There is a growing body of evidence that suggests that the use of a computer-based system for the management of a business can lead to a significant increase in productivity and efficiency. This is particularly true in the case of the use of a computer-based system for the management of a business's financial data. Such a system can help to ensure that the data is accurate and up-to-date, and can also help to identify areas where the business is over-spending or under-spending. This can lead to a more efficient use of resources and a more profitable business overall.

and the fact that the authors' research was not directly representative of the general population of the United States. The use of a convenience sample, in which the authors were unable to control for potential confounding variables, is a limitation of the study. The authors also note that the use of a convenience sample may have led to a higher prevalence of the condition than would be found in a more representative sample.
