The First Interlude A Collection Of Erotic Short Stories:

The Erotic Life of Manuscripts Yii-Jan Lin, 2016 New Testament textual critics who used language to group texts into families and genealogies were not pioneering new approaches but rather borrowing the metaphors and methods of natural scientists. Texts began to be classified into families, tribes and nations and later were racialized as African or Asian with distinguishable textual physiognomies and textual complexions. These genealogies would later be traced to show the inheritance of corruptions and contamination through generations, an understanding of textual diversity reflective of eighteenth and nineteenth century European anxieties over racial corruption and degeneration. While these biological metaphors have been powerful tools for textual critics, they also produce problematic understandings of textual purity and agency with the use of scientific discourse artificially separating the work of textual criticism from literary interpretation.

Regulating Sex in the Roman Empire David Wheeler-Reed, 2017-11-28 A New Testament scholar challenges the belief that American family values are based on Judeo-Christian norms by drawing unexpected comparisons between ancient Christian theories and modern discourses. Challenging the long-held assumption that American values, be they Christian or secular, are based on Judeo-Christian norms, this provocative study compares ancient Christian discourses on marriage and sexuality with contemporary ones, maintaining that modern family values owe more to Roman Imperial beliefs than to the Bible. Engaging with Foucault's ideas, Wheeler-Reed examines how conservative organizations and the Supreme Court have misunderstood Christian beliefs on marriage and the family. Taking on modern cultural debates on marriage and sexuality with implications for historians, political thinkers and jurists, this book undermines the conservative ideology of the family starting from the position that early Christianity, in its emphasis on celibacy and denunciation of marriage, was in opposition to procreation, the ideological norm in the Greco-Roman world. Hardy and the Erotic T.R. Wright, 1989-06-18 Hardy's Wessex according to T.R. Wright is a world dominated by desire which anticipates not only Freud, Hardy's contemporary, but such radical modern thinkers as Barthes, Foucault and Lacan whose ideas are summarized in the opening chapters. Italian Literature since 1900 in English Translation 1929-2016 Robin Healey, 2019-03-07 Providing the most complete record possible of texts by Italian writers active after 1900, this annotated bibliography covers over 4,800 distinct editions of writings by some 1,700 Italian authors. Many entries are accompanied by useful notes that provide information on the authors, works, translators and the reception of the translations. This book includes the works of Pirandello, Calvino, Eco and more recently Andrea Camilleri and Valerio Manfredi. Together with Robin Healey's Italian Literature before 1900 in English Translation also published by University of Toronto Press in 2011, this volume makes comprehensive information on translations from Italian accessible for schools, libraries and those interested in comparative literature. American Book Publishing Record Cumulative, 1950-1977 R.R. Putting Modernism Together Daniel Albright, 2015-06-10 A powerful introduction to modernism and the creative arts it inspired How do you rationally connect the diverse literature music and painting of an age Throughout the modernist era which began roughly in 1872 with the Franco Prussian War climaxed with the Great War and ended with a third catastrophe the Great Depression there was a special belligerence to this question It was a cultural period that envisioned many different models of itself to the Cubists it looked like a vast jigsaw puzzle to the Expressionists it resembled a convulsive body to the Dadaists it brought to mind a heap of junk following an explosion In Putting Modernism Together Daniel Albright searches for the center of the modernist movement by assessing these various artistic models exploring how they generated a stunning range of creative work that was nonetheless wound together aesthetically and sorting out the cultural assumptions that made each philosophical system attractive Emerging from Albright s lectures for a popular Harvard University course of the same name the book investigates different methodologies for comparing the evolution and congruence of artistic movements by studying simultaneous developments that occurred during particularly key modernist years What does it mean Albright asks that Joseph Conrad s Heart of Darkness published in 1899 appeared at the same time as Claude Debussy s Nocturnes beyond the fact that the word Impressionist has been used to describe each work Why in 1912 did the composer Arnold Schoenberg and the painter Vassily Kandinsky feel such striking artistic kinship And how can we make sense of a movement fragmented by isms that looked for value in all sorts of under or ill valued places including evil Baudelaire dung heaps Chekhov noise Russolo obscenity Lawrence and triviality Satie Throughout Putting Modernism Together Albright argues that human culture can best be understood as a growth pattern or ramifying of artistic intellectual and political action Going beyond merely explaining how the artists in these genres achieved their peculiar effects he presents challenging new analyses of telling craft details which help students and scholars come to know more fully this bold age of aesthetic extremism Iberian Chivalric Romance Leticia Alvarez Recio, 2020 This collection of original essays examines the publication and reception history of sixteenth century Iberian books of chivalry in English translation and explores the impact of that literary corpus on Elizabethan culture as well as its connections with other contemporary genres such as native English fiction chronicle and epistolary writing The essays focus mainly on Anthony Munday's work as the leading translator as well as the two main Spanish sixteenth century cycles Le Amadis and Palmerin from a variety of critical approaches including cultural studies book history and reception material history translation post colonial criticism and early modern Gender studies A Short History of English Literature Sir Archibald Strong, 1921 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1876 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance, 1929 Teaching Literature and

Medicine Anne Hunsaker Hawkins, Marilyn Chandler McEntyre, 2016-01-01 Both the actualities and the metaphorical possibilities of illness and medicine abound in literature from the presence of tuberculosis in Franz Kafka's fiction or childhood fever in Mary Shelley's Frankenstein to disease in Thomas Mann's Death in Venice or in Harold Pinter's A Kind of Alaska from the stories of Anton Chekhov and of William Carlos Williams both doctors to the poetry of nurses derived from their contrasting experiences These are just a few examples of the cross pollination between literature and medicine It is no surprise then that courses in literature and medicine flourish in undergraduate curricula medical schools and continuing education programs throughout the United States and Canada This volume in the MLA series Options for Teaching presents a variety of approaches to the subject It is intended both for literary scholars and for physicians who teach literature and medicine or who are interested in enriching their courses in either discipline by introducing interdisciplinary dimensions The thirty four essays in Teaching Literature and Medicine describe model courses deal with specific texts authors and genres list readings widely taught in literature and medicine courses discuss the value of texts in both medical education and the practice of medicine and provide bibliographic resources including works in the history of medicine from classical antiquity
