Marital violence in post-independence Ireland, 1922-96 Cara Diver, 2019-05-21 Marital violence in post independence Ireland 1922-96 represents the first comprehensive history of marital violence in modern Ireland from the founding of the Irish Free State in 1922 to the passage of the Domestic Violence Act and the legalisation of divorce in 1996 Based upon extensive research of under used court records this groundbreaking study sheds light on the attitudes practices and laws surrounding marital violence in twentieth century Ireland While many men beat their wives with impunity throughout this period victims of marital violence had little refuge for at least fifty years after independence During a time when most abused wives remained locked in violent marriages this book explores the ways in which men women and children responded to marital violence It raises important questions about women's status within marriage and society the nature of family life and the changing ideals and lived realities of the modern marital experience in Ireland Reading Roddy Doyle his characters development and manipulate his audience the role however slight that religion and politics play in his writing and Doyle's overall social vision as projected in each book and as part of a complete body of work Prominent aspects of each novel are brought to light for instance the function of music in The Commitments the importance of humor to diffuse tension in The Snapper the growing realism and deeper character development in The Van the use of double writing in Paddy Clarke and the symbolic significance of Paula's life as a metaphor for the abuses women suffer in a patriarchal society in The Perceptions of Domestic Violence in "The Woman who Walked Into Doors" Argenita Salii,2014-05-23 This book is about the perception of the main character in Roddy Doyle's first novel The Woman who walked into doors and the sequel Paula Spencer. This analyses in details the main character from her teenage years to a single woman a married one and as a mother. For all these roles play an important part in her development as a person. They give an insight of her beliefs in marriage and the idea she holds for the role of the husband in the family and for the role of a father and what is he expected to do for the family all that based on her own relationship with her father. Paula is not the usual heroine who has only the best qualities in her she is rather different she is an alcoholic a cleaning lady and sometimes she fails as a mother. However these difficulties do not stop her from fighting for a better life for her children and ending the domestic violence which left her empty for years. Though the author describes Paula as an alcoholic he shows her will to make it through the poverty and keep the family together. The first novel is the one which describes the violence scenes and the beatings and the way Paula feels about it.
