Discipline in Education Johan Botha, 2021 This book addresses a perennial challenge to the success of the South African education system namely discipline This volume steers the interrogation of discipline in a new direction reflecting on ways in which recent research can benefit South African schools This includes the need for alternative discipline that will enhance education The scholarly contribution lies in its in depth exploration of the relevance of research findings to South African schools and to the twenty first century socio political environment For the first time scholarly interrogation of the issue of learner discipline in South African schools draws on indigenous knowledge systems Its post colonial and decolonial perspectives offer an ethical and moral compass for behaviour that could contribute to the well being of South African society and other societies similarly afflicted by anti social behaviour The book offers a range of perspectives on the debates on discipline and associated issues and should stimulate future discussions on discipline and indiscipline at a time when South Africa and many other societies engage with the effects of social and political transformation This scholarly book is aimed at academics and researchers The contributors include philosophers moralists corporativists education law specialists curriculum specialists specialists in education and culture advocates of ubuntu and people using meta syntheses of approaches and practices and religious practices such as a Christian ethical moral approach to parental and school discipline They draw on their insights into postcolonialism the impact of indigenous knowledge theories of agency dysfunctionality and school underperformance The book offers an intriguing depiction of opposing views on discipline

Deanship in the Global South Oliver J.J. Seale, 2021-02-08 The university today is a postmodern neo liberal competitive boundary less knowledge conglomerate a far cry from its historical traditional classical and collegial roots There is a body of literature on deanship that points to its evolving nature in the contemporary academe characterised by complexity and change. Balancing academic demands simultaneously with the requirements for effective performance leadership and management lies at the heart of this very challenging bridging role nowadays. Deans are generally former academics emerging from a traditional collegial space and often catapulted into the relatively unknown domain of executive management with its related problems. Deans nowadays are required to be more than collegial intellectual leaders. They are also meant to be fiscal and human resource experts, fundraisers, politicians, and diplomats. Deanship in the Global South: Bridging Troubled Waters is about the deans' lived reality as they try to balance the demands of both the academe from which they emerge and the administration to whom they now need to account. Their lack of preparation and inadequate support points to the need for a more strategic, integrated approach to leadership development within their critical bridging roles between the academe and administration.

English-Medium Instruction from an English as a Lingua Franca Perspective
 Kumiko Murata, 2018-08-06 English is increasingly used as a lingua franca (ELF) in communicative situations the world over with the acceleration of globalisation. This is in line with the increased introduction of English medium instruction (EMI) to higher education institutions in many parts of the world to further promote both students' and faculty's mobility to make them competitive and employable in the globalised world and to make their institutions more attractive and reputable. EMI and ELF however are rarely explicitly investigated together despite the fact that the spread of EMI cannot be separated from that of ELF. This volume tackles the issue head on by focusing on EMI in higher education from an ELF perspective. The volume includes contributions by Asian, European, Middle Eastern, South American and Anglo American scholars. It discusses language policies, attitudes and identities, analyses of classroom EMI practices, case studies and finally pedagogical implications from an ELF perspective incorporating also theoretical and empirical issues in conducting EMI courses programmes. The volume will be of great interest and use not only to those who are conducting research on ELF, EMI, CLIL, language policy and related fields but also to classroom teachers and policy makers who are conducting and/or planning to start EMI courses programmes in their institutions or countries all over the world.

The Role of Context in Language Teachers' Self Development and Motivation
 Amy S. Thompson, 2021-02-09 This book unpacks data from conversations with bi multilingual EFL teachers whose L1s are languages other than English and who are from understudied contexts: Argentina, Egypt, Estonia, Senegal, Turkey, Ukraine and Vietnam to provide insights into the formation of ideal teacher selves. The author discusses the complexities surrounding the development of the teachers' selves and motivation as well as their intertwinement with the sociopolitical realities of their individual contexts. The work reveals how these realities and the specific social interactions that occur therein influence the language learning and teaching processes; it also challenges the notions of and the need for a native/non-native speaker dichotomy in the field. Expanding on Ushioda's 2009 person-in-context approach and reflecting on the multilingual settings of the teachers, the integration of the context-specific politics of language learning and teaching is a fresh approach to work in motivation Evaluation of Small Business Support in Post-Apartheid South Africa Timothy Olaniyi Aluko,2025-11-28 This book examines the effectiveness of Small Business Support programmes in South Africa and addresses the challenges and other fundamental issues of market failure The argument is that most intervention programmes do not always translate into positive economic development With that this book discusses and presents theory and conceptual models used to measure the effectiveness of a state grant funded programme and foregrounds perspectives and objectives of the programme from implementation evaluation and performance dimensions

Research Anthology on Small Business Strategies for Success and Survival Management Association, Information Resources,2021-06-25 Running a small business provides opportunity for greater success increased growth and potentially the chance to move to the global business arena yet also much more risk Small businesses not only have less employment but also less annual revenue than a regular sized business With the growth of large corporations and chain businesses it has become harder to maintain the survival of a small business The COVID 19 pandemic has also brought more pressure onto the already unsteady survival of small businesses due to forced closures decreased agility fewer technological innovations and smaller customer bases The Research Anthology on Small Business Strategies for Success and Survival offers current strategies for small businesses that can be utilized in order to maintain equal footing during challenging times With the proper strategies available to small business owners small businesses could not only survive but also excel despite the environment that surrounds them Covering topics including decision management new supportive technologies sustainable development and micro financing this text is ideal for small business owners entrepreneurs startup companies family owned and operated businesses restaurateurs local retailers managers executives academicians researchers and students

Struggles for Multilingualism and Linguistic Citizenship Quentin Williams,Ana Deumert,Tommaso M. Milani,2022-07-08 This book offers a fresh perspective on the social life of multilingualism through the lens of the important notion of linguistic citizenship All of the chapters are underpinned by a theoretical and methodological engagement with linguistic citizenship as a useful heuristic through which to understand sociolinguistic processes in late modernity focusing in particular on linguistic agency and voices on the margins of our societies The authors take stock of conservative liberal progressive and radical social transformations in democracies in the north and south and consider the implications for multilingualism as a resource as a way of life and as a feature of identity politics Each chapter builds on earlier research on linguistic citizenship by illuminating how multilingualism in both theory and practice should be or could be thought of as inclusive when we recognize what multilingual speakers do with language for voice and agency The Oxford Handbook of Late Colonial

Insurgencies and Counter-Insurgencies Martin Thomas,Gareth Curless,2023-10-10 The lethality of conflicts between insurgent groups and counter insurgent security forces has risen markedly since the Second World War just as those of conventional or inter state wars have declined For several decades conflicts within states rather than between them have been the prevalent form of organised political violence worldwide Recent conflicts in Afghanistan Iraq and Syria have fired interest in colonial experiences of rebellion while current western interventions in sub Saharan Africa have prompted accusations of militarist humanitarianism Yet despite mounting interest in counter insurgency and empire comparative investigation of colonial responses to insurrection and civil disorder is sparse Some scholars have written of a golden age of counter insurgency which began with Britain s declaration of a Malayan Emergency in 1948 and ended with the withdrawal of US ground troops from Vietnam in 1973 It is with this period if not with any presumed golden age that this volume is concerned This Handbook connects ideas about contested decolonization and the insurgencies that inspired it with an analysis of patterns and singularities in the conflicts that precipitated the collapse of overseas empires It attempts a systematic study of the global effects of organized anti colonial violence in Asia and Africa The objective is to reconceptualize late colonial violence in the European overseas empires by exploring its distinctive character and the globalizing processes underpinning it

Truth to Power André de Ruyter, 2023-05-15 When Andr de Ruyter took over as Eskom CEO in January 2020 he quickly realised why it was considered the toughest job in South Africa Aside from neglected equipment ageing power stations and an eroded skills base he discovered that Eskom was crippled by corruption on a staggering scale Fake fuel oil deliveries at just one power station cost Eskom R100 million per month kneepads retailing for R150 a pair were purchased for R80 000 billions of rands of equipment supposedly housed in the company s storerooms was missing Faced with police inaction he was compelled to plunge into a world that was foreign to him a world of spies and safe houses of bulletproof vests and bodyguards In Truth to Power De Ruyter tells the behind the scenes story of how he launched a private investigation that exposed at least four criminal cartels feeding off Eskom While fighting this scourge he had to deal with political interference absurd regulations non paying municipalities unfounded accusations of racism wildcat strikes sabotage and a poisoning attempt De Ruyter takes the reader inside the boardrooms and government meetings where South Africa s future is shaped with ministers often pulling in conflicting directions He explains how renewable energy is the cheapest and quickest solution to our power crisis in spite of fierce opposition from vested coal interests De Ruyter candidly reflects on his three years at the power utility his successes and failures his reasons for leaving and his hopes for the future As someone who worked at the highest levels of the state but is not beholden to the ruling party he is uniquely placed to speak truth to power

Twentieth-Century South Africa Bill Freund, 2019 This unique history highlights South Africa s complex and dynamic attempt to build a developmental state an attempt that ultimately faltered

The human dilemma of displacement Alfred R. Brunson, 2020-12-31 In this book social responsive theological research converges to provide practical theological and ecclesiological perspectives on the growing human dilemma of displacement The book presents the research of practical theologians a missiologist and a religious practitioner whose work pertains first and foremost to the South African context The different fields of expertise of the contributors within the broader field of practical theology worked towards a unique compilation of themes each relevant to the issue at stake The majority of chapters are theoretically orientated except where authors refer to empirical work conducted during previous research The main contribution of this collaborative work is to be sought in the practical theological and ecclesiological perspectives it provides It engages the critical questions of what kind of church we need and what kind of care we should provide in the face of the growing predicament of human displacement The theological and theoretical principles uncovered in the different chapters will be of use to theologians from all theological subdisciplines as well as to religious practitioners and leaders of faith communities that are challenged with the growing realities of strangers on their doorsteps and in their pews
