

KHUMALO V HOLOMISA CASE SUMMARY

The respondent is a leader of an opposition political party and he sued an editor of a local newspaper, the applicant for publishing an article which stated that the respondent had been involved with a gang of bank robbers and was under police investigation for such involvement. The applicant contended that in consideration of the fact that the respondent did not disclose any cause of action to the particulars of the claim made by the applicant, then the defamatory statement in question was of public interest. Alternatively, because the respondent was a politician and the defamatory statement related to matters of public interest, the respondent was then obliged to allege and establish the falsity of the statement and had failed to do so. (the applicant excepted to the respondent's particulars of claim) This exception was made on two grounds: direct application of S16 which protects the right to freedom of expression and alternatively on the common law which asserts the development of itself, to promote the spirit, purport and objects of the BOR (section 39(2)).

The constitutional court considered if it had the authority to uphold the appeal made by the respondent on the grounds of section 167(6) of the constitution and rules 18,19 and 20 of the rules of the CC, it held in the affirmative.

Principles to pick from the case

The law of defamation in SA. is based on the action iniuriarum, a flexible remedy arising from Roman law which afforded the right to claim damages to a person whose rights have been impaired intentionally by the unlawful act of another.

The elements of delict of defamation at common law are : (para 18 of the case)

- A) the wrongful and
- B) intentional
- C) publication of
- D) a defamatory statement
- E) concerning the plaintiff.

A defendant who wishes to escape liability for defamation must raise a defence which rebuts unlawfulness or intention.

Example: in Bogoshi, it was raised that the publication in the press of false defamatory allegations of fact will not be regarded as unlawful because the publication was reasonable. In considering the reasonableness of the publication account must be taken of the nature, extent and tone of the allegations (Factors to determine reasonableness of the publication). (Bogoshi judgment)

Issues determined in the case: whether the common law of defamation unjustifiably limits the right to freedom of expression. Secondly, to the extent that the common law does not require as an element of the delict of defamation if any circumstances that a defamatory statement be false and leaves the question of truth to be raised only as a defence, it is inconsistent with the BOR as

Zimbabwe since the Unity Government Stephen Chan, Ranka Primorac, 2013-09-13 Zimbabwe has moved from a condition of restricted expression to one of many contradictory expressions Politics has lost none of its compromises and conflicts but it has been amplified by an explosion of voices For the first time a genuine debate is possible among many actors insiders and outsiders and the question marks over Zimbabwe and its future are no longer in terms of a narrow choice between one party and another one outlook or another Compromise government has meant complexity of debate This does not preclude disillusionment within debate but it does include vigour and imagination in debate This book includes essays from renowned scholars governmental and diplomatic figures and prioritises contributions by Zimbabweans themselves The essays provide a blend of academic and practitioner observation and judgement which no other volume has done This book was published as a special issue of The Round Table Children's Book Review Index Gary C. Tarbert,2000 The African Book Publishing Record ,2009 Transition and Transgression Judith Inggs,2015-12-07 This book conveys the story of a society in the throes of restructuring itself and struggling to find a new identity A particularly attractive aspect of this study is the focus on young adult literature and its place in post apartheid South Africa as well as its potential use in the classroom and lecture hall Intersecting these two topics provides a compelling lens for refocusing debate on young adult fiction while offering a new and novel angle on debates in South Africa after the end of apartheid The multilingual and multicultural South African society has resulted in fiction that differs from other parts of the English speaking world This work presents a holistic critique of South African young adult fiction and addresses issues such as change and transformation identity politics sexuality and the issue of the right of white writers to represent and write characters of different races Where Am I in the Picture? Claudia Mitchell,Katarina Giritli-Nygren,Relebohile Molestane,2023-12-18 Positionality and researcher reflexivity how to account for one s subject position remain as challenges for new researchers But they also remain as challenges for experienced researchers who are often involved in multiple research projects simultaneously Where Am I in the Picture sheds light on the idea of researcher positionality through visual methodologies particularly in the context of studying rurality in Canada Sweden and South Africa The book is intended for new and experienced researchers seeking to decolonize their own perspectives in research in the social sciences and humanities It incorporates photographs drawings and memory work to highlight the social constructedness of what counts as rural Drawing together compelling narratives from researchers about their positionality in studying rurality the book highlights a need for greater attention to where we are in the picture more broadly It suggests that when it comes to the rural researchers need to rethink the interplay of dominant images insider and outsider perspectives and what this interplay means in relation to interpretation Where Am I in the Picture presents a new vision of how to take into consideration positionality in research Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafih,2006-06-16 New York Magazine ,1992-09-14 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Philosophising Experiences and Vision of the Female Body, Mind, and Soul: Historical Context and Contemporary Theory Musingafi, Maxwell Constantine Chando,Mafumbate, Racheal,Khumalo, Thandi Fredah,2021-04-23 Much of our understanding of the world our societies and ourselves rests on theories and knowledge generated predominantly by men of certain nationalities and economic classes This male dominated and culturally specific theorizing and knowledge have generally resulted in the exclusion of women and other groups from the process of formal theorizing and knowledge building

Feminism argues that the male dominated knowledge represents a skewed perception of reality and is only partial knowledge. Feminism is a generalized wide ranging system of ideas about social life and human experience developed from a woman centered perspective. It treats women as the central subjects in the investigative process and seeks to see the world from the distinctive vantage points of women in the social world. The best way to empower women and better the situation for women is to take women's daily experiences and their informal theorizing into account and on this basis adopt feminist approaches to building theory and knowledge.

Philosophising Experiences and Vision of the Female Body Mind and Soul Historical Context and Contemporary Theory provides an overview and introduction to the study of feminist theory and practice in the social sciences. This book provides a starting point for further and more advanced study of the nexus of feminism gender and development and translates feminist theory and concepts into practice. The chapters investigate in a historical context mainstream and contemporary theories of feminism and gender studies. This book is ideal for post graduate students of social science researchers of development management business management public governance and gender and development activists feminists and practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in feminist theory and knowledge building.

MultiCultural Review, 2008 African Concord, 1986 Teacher in New Africa, 1968 South African journal of library and information science, 1996 Rainbow Nation My Zulu Arse Sihle Khumalo, 2018-10-12. After exploring more than twenty other African nations using only public transport Sihle Khumalo this time roams within the borders of his own country. The familiarity of his own car is a luxury but what he finds on his journey through South Africa ranges from the puzzling to the downright bizarre. Voyaging from the northernmost part of South Africa right to the south the author noses his car down freeways and back roads into small towns townships and villages some of which you'll have trouble finding on a map. But this is no clichéd description of beautiful landscapes and blue skies. Khumalo is out to investigate the state of the nation from its highest successes to its most depressing failures. Whether or not he's baffled surprised or sometimes plain angry Sihle Khumalo will always find warmth in his fellow South Africans security guards religious visionaries drunks political activists and the many other colourful personalities that come alive in his riveting account.
