Expectations Fred Bedell, 2014-01-17 After having spent over three decades in education and public service agencies I am attempting to connect the dots in regard to education programs and practices and student achievement Given the plethora of educational programs practices and studies reviewed and studied and implemented regarding educational reform and student achievements and initiatives currently in vogue in American education such as No Child Left Behind and Race to the Top have not advanced us to the point we hope to be The main thrust or the common denominator in successful educational practices in my opinion is the relationship between students and teachers I had the pleasure of working with two individuals in the educational field that exemplify the premise that no child rises to low expectations and in their love of children and passion for learning have transformed lives This book attempts to put the current issues into a realistic perspective as the obstacles that are prevalent in education and also suggest some of the bright spots that are currently in practice Fred Bedell

Limelight If I want to send a message I ll call Western Union This famous line has been attributed to various movie moguls yet while these moguls ruled the Hollywood studio system movies were in the midst of a golden age of dialogue Films included more messages ideas themes and pontifications than they ever have since Although producers trembled at commands from the front office writers the low men and women on the totem pole went quietly to their typewriters and as the subversive revolutionaries that most writers are turned out prose that did send messages How could they resist They had the biggest and best platform in the world Hollywood movies The 200 speeches collected in Ready for My Close Up are from some of the best and a few of the worst films ever made From Groucho Marx's I shot an elephant in my pajamas to Julia Roberts's What it takes to be a movie star here is the wit and wisdom of the great Hollywood screenwriters The Atlantic, 1966 The Literary Filmography Leonard Mustazza, 2006-05-17 From the very infancy of the film industry filmmakers have relied heavily upon literature as the foundation for their movie material Well known literary works such as Dickens's A Christmas Carol and Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter were adapted to film in the silent era as were such books as Thomas Dixon Jr's The Klansman basis for the film Birth of a Nation In recent years Nick Hornsby's About a Boy and each of Helen Fielding's Bridget Jones's Diary novels were the basis for popular movies bearing the same names A guide to English language works that have been adapted as theatrical and television films this volume includes books both fiction and non-fiction short stories newspaper and magazine articles and poems Entries are arranged alphabetically by literary title with cross listings for films made under different titles Each entry includes the original work's title author year of first publication literary prizes and a brief plot summary Information on film adaptation's of the work including adaptation titles director screenwriter principal cast and the names of the characters they portray major awards and availability in the most common formats DVD VHS is also offered Capturing the News Anthony Collings, 2010-05-10 Anthony Collings found himself in his share of difficult situations in his thirty four years as a newsman Like being captured by AK 47 toting Syrians in Lebanon in 1981 while looking for missiles that threatened a new outbreak of hostilities with Israel or being detained by the KGB in Moscow in 1967 during his first foreign posting for the Associated Press filing stories about Soviet dissidents Name a hot spot and Collings has likely been there From AP correspondent to Newsweek bureau chief to CNN reporter he covered the Middle East Rome Moscow London Paris and Washington Now he has gathered stories about his work in a book that is both a journalist's memoir and a commentary on the current ethical crises in the news media and how to address them Brimming with entertaining stories about journalism especially the chaotic early years at CNN when he and his colleagues established the first major cable news network Collings's book reveals the dangers and pressures of covering the news and the difficulties of overcoming obstacles to the truth He recalls smuggling tapes out of Poland after the Communists had imposed martial law flying dangerously near Libya's Line of Death interviewing world figures from Brezhnev to Kaddafi and Arafat and winning awards for covering Iran Contra and the Oklahoma City bombing Collings brings fresh insights to the Oliver North affair and examines how the press was suckered in its coverage of the Jessica Lynch prisoner of war story in 2003 He voices his concerns regarding oversimplified reporting of complex issues and poses provocative questions about covering terrorism In this book Collings presents an insider's appraisal of the American news media's failings and accomplishments Easy to read informative and thoughtful Capturing the News will enlighten general readers interested in how journalists cover current affairs while offering newsmen food for thought about the craft and ethics of journalism Cinematic Sociology Jean-Anne Sutherland, Kathryn Feltey, 2012-04-17 Cinematic Sociology is a one of a kind resource that helps students recognize and critique sociological concepts as they appear in blockbuster Hollywood films In addition it provides pedagogy for instructors who use film in their classes In this engaging text the authors take readers beyond watching movies and demonstrate how to read films sociologically In the process students are exposed to major substantive areas of sociology and encouraged to critically think about their social world The book s 27 essays from expert scholars in sociology and cultural studies explore the ways social life is presented distorted magnified or politicized in popular film From Martyrs to Murderers Robert L. Dahlgren, 2017-04-13 In From Martyrs to Murderers the author explores the connections between the dark unflattering representations of public schools teachers and teaching in popular Hollywood films and the conservative attacks on public education that have culminated in a generation of neo liberal standards reform measures The author s analysis is based on a survey of 60 movies that feature significant interactions between public school teachers and their students This study employed a textual analysis method involving viewing the films alongside original script material which reveals that the narratives involving public schools during the late 20th century and early 21st century are distinct from those involving other types of schools or eras Rather than the romantic figures of earlier portraits such as Eve Arden s beloved Our Miss Brooks in the 1940s and 1950s radio and television serial these teachers are consistently portrayed as negative archetypes thus providing a rationale for the school reform agenda of the 1980s The sheer repetition of these damaging images in Hollywood products of the period made the American public more susceptible to the deceptive arguments outlined in A Nation at Risk the seminal 1983 report that provided the blueprint for the standards reform movement that has dominated education policy for the past generation This work thus develops upon the critical perspectives of educational historians and social studies educators who have probed this turning point in the history of American schooling It also offers an alternative means of viewing the reality of life in the nation s public institutions
