The Time Of Our Singing A Novel:

The Time of Our Singing Richard Powers, 2004 On Easter day 1939 a German Jewish emigre scientist meets a young Philadelphia Negro studying to be a singer Their mutual love of music draws them together and against all odds and better judgment they marry They vow to raise their children beyond time beyond identity steeped only in song

The Time of Our Singing Proof Richard Powers, 2002-10-03 The Powers of the False Doro Wiese, 2014-11-30 Introduction The truth of narration and the powers of the false Accepting complicated legacies by being once removed from the world Everything is illuminated Foer 2002 He looked for truth in facts and not in stories crimes of historiography and forces of fabulation in Richard Flanagan s Gould s book of fish 2003 Making time undoing race Richard Powers The time of our singing 2003 Conclusion

A Political Companion to Walt Whitman John E. Seery, 2011-01-28 The works of Walt Whitman have been described as masculine feminine postcolonial homoerotic urban organic unique and democratic yet arguments about the extent to which Whitman could or should be considered a political poet have yet to be fully confronted Some scholars disregard Whitman s understanding of democracy insisting on separating his personal works from his political works A Political Companion to Walt Whitman is the first full length exploration of Whitman s works through the lens of political theory Editor John E Seery and a collection of prominent theorists and philosophers uncover the political awareness of Whitman s poetry and prose analyzing his faith in the potential of individuals his call for a revolution in literature and political culture and his belief in the possibility of combining heroic individualism with democratic justice A Political Companion to Walt Whitman reaches beyond literature into political theory revealing the ideology behind Whitman s call for the emergence of American poets of democracy

Handbook of the American Novel of the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries Timo Müller, 2017-01-11 Increasing specialization within the discipline of English and American Studies has shifted the focus of scholarly discussion toward theoretical reflection and cultural contexts These developments have benefitted the discipline in more ways than one but they have also resulted in a certain neglect of close reading As a result students and researchers interested in such material are forced to turn to scholarship from the 1960s and 1970s much of which relies on dated methodological and ideological presuppositions The handbook aims to fill this gap by providing new readings of texts that figure prominently in the literature classroom and in scholarly debate from James s The Ambassadors to McCarthy s The Road These readings do not revert naively to a time before theory Instead they distil the insights of literary and cultural theory into concise introductions to the historical background the themes the formal strategies and the reception of influential literary texts and they do so in a jargon free language accessible to readers on all levels of qualification

The Paris Review Book for Planes, Trains, Elevators, and Waiting Rooms The Paris Review, Paris Review, 2004-07 This ingeniously useful compendium organized to suit whatever time that the reader has available at that moment offers reading material to fill those gray in between moments in life with beauty wonder insight and emotion

Contemporary American Fiction David Brauner, 2010-04-20 This is an accessible lucid and incisive study that will prove indispensable to students and scholars of contemporary American fiction Featuring a wide range of authors from canonical figures such as Philip Roth Don DeLillo and Annie Proulx to increasingly influential writers such as Jeffrey Eugenides Gish Jen and Richard Powers the book combines detailed readings of key texts with informative discussions of their historical social and cultural contexts There are chapters focusing on formal characteristics the use of irony and paradox in novels by Don DeLillo Paul Auster and Bret Easton Ellis and the generic properties of the texts and films of Cold Mountain Brokeback Mountain and No Country for Old Men and on thematic concerns the representation of gender and sexuality in novels by Jane Smiley Carol Shields and Jeffrey Eugenides and of ethnicity race and hybridity in fiction by Gish Jen Philip Roth and Richard Powers Running through all these chapters is an interrogation of all three elements making up the phrase contemporary American fiction Key Features Identifies some of the main trends in contemporary American fiction and situates them in historical and cultural contexts Discusses a representative range of recent fiction providing a sense of the rich diversity of the field and of its key themes and modes of writing Introduces students to a variety of critical approaches to and debates concerning contemporary American fiction Encourages reflection on the nature of national gender ethnic and generic identities

The Contemporary Literature-Music Relationship Hazel Smith, 2016-04-20 This book explores the relationship between words and music in contemporary texts examining in particular the way that new technologies are changing the literature music relationship It brings an eclectic and novel range of interdisciplinary theories to the area of music literary studies drawing from the fields of semiotics disability studies musicology psychoanalysis music psychology emotion and affect theory new media cosmopolitanism globalization ethnicity and biraciality Chapters range from critical analyses of the representation of music and the musical profession in contemporary novels to examination of the forms and cultural meanings of contemporary intermedia and multimedia works The book argues that conjunctions between words and music create emergent structures and meanings that can facilitate culturally transgressive and boundary interrogating effects In particular it conceptualises ways in which word music relationships can facilitate cross cultural exchange as music literary miscegenation using interracial sexual relationships as a metaphor Smith also inspects the dynamics of improvisation and composition and the different ways they intersect with performance Furthermore the book explores the huge changes that computer based real time algorithmic text and music generation are making to the literature music nexus This volume provides fascinating insight into the relationship between literature and music and will be of interest to those fields as well as New Media and Performance Studies

Literature as Cultural Ecology Hubert Zapf, 2016-04-21 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com Drawing on the latest debates in ecocritical theory and sustainability studies Literature as Cultural Ecology Sustainable Texts outlines a new approach to the reading of literary texts Hubert Zapf considers the ways in which literature operates as a form of cultural ecology using language imagination and critique to challenge and transform cultural narratives of humanity's relationship to nature. In this way the book demonstrates the important role that literature plays in creating a more sustainable way of life. Applying this approach to works by writers such as Emily Dickinson, Edgar Allan Poe, Herman Melville, William Faulkner, Toni Morrison, Zakes Mda, and Amitav Ghosh, Literature as Cultural Ecology is an essential contribution to the contemporary environmental humanities. Narrated Communities – Narrated Realities

, 2015-05-19 Culture studies try to understand how people assume identities and how they perceive reality. In this perspective, narration as a basic form of cognitive processing is a fundamental cultural technique. Narrations provide the coherence, temporal organization, and semantic integration that are essential for the development and communication of identity, knowledge, and orientation in a socio-cultural context. In essence, Anderson's Imagined Communities need to be thought of as Narrated Communities from the beginning. Narration is made up by what people think, and vice versa, narration makes up people's thoughts. What is considered fictitious or real no longer separates narratives from an outside they refer to, but rather represents different narratives. Narration not only constructs notions of what was real in retrospect but also prospectively creates possible worlds, even in the supposedly hard sciences, as in e.g. the imaginative simulation of physical processes. The book's unique interdisciplinary approach shows how the implications of this fundamental insight go far beyond the sphere of literature and carry weight for both scholarly and scientific disciplines. Subject of the Event Sebastian Huber, 2016-05-05 What does falling in love have in common with the fall of the Berlin Wall, or the fall of the Twin Towers? In the light of postmodernism's programmatic critique of a humanist notion of the subject and an emphatic understanding of events, Subject of the Event shows that selected American novels after 2000 offer an alternative to the death of the subject. As the first book to comprehensively engage with Alain Badiou's writings outside of a philosophical context, Subject of the Event analyzes five critically acclaimed novels of the new millennium: Cormac McCarthy's The Road (2006), Jess Walter's The Zero (2006), Mark Z. Danielewski's Only Revolutions (2006), Paul Beatty's Slumberland (2008), and Thomas Pynchon's Against the Day (2006) and argues that they create different subjects of the event that are empowered with reagency. The subject of the event and its empowerment: what this book calls reagency implies that subjects only evolve out of their confrontation with the revolutionary impetus that events propel. Unlike a humanist capability of having agency, reagency is defined as a repetitive, subjective praxis that is contingent upon events, which is given a concrete literary form in the novels under investigation. Sebastian Huber explores how the American penchant for events, new beginnings, clean slates, apocalypse is being critically dealt with in the novels at hand, while still offering an emphatic idea of singular disruptions that open up ways for subjects to affirm and become empowered by the new propositions of these happenings. The Political Sublime Michael J.

Shapiro, 2018-03-15 In The Political Sublime, Michael J. Shapiro formulates an original politics of aesthetics through an analysis of the experience of the sublime. Turning away from Kant's analysis of the sublime experience as a validation of the existence of a universal common sense Shapiro draws on Deleuze Lyotard and Rancière to show how incomprehensible events and dilemmas provide openings for new political formations He approaches the sublime through a range of artistic and cultural texts that address social crises and natural disasters from the writing of James Baldwin and Ta Nehisi Coates to the films of Ingmar Bergman and Spike Lee these works suggest ways to channel the disruptive effects of the sublime into resistance to authority and innovative political initiative Whether stemming from the threat of nuclear annihilation or the aftermath of an earthquake the violence of racism and terrorism or the devastation of industrialism sublime experience Shapiro contends allows for a rethinking of events in ways that reveal redistribute and create conditions of possibility for alternative communities of sense

On Endings Daniel Grausam, 2011 What does narrative look like when the possibility of an expansive future has been called into question This query is the driving force behind Daniel Grausam's On Endings which seeks to show how the core texts of American postmodernism are a response to the geopolitical dynamics of the Cold War and especially to the new potential for total nuclear conflict Postwar American fiction needs to be rethought he argues by highlighting postmodern experimentation as a mode of profound historical consciousness In Grausam's view previous studies of fiction mimetically concerned with nuclear conflict neither engage the problems that total war might pose to narration nor take seriously the paradox of a war that narrative can never actually describe Those few critical works that do take seriously such problems do not offer a broad account of American postmodernism And recent work on postmodernism has offered no comprehensive historical account of the part played by nuclear weapons in the emergence of new forms of temporal and historical experience On Endings significantly extends the project of historicizing postmodernism while returning the nuclear to a central place in the study of the Cold War

Creative Writing Innovations Michael Dean Clark, Trent Hergenrader, Joseph Rein, 2017-02-23 When teachers experiment students benefit When students gain confidence to pursue their own literary experiments creative writing can become a life changing experience With chapters written by experienced teachers and classroom innovators Creative Writing Innovations builds on these principles to uncover the true potential of the creative writing classroom Rooted in classroom experience this book takes teaching beyond the traditional workshop model to explore topics such as multi media genres collaborative writing and field based work as well as issues of identity Taken together this is an essential guide for teachers of creative writing at all levels from the authors and editors of Creative Writing in the Digital Age

Mobile Narratives Eleftheria Arapoglou, Mónica Fodor, Jopi Nyman, 2013-08-15 Emphasizing the role of travel and migration in the performance and transformation of identity this volume addresses representations of travel mobility and migration in 19th 21st century travel writing literature and media texts In so doing the book analyses the role of the various cultural ethnic gender and national encounters pertinent to narratives of travel and migration in transforming and problematizing the identities of both the travelers and travelees enacting in the borderzones between cultures While the individual essays by scholars from a wide range of countries deal with a variety of case studies from various historical spatial and cultural locations they share a strong central interest in the ways in which the narratives of travel contribute to the imagining of ethnic encounters and how they have acted as sites of transformation and transculturation from the early nineteenth century to the present day In addition to discussing textual representations of travel and migration the volume also addresses the ways in which cultural texts themselves travel and are reconstructed in various cultural settings The analyses are particularly attentive to the issues of globalization and migration which provide a general frame for interpretation What distinguishes the volume from existing books is its concern with travel and migration as ways of forging transcultural identities that are able to subvert existing categorizations and binary models of identity formation In so doing it pays particular attention to the performance of identity in various spaces of cultural encounter ranging from North America to the East of Europe putting particular emphasis on the representation of intercultural and ethnic encounters Jonathan

Franzen at the End of Postmodernism Stephen J. Burn, 2008-12-07 Jonathan Franzen is one of the most influential critically significant and popular contemporary American novelists This book is the first full length study of his work and attempts to articulate where American fiction is headed after postmodernism Stephen Burn provides a comprehensive analysis of each of Franzen's novels from his early work to the major success of The Corrections identifying key sources delineating important narrative strategies and revealing how Franzen's themes are reinforced by each novel's structure Supplementing this analysis with comparisons to key contemporaries David Foster Wallace and Richard Powers Burn suggests how Franzen's work is indicative of the direction of experimental American fiction in the wake of the so called end of postmodernism The Gospel Teacher and Sabbath School Contributor, 1846 The Encyclopedia of
