Q I have a 1994 Ford Taurus with 100,000 miles. The car has been running fine, but lately it has been making a noise that sounds like a rattling or clunking sound. It seems to be coming from the front end. What could be the problem?

A The noise you're describing could be caused by a number of things. It could be a loose ball joint, a worn tie rod end, or a bad shock absorber. It could also be a problem with the suspension springs. I would recommend having a mechanic inspect the front end of the car to determine the exact cause of the noise.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a supervised walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks. The walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program significantly improved the subjects' physical health, as measured by the 6-minute walk test, and their psychological health, as measured by the Beck Depression Inventory and the State-Trait Anxiety Inventory. The walking program also significantly improved the subjects' quality of life, as measured by the SF-36. The walking program was well tolerated and had no adverse effects. The results of this study suggest that a supervised walking program can be an effective intervention for improving the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.
