

Vitruvian Man Meets the Scientific Method Writing and Testing Appropriate Hypotheses

Leonardo da Vinci's drawing, Vitruvian Man, shows how the proportions of the human body fit perfectly into a circle and a square. This diagram by Leonardo da Vinci is an illustration of "Vitruvian Theory." According to Vitruvian Theory, the dimensions that describe our knowledge (our words) should fit right in the square that is our body. Right? In this activity, you will explore the hypothesis of "Vitruvian Theory" by developing appropriate hypothesis Vitruvian Man.

1. Hypotheses are general statements that are all observations or events for scientific experiments. A hypothesis is generally a test statement. Formulated by prediction with generally scientific or theoretical basis using the given statement. For example:

- (i) If we use blue and red flower electrolyte is added, after about 2 minutes the color change will be seen.
- (ii) If increasing physical activity causes a person to have elevated heart rate, then a 10-minute low-weight resistance training will raise the heart rate.

Formulated hypothesis contains a dependent variable independent variable. The independent variable is the one that you change, while dependent variable is the one that you observe and measure or collect data. Formulate a hypothesis that says "If the temperature is decreased then the speed will not change (speed is constant) (the speed is constant)". In this example, temperature is the independent variable and speed is the dependent variable. It is clear that the speed is constant because the time required for movement is being measured. During the collection of data, it is clear that the speed is constant. Therefore, the hypothesis is correct.

PURPOSE

Students will gain understanding of the hypothesis regarding the relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable. Students will understand the hypothesis concerning the relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable.
