Toxicology Program (NTP) (NIH), 2011-10-08 The Report on Carcinogens RoC is a congressionally mandated science-based public health document that identifies and discusses agents, substances, mixtures, or exposure circumstances hereinafter referred to as substances that may pose a hazard to human health by virtue of their carcinogenicity. For each listed substance, the report contains a substance profile which provides information on: 1. the listing status; 2. cancer studies in humans and animals; 3. studies of genotoxicity, ability to damage genes, and biologic mechanisms; 4. the potential for human exposure to these substances; and 5. Federal regulations to limit exposures. Eight substances have been added to this 12th ed. of the report, which now includes 240 listings. The industrial chemical formaldehyde and a botanical known as aristolochic acids are listed as known human carcinogens. Six other substances: captafol, cobalt tungsten carbide in powder or hard metal form, certain inhalable glass wool fibers, o-nitrotoluene, riddelliine, and styrene are added as substances that are reasonably anticipated to be human carcinogens. implementation matters and weaknesses in any of the core elements will negatively affect the entire system reducing the impacts of the programs they support 3 Delivery systems evolve over time in a nonlinear fashion and their starting points matter 4 Efforts should be made to keep it simple and to do simple well from the start 5 The first mile people's direct interface with administrative functions is often the weakest link in the delivery chain improving it may take systemic change but will greatly improve overall efficiencies and mitigate the risk of failures on the frontlines 6 Social protection programs do not operate in a vacuum and thus their delivery systems should not be developed in silos synergies across institutions and information systems are possible and can improve program outcomes 7 Social protection delivery systems can contribute more broadly to government's ability to serve other sectors such as health insurance subsidies scholarships social energy tariffs housing benefits and legal services 8 The dual challenges of inclusion and coordination are pervasive and perennial and encourage the continuous improvement of delivery systems through a dynamic integrated and human centered approach
