

Preparing for the Harvest

"When the fruit is brought forth, immediately he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come."
Christ is waiting with longing desire for the manifestation of Himself in His church.
When the character of Christ shall be perfectly reproduced in His people, then He will come to claim them as His own. COL 69

The White Harvest A Symposium On Convert Making

The White Harvest A Symposium On Convert Making:

The White Harvest Francis C. Kelley, 1952 The White Harvest John Anthony O'Brien, 1952 The White Harvest John A. O'Brien, Ph.D., Francis C. Kelly, 2014-10-17 I have here the task of introducing several writers all treating one subject but each in his own way and that way not the way of the others I could truthfully say that the occasion affords me much pleasure but I say more than that for it affords me so much pleasure that I hesitate to use the trite old sentence without a warning to the reader that I mean it Why this pleasure It might arise out of my knowledge of the merits of the writers but it does not It might well arise out of my knowledge of the usual excellence of their writings but it does not My pleasure comes out of this that zealous and learned men at last are turning to a study of how we best can solve a problem for our day and age that is the most important problem of the Church in America and in the rest of the world Not that others did not solve it in other days The Apostles did Francis Xavier did Brebeuf and Jogues did De Smet did It is a problem however very unlike one of mathematics in that it changes with the changing world The answer does not change The basic methods of working it out do not change but the pupils do change They change greatly as the generations pass Active respectful judicial reasonable they may have been at times but in a few years they become the opposite Human nature is like that Today they are a greater problem than ever before because many of them have lost touch with the foundation of the eternal principles while other have stuffed their ears with the impenetrable wool of inherited prejudices The task is the same The work to be done is the same But what might be called the difficulties of the job are new Alas there is something else that is new and that is the appearance of the teachers in the strange places they are called upon to visit Hitherto they taught but in familiar surroundings to familiar and friendly listeners and from a familiar rostrum These teachers were so few and the listeners so many that little thought could be given to the crowd that wandered around outside or timidly hung about the edges There was enough to do to take care of those who had without giving much more than a passing thought to those who had not But that situation could not last It was not Apostolic and what is more to the point it was not what Christ commanded He had thought of all He wanted all His Gospel was for all He built his church for all His ministers like His truth belonged to all We knew that even when we could not put our knowledge to work outside our own flocks We are now beginning to worry about the fact that we knew it Thank God for the worry This book is a symposium of a new uneasiness and anxiety uneasiness about ourselves and anxiety about others It is not however a symposium to give us trouble but to give us consolation When we worried only about what we had we were doing only half the worrying Our Lord wanted us to do So it really gives me pleasure to present these gentlemen and ask that they be given a hearing They are not going to say the last word on the subject of How to Convert but they are going to say a useful word a needed word a consoling word and a word that many have waited long to hear The White Harvest John Anthony O'Brien, 1927 *The White Harvest. Crossing Parish Boundaries Timothy B. Neary,2016-10-14 Controversy erupted in spring 2001 when Chicago's mostly white Southside Catholic Conference youth sports league rejected the application of the predominantly black St Sabina grade school Fifty years after Brown v Board of Education interracialism seemed stubbornly unattainable and the national spotlight once again turned to the history of racial conflict in Catholic parishes It's widely understood that midcentury working class white ethnic Catholics were among the most virulent racists but as Crossing Parish Boundaries shows that's not the whole story In this book Timothy B Neary reveals the history of Bishop Bernard Sheil's Catholic Youth Organization CYO which brought together thousands of young people of all races and religions from Chicago's racially segregated neighborhoods to take part in sports and educational programming Tens of thousands of boys and girls participated in basketball track and field and the most popular sport of all boxing which regularly filled Chicago Stadium with roaring crowds The history of Bishop Sheil and the CYO shows a cosmopolitan version of American Catholicism one that is usually overshadowed by accounts of white ethnic Catholics aggressively resisting the racial integration of their working class neighborhoods By telling the story of Catholic sponsored interracial cooperation within Chicago Crossing Parish Boundaries complicates our understanding of northern urban race relations in the mid twentieth century Turn the Pulpit Loose P.

Pope-Levison,2016-04-30 Turn the Pulpit Loose features the lives and words of eighteen women evangelists including Sojourner Truth and Evangeline Booth and lesser known figures such as Jarena Lee an African Methodist from the early 1800s and Uldine Utley a child evangelist in the early 1900s who helped to shape American religious life from the nation's infancy to the present Highlighting substantial primary sources sermons articles diaries letters speeches and autobiographies Priscilla Pope Levison weaves together fascinating narratives of each woman's life her conversion and calling to preach her primary evangelistic method and her reflections about women in general This anthology complete with photographs of each evangelist is an indispensable resource for a wide range of academic fields including religion history women's studies and literature

Authentically Black and Truly Catholic Matthew J. Cressler,2017-11-14 Chicago has been known as the Black Metropolis But before the Great Migration Chicago could have been called the Catholic Metropolis with its skyline defined by parish spires as well as by industrial smoke stacks and skyscrapers This book uncovers the intersection of the two Authentically Black and Truly Catholic traces the developments within the church in Chicago to show how Black Catholic activists in the 1960s and 1970s made Black Catholicism as we know it today The sweep of the Great Migration brought many Black migrants face to face with white missionaries for the first time and transformed the religious landscape of the urban North The hopes migrants had for their new home met with the desires of missionaries to convert entire neighborhoods Missionaries and migrants forged fraught relationships with one another and tens of thousands of Black men and women became Catholic in the middle decades of the twentieth century as a result These Black Catholic converts saved failing parishes by embracing relationships and ritual life that distinguished them from the evangelical churches proliferating around them They praised the quiet dignity of the Latin Mass while distancing themselves from the gospel choirs altar calls and shouts of amen increasingly common in Black evangelical churches Their unique rituals and relationships came under intense scrutiny in the late 1960s when a growing group of Black Catholic activists sparked a revolution in U S Catholicism
