Stephen J. Cannell Television Productions Jon Abbott, 2009-09-12 The face of 1980s television was shaped by a man who stayed behind the scenes. Stephen Cannell's reluctant white knights put upon private eye James Rockford, World War II fly boys the Black Sheep Squadron, hapless superhero Ralph Hinckley, fugitive mercenaries the A Team, and maverick cop Hunter traversed the television landscape from the 1970s to the 1990s. Cannell changed the face of the action-adventure genre, updating the crime show format with a hybrid of rebellious morality, juvenile wit, intelligent sarcasm, and radical conservatism. This book discusses in detail the programs of the writer-producer and lists every episode of his award-winning productions from the early 1970s to the early 90s. The book features publicity photos and descriptions of unsold pilots. Riding the Video Range Gary A. Yoggy, 2024-10-16 In June 1949 Hopalong Cassidy, then Roy Rogers, the Lone Ranger, Zorro, Davy Crockett, the Cisco Kid, Matt Dillon, Bat Masterson, the Cartwrights, Hec Ramsey, Paladin, Have Gun Will Travel, no television genre has generated as many enduring characters as the Western. Gunsmoke, Death Valley Days, Bonanza, Maverick, and Wagon Train are just a few of the small-screen oaters that became instant classics. Then shows such as Lonesome Dove and The Young Riders updated and redefined the genre. The shows tended to fall into categories such as juvenile Westerns, marshals and sheriffs, wagon trains, and cattle drives, ranchers, antiheroes, bounty hunters, gamblers, and hired guns, memorable pairs, Indians, single-parent families, e.g., The Big Valley, The Rifleman, and Bonanza, women, blacks, Asians, and even spoofs. There are 85 television Westerns analyzed here: the characters, the stories, and why the shows succeeded or failed. Many photographs, a bibliography, and index complete the book. The SAGE Handbook of Television Studies Manuel Alvarado, Milly Buonanno, Herman Gray, Toby Miller, 2014-12-09 Genuinely transnational in content as sensitive to the importance of production as consumption, covering the full range of approaches from political economy to textual analysis and written by a star-studded cast of contributors, Emeritus Professor Graeme Turner, University of Queensland. Finally, we have before us a first-rate and wide-ranging volume that reframes television studies afresh, boldly synthesising debates in the humanities, cultural studies, and social sciences. This volume should be in every library and media scholar's bookshelf. Professor Ravi Sundaram, Centre for the Study of Developing Societies. Bringing together a truly international spread of contributors from across the UK, US, South America, Mexico, and Australia, this Handbook charts the field of television studies from issues of ownership and regulation through to reception and consumption. Separate chapters are dedicated to examining the roles of journalists writers cinematographers producers and manufacturers in the production process whilst others explore different formats including sport novella and soap opera news and current affairs music and reality TV The final section analyses the pivotal role played by audiences in the contexts of gender race and class and spans a range of topics from effects studies to audience consumption The SAGE Handbook of Television Studies is an essential reference work for all advanced undergraduates graduate students and academics across broadcasting mass communication and media studies
