and the students of the Institute built with their own hands He travelled all over the countryside promoting the school and raising money The Institute taught the students not only book knowledge but also an industrial trade as Booker believed that it was important for the black people to be able to earn a living He was soon recognized as the nation's foremost black educator a pioneer of black education in the United States a well known orator and an outspoken critic of racism The Tuskegee Institute which started in a shanty grew to possess several buildings with about 200 members of staff and over 2 000 students when he passed away Booker remained the head of the Institute till his death in 1915
