

Answer the following questions in your own words using the textbook as your source. Answer with complete sentences.

1. Use the following terms in sentences that explain the relationship between the terms:
- a. genes
 - b. alleles

Explain each response with regard to differences in frequency of different genes within a population and how it is associated with each allele.

2. Use the following terms in sentences that explain the relationship between the terms:
- a. evolution
 - b. trait
 - c. variation

Explain each response with regard to how a trait is determined by genes and its frequency. Explain how you would measure each characteristic within a population and how it is associated with each allele. Explain the relationship between the terms.

3. What are the five elements of geography? Why are they important?

The five elements of geography are location, place, region, movement, and human-environment interaction. They are important because they are the building blocks of geography. They are the tools we use to understand the world around us.

4. What are the different characteristics of genes and alleles?

Genes are a segment of DNA that codes for a specific trait. They are the basic units of heredity. Alleles are different versions of a gene. They are the different forms of a gene that can be inherited. Genes and alleles are the building blocks of life. They are the instructions that tell a cell how to make a protein. Proteins are the molecules that do most of the work in a cell. They are the molecules that build and maintain the body. They are the molecules that control the body's functions. Explain the relationship between the terms.

5. What is the difference between a gene and an allele? Why are they important?

A gene is a segment of DNA that codes for a specific trait. An allele is a different version of a gene. They are important because they are the building blocks of life. They are the instructions that tell a cell how to make a protein. Proteins are the molecules that do most of the work in a cell. They are the molecules that build and maintain the body.
