Smith, 1989-11-01 Eleven authors are included in this final part of Volume III of the Index beginning with Laurence Sterne and concluding with Edward Young It also includes the final cumulative first line index of all the verse which is described in the manuscript entries or mentioned in the Introductions in Parts 1-4 of Volume III

The Neverending Hunt Paul Herman, 2008-09-08 Prepared by renowned Howard scholar Paul Herman with the assistance of Glenn Lord this is the first new bibliography of Robert E Howard since 1976 This massive volume contains more than twice as much information as the preceding biblio The Last Celt Robert E Howard is considered the Godfather of Sword and Sorcery and the creator of the international icon Conan the Cimmerian yet wrote successfully in numerous genres The Neverending Hunt lists every story poem letter and publication in which a Howard work has appeared It's more than you might think

Book Chat, 1888

The Lost Girls Andrew Radford, 2007-01-01 The Lost Girls analyses a number of British writers between 1850 and 1930 for whom the myth of Demeter's loss and eventual recovery of her cherished daughter Kore Persephone swept off in violent and catastrophic captivity by Dis God of the Dead had both huge personal and aesthetic significance This book in addition to scrutinising canonical and less well known texts by male authors such as Thomas Hardy E M Forster and D H Lawrence also focuses on unjustly neglected women writers Mary Webb and Mary Butts who utilised occult tropes to relocate themselves culturally and especially in Butts's case to recover and restore a forgotten legacy the myth of matriarchal origins These novelists are placed in relation not only to one another but also to Victorian archaeologists and especially to Jane Ellen Harrison 1850-1928 one of the first women to distinguish herself in the history of British Classical scholarship and whose anthropological approach to the study of early Greek art and religion both influenced and became transformed by the literature Rather than offering a teleological argument that moves lock step through the decades The Lost Girls proposes chapters that detail specific engagements with Demeter Persephone through which to register distinct literary cultural shifts in uses of the myth and new insights into the work of particular writers

Women, Rank, and Marriage in the British Aristocracy, 1485-2000 K. Schutte, 2014-05-15 Through an analysis of the marriage patterns of thousands of aristocratic women as well as an examination of diaries letters and memoirs this book demonstrates that the sense of rank identity as manifested in these women's marriages remained remarkably stable for centuries until it was finally shattered by the First World War

Music in the British Provinces, 1690-1914 Peter Holman, 2017-07-05 The period covered by this volume roughly from Purcell to Elgar has traditionally been seen as a dark age in British musical history Much has been done recently to revise this view though research still tends to focus on London as the commercial and cultural hub of the British Isles It is becoming increasingly clear however that by the mid eighteenth century musical activity outside London was highly distinctive in terms of its reach the way it was organized and its size richness and quality There was an extraordinary amount of musical activity of all sorts in provincial theatres and halls in the

amateur orchestras and choirs that developed in most towns of any size in taverns and convivial clubs in parish churches and dissenting chapels and of course in the home This is the first book to concentrate specifically on musical life in the provinces bringing together new archival research and offering a fresh perspective on British music of the period The essays brought together here testify to the vital role played by music in provincial culture not only in socializing and networking but in regional economies and rivalries demographics and class dynamics religion and identity education and recreation and community and the formation of tradition Most important perhaps as our focus shifts from London to the regions new light is shed on neglected figures and forgotten repertoires all of them worthy of reconsideration Index of English Literary Manuscripts Peter John Croft, Theodore Hofmann, John Horden, Peter Beal, 1980 The Bird that Swallowed Its Cage Walter Murch, 2014-03-04 Walter Murch first came across Curzio Malaparte's writings in a chance encounter in a French book about cosmology where one of Malaparte's stories was retold to illustrate a point about conditions shortly after the creation of the universe Murch was so taken by the strange utterly captivating imagery he went to find the book from which the story was taken The book was Kaputt Malaparte's autobiographical novel about the frontlines of World War II Curzio Malaparte an Italian born with a German heritage was a journalist dramatic novelist and diplomat When he wrote a book attacking totalitarianism and Hitler's reign Mussolini in no position to support such a body of work stripped him of his National Fascist Party membership and sent him to internal exile on the island of Lipari In 1941 he was sent to cover the Eastern Front as a correspondent for Corriere della Sera the Milano daily newspaper His dispatches from the next three years would be largely suppressed by the Italian government but reverberated among readers as painfully real depictions of a landscape at war The film editor fluent in translating the written word over to the languages of sight and sound began slowly translating Malaparte's writings from World War II The density and intricacy of his stories compelled Murch to adapt many of them into prose or blank verse poems The result is a book of surprising insight and strange beauty Haunted English Laura O'Connor, 2006-11-27 Haunted English explores the role of language in colonization and decolonization by examining how Anglo Celtic modernists W B Yeats Hugh MacDiarmid and Marianne Moore de Anglicize their literary vernaculars Laura O'Connor demonstrates how the poets struggles with and through the colonial tongue are discernible in their signature styles using aspects of those styles to theorize the dynamics of linguistic imperialism as both a distinct process and an integral part of cultural imperialism O'Connor argues that the advance of the English Pale and the accompanying translation of the receding Gaelic culture into a romanticized Celtic Fringe represents multilingual British culture as if it were exclusively English speaking and yet registers on a subliminal level some of the cultural losses entailed by English only Anglicization Taking the fin de siècle movements of the Gaelic revival and the Irish Literary Renaissance as her point of departure O'Connor examines the effort to undo cultural cringe through language and literary activism Female Stars of British Cinema Williams Melanie Williams, 2017-07-07 Film stars are often seen as a Hollywood creation but this book explores how

British cinema developed its own culture of stardom and how its female stars have been prized by audiences worldwide. Female Stars of British Cinema uses case studies of seven female stars whose careers span the 1940s to the present day: Jean Kent, Diana Dors, Rita Tushingham, Glenda Jackson, Helena Bonham Carter, Emily Lloyd, and Judi Dench, to explore how British star femininities have developed over time and how the image of the British female star has responded to broader social and cultural changes. These women in question offer a way into the complexities of British cinema's culture of stardom, which has sometimes espoused glamour and sometimes rejected it and is entangled with issues of regional, national, and ethnic identity as well as class, sexuality, and age. Exploring and investigating the variety of British star femininities over the last seventy-five years, this book also interrogates the omissions and absences from that same cinematic firmament. Academy, with which are Incorporated Literature and the English Review, 1878 Bombs, Bullets and Bread Michael Kemp, 2018-08-23

During the late 19th and early 20th centuries, a wave of political violence swept across the globe, causing widespread alarm. Described by the media of the day as propaganda of the deed, assassinations, bombings, and assaults carried out by anarchists, both individuals and conspirators, were intended to incite revolution and established the precedents of modern terrorism. Much has been written about these actions and the responses to them, yet little attention has been given to the actors themselves. Drawing on a wide range of sources, the author profiles numerous insurgents, their deeds, and their motives.

Heroines and Local Girls Pamela L. Cheek, 2019-09-27 Over the course of the long eighteenth century, a network of some fifty women writers working in French, English, Dutch, and German staked out a lasting position in the European literary field. These writers were multilingual and lived for many years outside of their countries of origin; translated and borrowed from each other's works; attended literary circles and salons; and fashioned a transnational women's literature characterized by highly recognizable codes. Drawing on a literary geography of national types, women writers across Western Europe read, translated, wrote, and rewrote stories about exceptional young women, literary heroines, who transcend the gendered destiny of their distinctive cultural and national contexts. These transcultural heroines struggle against the cultural constraints determining the sexualized fates of local girls. In Heroines and Local Girls, Pamela L. Cheek explores the rise of women's writing as a distinct transnational category in Britain and Europe between 1650 and 1810. Starting with an account of a remarkable tea party that brought together Frances Burney, Sophie von La Roche, and Marie Elisabeth de La Fite in conversation about St. Phanie de Genlis, she excavates a complex community of European and British women authors. In chapters that incorporate history, network theory, and feminist literary history, she examines the century and a half literary lineage connecting Madame de Maintenon to Mary Wollstonecraft, including Charlotte Lennox and Françoise de Graffigny, and their radical responses to sexual violence. Neither simply a reaction to nor collusion with patriarchal and national literary forms, but rather both, women's writing offered an invitation to group membership through a literary project of self-transformation. In so doing, argues Cheek, women's writing was the first modern literary category to capitalize transnationally.

on the virtue of identity anticipating the global literary marketplace's segmentation of affinity based reading publics and continuing to define women's writing to this day The Complete Book of 1930s Broadway Musicals Dan Dietz, 2018-03-29 Despite the stock market crash of October 1929 thousands of theatregoers still flocked to the Great White Way throughout the country's darkest years In keeping with the Depression and the events leading up to World War II 1930s Broadway was distinguished by numerous political revues and musicals including three by George Gershwin Strike Up the Band Of Thee I Sing and Let Em Eat Cake The decade also saw the last musicals by Gershwin Jerome Kern and Vincent Youmans found Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart in full flower and introduced both Kurt Weill and Harold Arlen's music to Broadway In The Complete Book of 1930s Broadway Musicals Dan Dietz examines in detail every musical that opened on Broadway from 1930 through 1939 This book discusses the era's major successes notorious failures and musicals that closed during their pre Broadway tryouts It includes such shows as Anything Goes As Thousands Cheer Babes in Arms The Boys from Syracuse The Cradle Will Rock The Green Pastures Hellzapoppin Hot Mikado Porgy and Bess Roberta and various editions of Ziegfeld Follies Each entry contains the following information Plot summary Cast members Names of all important personnel including writers composers directors choreographers producers and musical directors Opening and closing dates Number of performances Critical commentary Musical numbers and the performers who introduced the songs Production data including information about tryouts Source material Details about London and other foreign productions Besides separate entries for each production the book offers numerous appendixes including a discography filmography and list of published scripts as well as lists of black themed and Jewish themed productions This comprehensive book contains a wealth of information and provides a comprehensive view of each show The Complete Book of 1930s Broadway Musicals will be of use to scholars historians and casual fans of one of the greatest decades in musical theatre history Winnipeg School of Art Marilyn Baker, 1989-08-01 Before the First World War Winnipeg was Canada's third largest city and the undisputed metropolis of the West Rapid growth had given the city material prosperity but little of its wealth went to culture or the arts Despite the city's fragile cultural veneer the enthusiasm and dedication of members of the arts community and a group of public spirited citizens led to the establishment of the Winnipeg Art Gallery in 1912 and the Winnipeg School of Art in 1913 This volume is a history in words and illustration of the early years of the Winnipeg School of Art its hopes and ideals and its struggles for survival Its story is in large part a record of art and artists in Winnipeg during the period The growth of the School is described through the terms of its first four principals Alexander Musgrove Frank Johnston Keith Gebbhardt and L LeMoine Fitzgerald Biographical sketches on artists involved with the School as teachers or students from 1913 to 1934 are also included Reproductions of over 80 selected works from the exhibition marking the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the School eight in full colour present the most vital and provocative art of the period The Publishers' Circular, 1868 Knife-Woman Marie-Laure Bernadac, 2025-10-14 The first major biography on artist Louise Bourgeois brings the life and work of an iconic twentieth century artist into sharp focus Louise Bourgeois 1911 2010 was one of the most important artists of the twentieth century She is known for a body of work that spans sculpture painting and printmaking but eludes any aesthetic classification Her life and art were so intertwined that it is often difficult to tell them apart In her own words Sculpture is the body My body is the sculpture Marie Laure Bernadac s biography of Bourgeois traces the career of a great artist her training and her influences as it tells the story of an exceptional woman s life Featuring personal photographs as well as reproductions of her work this landmark publication is the first major biography to draw on the artist s unpublished personal archives including diaries correspondence and psychoanalytic writings as well as the many interviews she gave and the reminiscences of those who knew her Bernadac elucidates Bourgeois s friendships and rivalries with other major figures including sculptor Louise Nevelson and Museum of Modern Art director Alfred H Barr Jr She also draws on Bourgeois s well known fascination with psychoanalysis to explore the deeply autobiographical nature of her artwork This erudite and keenly insightful biography pays tribute to the talent of the artist and the complexity of the person
