Gender Roles in the Future? Theoretical Foundations and Future Research Directions Alice H. Eagly, Sabine Sczesny, 2019-11-01. The study of gender is deservedly a major focus of research in the discipline of psychology in general and social psychology in particular. Interest in the topic increased sharply in the 1970s with the flowering of the feminist movement and research has continued to advance since that time. In 1987 Alice Eagly formulated Social Role Theory to explain the behavior of women and men as well as the stereotypes, attitudes and ideologies that are relevant to sex and gender. Enhanced by several extensions over the intervening years, this theory became one of the pre-eminent if not the central theory of gender in social psychology. Also over the last decades, social psychologists have developed a variety of related approaches to understanding gender, including for instance theories devoted to stereotyping, leadership status, backlash, lack of fit to occupational roles, social identity and categorization. Reflecting these elements, this e-Book includes articles that encompass a wide range of themes pertaining to sex and gender. In these papers, the concept of social roles appears often as a central integrative concept that links individuals with their social environment. These articles thereby complement social role theory as the authors reach out to build an extended theoretical foundation for gender research of the future.

Information and Communication Technology and the Teacher of the Future Carolyn Dowling, Kwok-Wing Lai, 2012-12-06. Carolyn Dowling, Australian Catholic University; Kwok Wing Lai, University of Otago. This book is one of the outcomes of a Working Conference on the topic of ICT and the Teacher of the Future which took place in Melbourne, Australia, in January 2003. The conference was held under the auspices of the International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP) Technical Committee 3 (TC3) of IFIP through the activities of its seven Working Groups, which focuses on different aspects of the impact of Information and Communication Technologies on Education. The conference that was the impetus for this publication was organised jointly by Working Group 3.1 Secondary Education and Working Group 3.3 Research. In addition to the text of the papers delivered by the three keynote speakers, the book comprises a selection of the papers presented by delegates at the conference along with reports of the discussions of Focus Groups working in each topic area.

All of the papers presented at the conference were reviewed by members of the International Programme Committee and the National Organising Committee. Those selected for publication as chapters in this book have subsequently undergone an additional process of collaborative editing before qualifying for inclusion. It is our belief that these papers collectively present a very comprehensive overview of the concerns and developments in the use of Information and Communication Technologies that are currently of relevance to educators and educational policy makers across the globe.
