The Twilight Home For Retired Gentlemen:

The Twilight Home for Retired Gentlemen James Henry, 2014-11-25 It never really occurred to the Home Office that a spy would live long enough to retire April 1952 Richard Burns had spent his entire life looking over his shoulder now he couldn't the onset of osteoarthritis denied him that ability Wasting away his last remaining years in a shabby bed sitting room overlooking a funeral parlour's back yard he decided enough was enough and bit down on his suicide pill It turned out to be an aspirin A chance meeting with Dr Paul Stoneman the ex Secret Service Medical Officer led him to the Twilight Home for Retired Gentlemen Here he expected to die of boredom watching people disintegrate before him He couldn't have been more wrong The home operated on a shoe string the future here was measured in days weeks at best Richard's appearance rather ironically brought new life to his fellow guests

Retiring Men Gregory Wood, 2012-01-18 As life spans expanded dramatically in the United States after 1900 and employers increasingly demanded the speed and stamina of youth in the workplace men struggled to sustain identities as workers breadwinners and patriarchs the core ideals of twentieth century masculinity Longer life threatened manhood as men confronted age discrimination at work mandatory retirement and fixed incomes as recipients of Social Security and workplace pensions They struggled to somehow sustain manliness in retirement a new phase of life supposedly defined by the absence of labor Ironically retiring men pursued ways to stay productive retirees created new daily routines of golf and shuffleboard games tinkered with tools in garages attended social club meetings armed themselves for hunting and fishing excursions and threw themselves into yard work Others looked for new jobs or business ventures Only unending activity could help to ensure that the golden years would be good years for older men of the twentieth century

The Country Gentleman, 1853 A journal for the farm the garden and the fireside devoted to improvement in agriculture horticulture and rural taste to elevation in mental moral and social character and the spread of useful knowledge and current news

100 Queer Films Since Stonewall Chelsea McCracken, Matt Connolly, 2025-05-01 100 Queer Films identifies 100 films that shaped the trajectory of queer cinema connected with larger movements and showcased the artistry of queer filmmaking In addition to those films that already hold significant places in queer film canons this volume examines often overlooked titles By highlighting hidden gems alongside well known classics this book makes a valuable accessible contribution to queer film studies While queer films have existed since the beginning of cinema this book focuses on films released after the Stonewall uprising in 1969 Stonewall is considered a turning point for queer politics and representation and the 50 years since that event have generated an explosion of queer creativity The book describes significant formal elements of each film and connects them to their interrelated contexts By moving in chronological order it introduces a contemporary history of queer film and provides an overview of major developments in LGBTQ communities cultures and politics This volume presents a framework for understanding the value of queer film
