Smart Homes Technology Paper:

Sensor Technology for Smart Homes Juan Ye, Michael O'Grady, Oresti Banos, 2021-04-21 This Special Issue presents the recent advances in sensor technologies for smart homes including fiber Bragg grating FBG sensors for detecting the presence and number of occupants the Internet of things for monitoring CO2 concentration and designing a novel eye tracking system for monitoring and controlling a smart home and infrared thermal sensors for fall detection Such new explorations are pushing the boundary of sensing technologies and thus will have more profound implications for the future smart home Advanced machine learning and data mining algorithms have been proposed to address sensor failure appliance identification and human activity recognition in a home environment These results will enable a promising sustainable deployment of sensing technologies A novel multi agent gamification system is proposed for managing tasks between household members and between families which demonstrate another dimension of future smart home application This Special Issue concludes with a review on sensors for human activity recognition This work paves the roadmap for deploying smart home systems in different socioeconomic contexts The whole Special Issue has significantly helped to shape our understanding of the strength implications and barriers of deploying long term sustainable sensor technologies for smart homes

Inside the Smart Home Richard Harper, 2006-04-18 Using clear and accessible language this book examines the growing field of smart technology for the home The author first introduces the field before exploring the various background issues including how the home differs from other environments He then shows how these background issues affect the design and usability of these technologies A detailed case study looks at the use of handheld and wearable digital technology in sheltered housing The last section examines what it is like to live in a smart home and why they have so far failed to reach the levels of success originally predicted Invaluable reading for anybody interested in designing smart technologies for the home

Smart Homes and Their Users Tom Hargreaves, Charlie Wilson, 2017-09-25 Smart home technologies promise to transform domestic comfort convenience security and leisure while also reducing energy use But delivering on these potentially conflicting promises depends on how they are adopted and used in homes This book starts by developing a new analytical framework for understanding smart homes and their users Drawing on a range of new empirical research combining both qualitative and quantitative data the book then explores how smart home technologies are perceived by potential users how they can be used to link domestic energy use to common daily activities how they may or may not be integrated into everyday life by actual users and how they serve to change the nature of control within households and the home The book concludes by synthesising a range of evidence based insights and posing a series of challenges for industry policy and research that need addressing if a smart home future is to be realised Researchers will find this book provides useful insights into this fast growing field

Technology and Aging Alex Mihailidis, Jennifer Boger, Henry Kautz, 2008 This publication presents articles on Aging in Place Assistive Technology Monitoring and Telehealth Transportation and Mobility and Design The section on assistive technology AT represents arguably the most mature and generic aspect of technology and aging except that AT can hardly be regarded really as a specific discipline any longer Assistive devices and systems command an expansive gamut of technological and engineering specialties drawing upon mechanical engineering and industrial design at one end of the field and cybernetic systems engineering and brain computer user interfaces at the other The largest section in the book on monitoring and telehealth reveals novel applications of advanced pattern recognition techniques some of which have up to now found roles primarily in the military process engineering and financial sectors Transportation and mobility still represents by far the largest and most commercially lucrative market segment of technology for seniors There is however a clear trend towards synthesis of information and communication technologies ICT and mobility technologies which is embodied in the latest developments of automatic collision avoidance and full or semi autonomous navigation functions in powered mobility devices The last section is dedicated to design issues It is proposed that designing for the special needs market before making a design as inclusive as possible to the mainstream market is a viable alternative to the currently accepted notion of inclusive design provided that aesthetics are appropriately addressed To conclude we see a social shift from institutional to home based care in which information communication technology based solutions now afford the possibility of aging in place for the many thousands of people having mild to moderate cognitive impairment

Gerontechnologies for Home Support Alexander Moreno,Sumi Helal,Henk Herman Nap,Gloria M. Gutman,2024-10-07 In recent years various digital and non digital gerontechnology applications in home support have been developed From medication administration aids e g reminders and alarms to environmental monitoring e g air quality sensors and cameras to fall detection and health and activity monitoring e g smartwatch these promising solutions are in the works or already in the marketplace Additionally the COVID 19 pandemic has accelerated the development and deployment of technological solutions supporting remote care and communication e g video calls and home service delivery e g meals and groceries both of which have been developed to facilitate aging in place This is significant especially as avoiding the institutionalization of older adults has become a major goal of governments and caring families around the world These technologies are a potential solution to help older adults and family caregivers age at home maintain autonomy and independence and avoid social isolation These technologies can reduce the workload of professional caregivers It is crucial to update our knowledge on evidence based technologies for home support tested simultaneously in older adults and their family caregivers Healthcare professionals and families are often disadvantaged by a lack of information demonstrating their utility and cost effectiveness This article collection focuses on providing evidence based information about emerging and existing gerontechnologies which is essential to make an informed decision in recommending their use or deciding to purchase them For older adults it will provide proofs upon which to make an informed decision to invest in a specific technology when needed For family caregivers it will improve their judgment when trying to choose purchase and adopt a technology aiming to solve a problem at home and have peace of mind when these technologies are used to support their loved ones For clinicians it will provide a pool of evidence based technological tools that could be recommended to families facing the loss of autonomy and independence of older adults For researchers and scholars it will provide a base of knowledge for future applied research in gerontechnology Finally improving the evidence in gerontechnology will help to provide cues for policymakers and governments to create legislation aiming to protect the public and the end users of these technologies
