In his forty three years as a practising lawyer Kevin O'Donnell encountered a wide and sometimes weird mixture of characters lawyers clients police officers and others When it came time to tell the story of his career he knew that he didn't want to write a book only about the law he wanted to write a book about the people with whom and for whom he worked Some of these stories may come off as improbable or even impossible but they're all true He shares tales of the more notable people he had the privilege of dealing with and the unusual situations those associations created He received the occasional threat of violence but fortunately none of them came to pass He also survived the aggression of his peers in and out of court During his experience as a law student articled clerk employee lawyer senior associate for substantial law firms and partner in a firm in regional Victoria he saw it all and some of the best anecdotes from those years await within Many of the people he writes about are still his friends and some never were while some of them are now deceased They've all provided him with amusement over the years as well as wry smiles as he brought their shared adventures to life in his memoir The Painter and Decorator, 1930 Capturing Jack The Ripper Neil R. A. Bell, 2014-11-15 Explores life in the Victorian police force from the time of Jack the Ripper from training to discovering a murder Clark's Horse Review, 1900 Resource Curse or Cure? Martin Brueckner, Angela Durey, Robyn Mayes, Christof Pforr, 2014-04-02 Globalisation and rapid social and environmental change in recent decades have brought into sharper focus not only the benefits but also the costs of economic development The once assumed link between economic development and societal well being is being increasingly questioned in the face of growing social and environmental problems and unfulfilled expectations concerning political and commercial decision makers The orthodox development dogma is being tested in particular in resource based economies such as Western Australia where globalisation pressures and the concomitant rise in the demand for natural resources highlight the difficulties of effectively balancing broader societal interests with those of industry and the state This book provides a critical review of the socio political environmental and cultural state of play in Western Australia offering an analysis of how resource based developments are shaping the state and its people National Membership Roster American Marketing Association, 1986
