FOOD CHAINS

Have you ever felt hungry after a physical activity. Anything we do takes energy. We get energy from our food. So whenever our body needs energy we feel hungry. Like us, all plants and animals need energy to grow and survive. But where do they get energy from?

All the energy on Earth comes from the Sun. Plants use sunlight to make their food. When animals eat plants the energy of sunlight is passed to the animals.

A food chain explains how different organisms eat each other. Nutrients and energy is transferred along a food chain. Several interconnected food chains form a food web. Lets see a simple example of food chain; Grass gets its energy from sunlight. A zebra eats the grass. A lion hunts and eats the zebra. In this way, energy is passed from the sun to grass to zebra and finally to the lion. When the lion dies, its body is decomposed by the decomposers.

A food chain always begins with a producer and ends with a decomposer. Producers include all the organisms that use sunlight to make their food through photosynthesis. Algae and green plants are producers. They are also known as autotrophs as they make their own food.

Consumers don't make their own food. They eat other plants and animals. They can be divided into herbivores, omnivores and carnivores. Herbivores eat only plants. Carnivores only eat animals. Omnivores eat both plants and animals. Decomposers get their energy from dead plants and animals. Worms, bacteria and fungi are decomposers. They put energy back into the soil for plants to use again.

But where do humans come in the food chain? We are consumers.
