Philosopher's Guide to Fracking Adam Briggles, 2015-10-01 Winner of the Writers League of Texas Book Awards Finalist for the J Anthony Lukas Book Prize From the front lines of the fracking debate a field philosopher explores one of our most divisive technologies When philosophy professor Adam Briggles moved to Denton Texas he had never heard of fracking Only five years later he would successfully lead a citizens initiative to ban hydraulic fracturing in Denton the first Texas town to challenge the oil and gas industry On his journey to learn about fracking and its effects he leaped from the ivory tower into the fray In beautifully narrated chapters Briggles brings us to town hall debates and neighborhood meetings where citizens wrestle with issues few fully understand Is fracking safe How does it affect the local economy Why are bakeries prohibited in neighborhoods while gas wells are permitted next to playgrounds In his quest for answers Briggles meets people like Cathy McMullen Her neighbors cows asphyxiated after drinking fracking fluids and her orchard was razed to make way for a pipeline Cathy did not consent to drilling but those who profited lived far out of harm s way Briggles s first instinct was to think about fracking deeply Drawing on philosophers from Socrates to Kant but also on conversations with engineers legislators and industry representatives he develops a simple theory to evaluate fracking we should give those at risk to harm a stake in the decisions we make and we should monitor for and correct any problems that arise Finding this regulatory process short circuited with government and industry alike turning a blind eye to symptoms like earthquakes and nosebleeds Briggles decides to take action Though our field philosopher is initially out of his element joining fierce activists like Texas Sharon once called the worst enemy of the oil and gas industry his story culminates in an underdog victory for Denton now nationally recognized as a beacon for citizens rights at the epicenter of the fracking revolution Agroecology in Action

Keith Warner, 2007 Detailed case studies of agroecological initiatives show how growers scientists agricultural organizations and public agencies can form partnerships to develop innovative ecologically based techniques for reducing reliance on agrochemicals No Family History Sabrina McCormick, 2009-06-16 No Family History presents compelling evidence of environmental links to breast cancer ranging from everyday cosmetics to industrial waste Sabrina McCormick weaves the story of one survivor with no family history into a powerful exploration of the big business of breast cancer As drugs pink products and corporate sponsorships generate enormous revenue to find a cure a growing number of experts argue that we should instead increase focus on prevention reducing environmental exposures that have contributed to the sharp increase of breast cancer rates But the dollars continue to pour into the search for a cure and the companies that profit including some pharmaceutical and cosmetics companies may in fact contribute to the environmental causes of breast cancer No Family History shows how profits drive our public focus on the cure rather than prevention and suggests new ways to reduce breast cancer rates in the future Of Climate and Gender Anja Zürn, 2024-12-17 What significance do gendered discourse structures have for the state identity of India and the EU when it comes to their respective climate policies This question is the focus of the study which offers a comprehensive analysis of the climate discourse of the emerging power India and the EU often described as a leader of climate change governance Following the assumption that although a wide variety of solutions to the greatest challenge of our time the climate crisis have been formulated politicians of various states and regional organisations opt almost exclusively for technological responses this study explores one possible cause firmly anchored gender structures within both the Indian and EU climate discourses Anja Zörn employs the ecofeminist hegemony analysis she developed for this study first reconstructing the climate policy identities of India and the EU and then subjecting them to an ecofeminist critique 21st Century Geography Joseph P.
