth demonstrates how the ultimate transformation of tobacco and Canadian agriculture writ large was fundamentally a function of the capitalist restructuring of farming Harvesting Labour brings together the fields of labour migration and business history to reinterpret the historical origins of contemporary Canadian agriculture and its workforce
