The Four-Category Ontology E. J. Lowe, 2006 E J Lowe sets out and defends his theory of what there is His four category ontology is a metaphysical system that recognizes two fundamental categorial distinctions which cut across each other to generate four fundamental ontological categories The distinctions are between the particular and the universal and between the substantial and the non substantial The four categories thus generated are substantial particulars non substantial particulars substantial universals and non substantial universals Non substantial universals include properties and relations conceived as universals Non substantial particulars include property instances and relation instances otherwise known as non relational and relational tropes or modes Substantial particulars include properties of individuals the paradigm examples of which are persisting concrete objects Substantial universals are otherwise known as substantial kinds and include as paradigm examples natural kinds of persisting objects This ontology has a lengthy pedigree many commentators attributing it to Aristotle on the basis of certain passages in his apparently early work the Categories At various times during the history of Western philosophy it has been revived or rediscovered but it has never found universal favour perhaps on account of its apparent lack of parsimony as well as its commitment to universals In pursuit of ontological economy metaphysicians have generally preferred to recognize fewer than four fundamental ontological categories However Occam's razor stipulates only that we should not multiply entities beyond necessity Lowe argues that the four category ontology has an explanatory power unrivalled by more parsimonious systems and that this counts decisively in its favour He shows that it provides a powerful explanatory framework for a unified account of causation dispositions natural laws natural necessity and many other related matters such as the semantics of counterfactual conditionals and the character of the truthmaking relation As such it constitutes a thoroughgoing metaphysical foundation for natural science

Brown,1980 Philosophy of Mathematics David Bostock,2009-03-09 Philosophy of Mathematics An Introduction provides a critical analysis of the major philosophical issues and viewpoints in the concepts and methods of mathematics from antiquity to the modern era Offers beginning readers a critical appraisal of philosophical viewpoints throughout history Gives a separate chapter to predicativism which is often but wrongly treated as if it were a part of logicism Provides readers with a non partisan discussion until the final chapter which gives the author s personal opinion on where the truth lies Designed to be accessible to both undergraduates and graduate students and at the same time to be of interest to professionals Resources in Education ,2000 Symbolic Reproduction in Early Medieval England Katharine Sykes,2024-07-12 In the early Middle Ages the conversion of the early English kingdoms acted as a catalyst for significant social and cultural change One of the most visible of these changes was the introduction of a new type of household the monastic household These reproduced through education and training rather than biological means their inhabitants practised celibacy as a lifelong state rather than as a stage in the life course Because monastic households depended on secular households to produce the next generation of recruits previous studies have tended to view them as more mutable than their secular counterparts which are implicitly regarded as natural and ahistorical Katharine Sykes charts some of the significant changes to the structure of households between the seventh to eleventh centuries as ideas of spiritual non biological reproduction first fostered in monastic households were adopted in royal households in the tenth and eleventh centuries and as ideas about kinship that were generated in secular households such as the relationship between genealogy and inheritance were picked up and applied by their monastic counterparts In place of binary divisions between secular and monastic biological and spiritual real and imagined Sykes demonstrates that different forms of kinship and reproduction in this period were intimately linked Principles of Public Utility Rates James Cummings Bonbright,Albert L. Danielsen,David R. Kamerschen,1988 Grasp regulatory issues and the principles of public utility pricing Start with basic theory learn what multiple functions public utility rates are designed to perform understand the four primary functions rate regulations must perform examine what constitutes fairness of rates and wrap it all up with the criteria for judging a sound rate structure

Sex, Race, and Science Edward J. Larson,1996-10-11 In the first book to explore the theory and practice of eugenics in the American South Edward Larson shows how the quest for strong bloodlines expressed itself in specific state laws and public policies from the Progressive Era through World War II Presenting new evidence of race based and gender based eugenic practices in the past Larson also explores issues that remain controversial today including state control over sexuality and reproduction the rights of disabled persons and of ethnic minorities and the moral and legal questions raised by new discoveries in genetics and medicine Larson shows how the seemingly broad based eugenics movement was in fact a series of distinct campaigns for legislation at the state level campaigns that could often be traced to the efforts of a small group of determined individuals Explaining how these efforts shaped state policies he places them within a broader cultural context by describing the workings of Southern state legislatures the role played by such organizations as women s clubs and the distinctly Southern cultural forces that helped or hindered the implementation of eugenic reforms Mathematical

Reviews ,2004 Terminal Sedation: Euthanasia in Disguise? Torbjörn Tännsjö,2004-06-01 TERMINAL SEDATION DURING THE 1990s During the 1990s a discussion took place in scholarly journals concerning a measure within palliative care that had earlier attracted little attention to wit the sedation of dying patients There seem to have been two main reasons why the practice came under debate On the one hand some people felt that when palliative medicine had advanced and methods to control symptoms had improved it was no longer justified to sedate the patients in a manner that had often been done in the past The system of 1 terminal sedation had turned into euthanasia in disguise or slow euthanasia On the other hand there were people sympathetic to the recently established Dutch system of euthanasia people who agreed that terminal sedation was euthanasia in disguise but who felt that if it is not objectionable to sedate dying patients at their request then why should it not be permitted for doctors to kill dying patients at 2 request From these two motives a discussion about terminal sedation gained momentum The intention behind this anthology is to continue and deepen this discussion The anthology starts off with a chapter where an influential article from the 1990s has been reprinted The Many and the One Yonghua Ge,2021-05-03 How God relates to the world lies at the heart of the most intense debates in modern theology and philosophy Movements of Nouvelle Th ologie process theology radical orthodoxy modern Trinitarian theology and postmodern theology i e Jean Luc Marion all seek to reconsider God s relation to the world as a corrective of what they perceive as problematic Of particular significance is the recent revival of the theology of participation as promoted by Radical Orthodoxy in UK and Hans Boersma in North America Facing excessive secularism and fragmentation of the modern Western world Radical Orthodoxy and Boersma resort to the pre modern theology of participation as the way forward Relying heavily on Platonism however their participatory theology as critics pointed out tends to compromise the intrinsic goodness of the creation In this book Ge proposes that a distinctively Christian theology of participation anchored in creatio ex nihilo developed by Augustine and brought to the fore by Aquinas provides a more promising solution which not only secures the unity of things in God but also the goodness of creaturely plurality Since participation in its origin is a solution to the problem of the One and the Many Ge employs Gunton s framework of the one and the many in his discussion of Augustine and Aquinas s theologies of participation By reshaping their concepts of participation in the light of the doctrine of creation Ge argues these thinkers have profoundly transformed the metaphysics of participation making it finally more suitable for describing the unique relationship between God's unity and creaturely plurality This Christian metaphysics of participation is not only an advance on Radical Orthodoxy and Boersma but also superior to competing theories of reality such as pluralism and reductionist physicalism The book will also bring out implications for modern science religion dialogues the core of which concerns how God relates to the world

Knowledge Transmission Stephen Wright,2018-09-03 Our knowledge of the world comes from various sources But it is sometimes said that testimony

unlike other sources transmits knowledge from one person to another In this book Stephen Wright investigates what the transmission of knowledge involves and the role that it should play in our theorising about testimony as a source of knowledge He argues that the transmission of knowledge should be understood in terms of the more fundamental concept of the transmission of epistemic grounds and that the claim that testimony transmits knowledge is not only defensible in its own right but indispensable to an adequate theory of testimony This makes testimony unlike other epistemic sources
