Optimality-theoretic Syntax, Semantics, and Pragmatics Géraldine

Legendre, Michael T. Putnam, Henriëtte de Swart, Erin Zaroukian, 2016 This book investigates the morphosyntactic semantic and pragmatic properties of language and the interactions between them from the perspective of Optimality Theory It integrates optimization processes into the formal and functional study of grammar interpreting optimization as the result of conflicting violable ranked constraints Unlike previous work on the topic this book also takes into account the question of directionality of grammar A model of grammar in which optimization processes interact bidirectionally allows both language generation the process of selecting the optimal form of a given meaning and language interpretation the process of optimal interpretation of a given form to be taken into account Chapters in this volume explore the consequences of both symmetric unidirectional and asymmetric bidirectional versions of Optimality Theory investigating the syntax semantics interface first language acquisition and sequential bilingual grammars The volume presents cutting edge research in Optimality Theoretic syntax and semantics as well as demonstrating how optimization processes as modelled in this formalism serve as a viable approach for linguists and scholars in related fields

Corporate Social Responsibility and Discrimination Christina

Keinert-Kisin, 2016-04-27 This book presents and deconstructs the existing explanations for the differential career development of qualified men and women It reframes the problem of discrimination in the workplace as a matter of organizational ethics social responsibility and compliance with existing equal opportunity laws Sensitive points are identified where social biases decision makers individual economic interests and shortcomings of organizational incentive policies may lead to discrimination against qualified women The ideas put forward are empirically tested in an original laboratory experiment that examines personnel selection in the male dominated field of science and technology It contrasts the selection of applicants with gendered and gender blind applications available to subjects under controlled conditions 30% of Higher Education, Community Engagement and Entrepreneurship in Southern Africa I. G. Govender, 2021-02-24. This volume explores the pressing issues of entrepreneurship education and development in Southern Africa. It discusses the various roles of higher education institutions in enhancing entrepreneurship in localised communities and provides a systematic solution for improving the Southern African economy by realising the importance of empowering the youth with entrepreneurial skills. In addition, successful development requires effective policies and contemporary approaches to both community engagement and entrepreneurship management. The book uses different Southern African case studies to discuss the various issues and innovations in entrepreneurship in the country.

Unleashing Growth and Strengthening Resilience in the Caribbean Mr. Krishna Srinivasan, Ms. Inci Otker, Ms. Uma Ramakrishnan, Mr. Trevor Serge Coleridge Alleyne, 2017-11-13. This book provides a diagnosis of the central economic and financial challenges facing Caribbean policymakers and offers broad policy recommendations for promoting a sustained and inclusive increase in economic well-being. The analysis highlights the need for Caribbean economies to make a concerted effort to break the feedback loops between weak macroeconomic fundamentals notably pertaining to fiscal positions and financial sector strains and structural impediments such as high electricity costs, limited financial deepening, violent crime and brain drain which have depressed private investment and growth. A recurring theme in the book is the need for greater regional coordination in finding solutions to address the Caribbean's shared and intertwined macroeconomic and structural challenges. The analysis suggests that strengthening regional and global market integration of Caribbean economies would provide an impetus to sustained growth in incomes and jobs. Greater regional and global economic integration would also facilitate structural transformation and a shift toward new economic activities resulting in more diversified and less vulnerable economies. A central challenge for the Caribbean is thus to come together as a region, overcome the limitations posed by size and garner the benefits of globalization. Efforts should build on existing regional arrangements, accelerating progress in implementing these agreements would stimulate trade. Policymakers could also promote deeper integration with Latin America and the rest of the world by pursuing new trade agreements, leveraging current agreements more effectively or deepening them to include areas beyond traditional trade issues and developing port and transport infrastructure.
