I believe that the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering (ISE) should promote an integrated learning environment that are academically rigorous through its academic advisory programs that provide mathematics, sciences, and computer systems as additional rather than engineering subjects. Integrated concepts have led to a profound impact. Physics programs, where students receive the interdisciplinary engineering and technological changes in technology. I believe that ISE should have the opportunity to expand on the knowledge I was introduced to as a child. I am excited to be able to provide a new learning system to the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering through the integration of the academic knowledge and my personal/communitary values as shown in my interdisciplinary curriculum.

Uw Madison Essay Question:

Are You Mixed? Sonia E. Janis, 2016-02-01 In Are You Mixed Sonia Janis explores the spaces in between race and place from the perspective of an educator who is multi racial As she reflects on her own experiences as a seventh grade student up to her eventual appointment as a school administrator she learns of the complexity of situating oneself in predetermined demographic categories She shares how she explores the intricacies of undefined spaces that teach her to embrace differences contradictions and complexities in schools neighborhoods and communities Exploring the in betweenness Anzaldúa He 2003 2010 of her life as a multi race person problematizes imbedded notions of race gender class and power The power of this memoir lies in its narrative possibilities to capture the contradictions and paradoxes of lives in between race and place to honor the subtleties fluidities and complexities of such experience and to cultivate understanding towards individual experience and the multicultural multiracial contexts that shape and are shaped by such experience He 2003 p xvii This memoir creates new ways to think about and write about in between experience and their relevance to multicultural and multiracial education Janis challenges educators teachers administrators and policy makers to view the educational experience of students with multiracial multicultural and multilingual backgrounds by shattering predetermined categories and stereotyped classifications and looking into unknown and fluid realms of the in betweenness of their lives This challenge helps create equitable and just opportunities and engender culturally responsive and inspiring curricular and learning environments to bring out the best potential in all diverse schools communities neighborhoods tribes and societies

Ahn,2023-07-01 During the 2020 and 2021 phases of the global COVID 19 pandemic there was significant prognostication regarding what internationalization in higher education would look like in its aftermath Within the field of international education many stated the need to reimagine internationalization in and of higher education in the face of severe budget cuts restrictions on travel and increased government protectionism in the face of growing nationalistic populism globally to name a few challenges Absent from many of those discussions however were the voices of many leader practitioners who have had to think flexibly about internationalization in higher education in order to sustain and grow programs throughout the last 20 years despite numerous exogenous factors e g earlier economic recessions and viral outbreaks along with endogenous factors like internal leadership transitions and institutional reorganizations Wisconsin in the World explores how internationalization at the University of Wisconsin Madison UW has been a decades long ongoing endeavor Against that backdrop the various chapters also provide a snapshot of how people across the UW campus were reflecting on their work amidst the COVID 19 pandemic and on the implications of the pandemic regarding the future of campus internationalization The book is organized into four overarching sections internationalization of the curriculum general and language experiential learning co curricular engagement and education away establishing linkages institutional and outreach and administration To highlight the expansive way campus units have been engaging in internationalization a wide ranging set of chapter case studies have been included Although not exhaustive this volume does provide a robust cross sectional view into internationalization at UW For international education scholars and practitioners then a number of the chapters also highlight areas that may warrant further engagement and exploration moving forward Finally by examining how internationalization at UW has been informed by the Wisconsin Idea this book explores how institutional internationalization strategies can align with and be tailored to institutional values for long term sustainability In addition to the 34 chapters focusing on different units and programs at UW Wisconsin in the World also includes a number of contributions from colleagues at other institutions Each section has a lead in chapter which provides an overview of the scholarship in that particular area and or a concluding chapter from a scholar practitioner situating the UW cases in relation to their own work The intention of structuring the book this way was to facilitate a dialogue among UW colleagues across institutions and with the scholarship in the field The target audience for Wisconsin in the World includes practitioners or scholar practitioners in the field of international education study abroad education away internships partnerships program development as well as faculty and students in global higher education or comparative and international education graduate programs Additionally this volume may be of general interest for any higher education administrator who may not have a background in international education but may become responsible for programs and support within a school or college context e g a dean or department chair

Making Nature Whole William R. Jordan, George M. Lubick, 2011-07-26 Making Nature Whole is a seminal volume that presents an in depth history of the field of ecological restoration as it has developed in the United States over the last three decades The authors draw from both published and unpublished sources including archival materials and oral histories from early practitioners to explore the development of the field and its importance to environmental management as well as to the larger environmental movement and our understanding of the world Considering antecedents as varied as monastic gardens the Scientific Revolution and the emerging nature awareness of nineteenth century Romantics and Transcendentalists Jordan and Lubick offer unique insight into the field's philosophical and theoretical underpinnings They examine specifically the more recent history including the story of those who first attempted to recreate natural ecosystems early in the 20th century as well as those who over the past few decades have realized the value of this approach not only as a critical element in conservation but also as a context for negotiating the ever changing relationship between humans and the natural environment Making Nature Whole is a landmark contribution providing context and history regarding a distinctive form of land management and giving readers a fascinating overview of the development of the field It is essential reading for anyone interested in understanding where ecological restoration came from or where it might be going
