Direct Response to the Commission on Race and Ethnic Disparities Report. David Gomadza, 2021-04-08 The biggest Mystery: But how come in the 21st century a government or authority or even institutions can be regarded as practising structural or institutional racism with all these rights groups and laws? People are saying there is no racism while some are adamant that racism exists because the byproducts are exactly those that result from structural or institutional racist structures. So is there something that exists that people can't pinpoint but what is causing all this? This is the billion-dollar question: What are we missing? Is there something else that is going on that is creating the same effects that people, especially young generations born here, are complaining about? OK, first what is similar to racism or what can yield the same effects as racism?

Practitioner's Guide to Global Investigations Judith Seddon, 2018-01-19 There's never been a greater likelihood a company and its key people will become embroiled in a cross-border investigation. But emerging unscarred is a challenge. Local laws and procedures on corporate offences differ extensively and can be contradictory. To extricate oneself with minimal cost requires a nuanced ability to blend understanding of the local law with the wider dimension and, in particular, to understand where the different countries, showing an interest, will differ in approach, expectations or conclusions. Against this backdrop, GIR has published the second edition of The Practitioner's Guide to Global Investigation. The book is divided into two parts with chapters written exclusively by leading names in the field. Using US and UK practice and procedure, Part I tracks the development of a serious allegation, whether originating inside or outside a company, looking at the key risks that arise and the challenges it poses along with the opportunities for its resolution. It offers expert insight into fact gathering, including document preservation and collection, witness interviews, structuring the investigation, the complexities of cross-border privilege issues and strategising effectively to resolve cross-border probes and manage corporate reputation. Part II features detailed, comparable surveys of the relevant law and practice in jurisdictions that build on many of the vital issues pinpointed in Part I.
