The drone's responsiveness may be adjusted on the controller to match your flying skills. There are three options: 1 (LOW) sensitivity, 2 (MID) sensitivity, 3 (HIGH) sensitivity. It is best to start in the low sensitivity position until you have mastered flying. Flight sensitivity can be adjusted before or during flight.

FLYING TIPS

- When launching the drone, look the same direction as the drone. Green light and green LEDs should be in front.
- When drone drifts in any direction when you are hovering, you will need to make "tiny" adjustments to correct the drift. The adjustments are continuous, small - keep the drift in, don't fly in a circle. See "BASIC ADJUSTMENTS" section for details.
- Directional hovering, hovering and landing before attempting to turn either way.
- Flying 2 to 3 feet above the ground will reduce ground turbulence and make flying easier.
- When first attempting to fly in different directions, start by keeping the direction stick until you have a feel for it. When you are comfortable, slowly until you become comfortable operating the drone.
- Once you've mastered flying in directions, practice rotational controls. Turning and keeping drone facing the same direction as you rotate flying easier and more intuitive.
- Stay 2 to 3 feet away from walls and ceilings as drone will be drawn towards them if you fly close.
- If you're flying close to a wall, the drone will be drawn towards the wall because of the proximity effect. This is normal and can be corrected by moving the drone away from the wall.
- If anything prevents drone's blades from spinning or if the blades are damaged, the drone will not fly. Do not attempt to fly until the blades have been replaced and checked for damage.
- Should something prevent drone's blades from spinning, drone may auto shutdown. If the battery will need to be unplugged when disconnected to restore flying power.
- When drone has too far away, low and the control range of the remote, the drone will auto-land to prevent the drone from flying away unattended.
