1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the person is holding a small, dark, rectangular object. The next step is to determine the purpose of the object. Is it a piece of wood? A small box? A piece of paper? The third step is to consider the context. Where is the person holding the object? What are they doing? The final step is to take action. What should the person do with the object? Should they throw it away? Should they keep it? Should they use it?
