Benjamin, 2021-04-12 Nellie Y McKay 1930 2006 was a pivotal figure in contemporary American letters. The author of several books, McKay is best known for coediting the canon-making Norton Anthology of African American Literature with Henry Louis Gates Jr, which helped secure a place for the scholarly study of Black writing that had been ignored by white academia. However, there is more to McKay's life and legacy than her literary scholarship. After her passing, new details about McKay's life emerged, surprising everyone who knew her. Why did McKay choose to hide so many details of her past? Shanna Greene Benjamin examines McKay's path through the professoriate to learn about the strategies, sacrifices, and successes of contemporary Black women in the American academy. Benjamin shows that McKay's secrecy was a necessary tactic that a Black working-class woman had to employ to succeed in the white-dominated space of the American English department. Using extensive archives and personal correspondence, Benjamin brings together McKay's private life and public work to expand how we think about Black literary history and the place of Black women in American culture. Productivity,

Professionalism, and Parenting in Academia Christine E. Tulley, 2025-04-30 Drawing on time-use diary analysis, this unique and detailed study fills in the larger narrative about what it takes hour by hour to navigate academic motherhood with a rhetoric and composition career. Looking specifically at the intersections between parenting and writing for publication in order to find out how and when writing for career-advancing tasks such as publication occur, but also through the lens of disciplinary time constraints including heavy grading and administrative workloads, the book examines support systems noted within diary entries that make combining motherhood and a career in rhetoric and composition possible. Using both quantitative analysis of hours and qualitative coding of time-use diaries from rhet comp moms, this book answers questions about publishing, professionalism, and parenting. This book will interest scholars and graduate students working in the discipline of rhetoric writing and composition, particularly those working on labor and professional issues on gender and equality within the discipline, and anyone working in all fields looking for ways to foster a better work-life balance.
