

The background of the cover features a photograph of a diverse group of students sitting at long tables in a modern university classroom. They are looking towards the right, presumably towards a lecturer. The room has large windows and classical architectural elements like columns and decorative capitals are visible in the upper part of the image, which has a purple tint.

Global Education in Bioethics Henk ten Have, 2018-06-14 This book presents and elaborates on how the teaching of global ethics in healthcare contributes to furthering ideals of cosmopolitanism solidarity equality respect for differences and concern with what human beings and specifically patients have in common regardless of where they live and who they are Global problems such as pandemic diseases disasters lack of care and medication homelessness and displacement call for global responses The new area of global bioethics is providing answers by arguing that ethical discourse should first of all criticize the structures of violence and injustice that underlie many threats to global health Education of health professionals should articulate that they are citizens of the world like their patients This book first demonstrates that a moral vision of global education is necessary to gain a global dimension. It is argued that a global framework of ethical principles is available; the challenge is to elaborate and specify that framework into specific educational approaches and models. The book subsequently analyzes goals and challenges of global education in biomedicine and healthcare. It is shown how such challenges, e.g., inequities and cultural differences, can be overcome. Finally, the book presents concrete examples, cases, methods, and practices of global education in bioethics. The unique feature of the book is that it addresses global education challenges specifically in the area of healthcare, medicine, and medical science. It combines two areas of research and experience that are usually not connected: global bioethics and global education. This book is written for all those involved in global ethics teaching in medicine, nursing, ethics, philosophy, law, and theology courses. Universities, the Citizen Scholar and the Future of Higher Education. J. Arvanitakis, D. Hornsby, 2016-06-01. The future of higher education is in question as universities struggle to remain relevant to the present and future needs of society. The context in which learning occurs is rapidly changing, and those engaged and interested in the place and position of university education need to figure out how to adapt. This book embodies a vision for higher education where graduate attributes and proficiencies are at the core of the academic project, where degree programs move beyond disciplinary content, and where students are encouraged to be Citizen Scholars. Through a series of cross-disciplinary and contextual cases, the contributors to this book articulate how this vision can be achieved in our pedagogical environments. future proofing higher education

Internationalizing Higher Education. Rhiannon D. Williams, Amy Lee, 2015-04-23. Higher education is facing unprecedented change as today's graduates need particular skills, awareness, and knowledge to successfully navigate a complex and interconnected world. Higher education institutions and practitioners are under pressure to be attentive to internationalization initiatives that support increasingly diverse student populations and foster the development of global citizenship competencies, which include problem defining and solving perspectives that cross disciplinary and cultural boundaries. Hudzik 2004, p. 1, as cited in Leask Bridge 2013. Internationalizing Higher Education: Critical Collaborations across the Curriculum is for current and future faculty, student affairs staff, and administrators from diverse disciplinary, institutional, and geographic contexts. This edited volume invites readers to investigate, better understand, and inform intercultural pedagogy that supports the development of mindful global citizenship. This edited volume features reflective practitioners exploring the dynamic and evolving nature of intercultural learning, as well as the tensions and complexities. Contributors include institutional researchers, directors, and key implementers of the EU Bologna process in Poland, one of the newest members, and one that is facing unprecedented change in the diversity of its students, international partners in learning abroad programs, and scholars and instructors across a range of humanities, STEM, and social sciences. Creating the University of the Future.
