Adepts in Self-portraiture Stefan Zweig, 1928

Casanova, Stendhal, Tolstoy: Adepts in Self-Portraiture Jay Katz, Stefan Zweig, 2017-07-12 Casanova Stendhal Tolstoy Adepts in Self Portraiture the final volume of Stefan Zweig's masterful Master Builders of the Spirit trilogy discloses the smaller version of a writer's own ego Unconscious though it is no reality is as important to the writer as the reality of their own life Giacomo Casanova Stendhal Marie Henri Beyle and Leo Tolstoy have different approaches to self portraiture but Zweig shows that together they symbolize three levels which represent successively ascending gradations of the same creative function Casanova is depicted as having a primitive gradation he simply records deeds and happenings without any attempt to appraise them or to study the deeper working of the self Stendhal's self portraiture is depicted as psychological he observes himself and investigates his own feelings Tolstoy has the highest level he describes his own life records what led him to his own actions and focuses on self reflection in a completely unexaggerated manner At first glance it might seem as if self portraiture is an artist's easiest task With no further trouble than a probing of memory and a description of the facts of life the truth is revealed The history of literature shows that ordinary autobiographers are no more than commonplace witnesses testifying to facts that chance has brought to their knowledge A practiced artist is needed to discern the innermost happenings of the soul few who have attempted autobiography have been successful in this difficult task The present volume expounds the characteristics of these subjectively minded artists and of autobiography as their typical method of personal expression Country Life Illustrated, 1902 An International Episode Henry James, 1883 An Episode of Flatland Charles Howard Hinton, 1907
