Community-based adaptation Hannah Reid,2017-10-02 Community based adaptation

CBA to climate change is based on local priorities needs knowledge and capacities Early CBA initiatives were generally implemented by non government organisations NGOs and operated primarily at the local level Many used bottom up participatory processes to identify the climate change problem and appropriate responses Small localised stand alone initiatives are insufficient to address the scale of challenges climate change will bring however The causes of vulnerability such as market or service access or good governance also often operate beyond the project level Larger organisations and national governments have therefore started to implement broader CBA programmes which provide opportunities to scale up responses and integrate CBA into higher levels of policy and planning This book shows that it is possible for CBA to remain centred on local priorities but not necessarily limited to work implemented at the local level Some chapters address the issue of mainstreaming CBA into government policy and planning processes or into city or sectoral level plans e g on agriculture Others look at how gender and children s issues should be mainstreamed into adaptation planning itself and others describe how tools can be applied and finance delivered for effective mainstreaming This book was published as a special issue of Climate and Development

Rule of Law, Human Rights and Judicial Control of Power Rainer Arnold, José Ignacio Martínez-Estay, 2017-05-16 Judicial control of public power ensures a guarantee of the rule of law This book addresses the scope and limits of judicial control at the national level i e the control of public authorities and at the supranational level i e the control of States It explores the risk of judicial review leading to judicial activism that can threaten the principle of the separation of powers or the legitimate exercise of state powers It analyzes how national and supranational legal systems have embodied certain mechanisms such as the principles of reasonableness proportionality deference and margin of appreciation as well as the horizontal effects of human rights that help to determine how far a judge can go Taking a theoretical and comparative view the book first examines the conceptual bases of the various control systems and then studies the models structural elements and functions of the control instruments in selected countries and regions It uses country and regional reports as the basis for the comparison of the convergences and divergences of the implementation of control in certain countries of Europe Latin America and Africa The book s theoretical reflections and comparative investigations provide answers to important questions such as whether or not there are nascent universal principles concerning the control of public power how strong the impact of particular legal traditions is and to what extent international law concepts have had harmonizing and strengthening effects on internal public power control

The Rights Track Todd Landman, Christine Garrington, 2022-07-12 The Rights Track Sound Evidence on Human Rights and Modern Slavery uses rich content from The Rights Track podcast www.rightstrack.org in an innovative book that enhances and enriches our understanding of the human rights challenges facing the world today This book showcases the important role of evidence in tackling those challenges and explores the medium of podcasting as a tool for discussing how research evidence is used to protect and promote human rights From counting torture victims to the joy of human rights from modern slavery to gay rights refugees to the radical right the authors draw new insights and intelligence from conversations between podcast host Landman and an array of experts and advocates who are leaders in their field Through close analysis of the voices and commentary of podcast guests from six series of the podcast the authors illustrate the enduring importance of human rights and the need to keep talking about them

Fashioning the Afropolis Kerstin

Pinther, Kristin Kastner, Basile Ndjio, 2022-07-14 A revelation Reclaiming fashion from its European history Shane White With a focus on sub Saharan Africa Fashioning the Afropolis provides a range of innovative perspectives on global fashion design dress photography and the body in some of the major cities with a focus on Lagos Johannesburg Dakar and Douala It contributes to the ongoing debates around the globalization of fashion and fashion theory by exploring fashion as a genuine urban phenomenon on the continent and among its diasporas To date fashion and city have not been systematically related to each other in the African context and for too long a western centric gaze has dominated scholarship resulting in the perception of Africa as provincial and its visual arts and textile cultures as static and folkloristic This perspective is all the more distorted given Africa s rich sartorial past With a huge number of tailors ready to adapt and renew clothing reshaping garments into contemporary styles and many cities in Africa becoming hot spots for a steadily growing and well connected scene of fashion designers in the past 20 years the time is ripe for a reevaluation and reconsideration of the fashionscapes of Africa Leading scholars offer an updated empirical and theoretical foundation on which to base new and exciting research on sub Saharan fashion challenging perceptions and offering new insights
